

Steer Herd Does Damage

Twelve hundred head of three-year-old steers scattered the daylight hours of residents of the Midland road by Lakeshore drive sector Thursday and numerous complaints were telephoned into Sheriff Lloyd L. Low's office before the critters were safely out of the residential areas and plodding toward the Hunt ranch on the west handle of Upper Klamath lake.

The steers, which were unloaded last night at Texum from winter pasture in Northern California, were identified as owned by Dr. W. C. Hunt and son Don, and were being herded along the road to the ranch about seven miles to the north. At 2 p. m. Thursday Sheriff Low said the animals were at the McGorrick ranch.

Residents along Lakeshore said considerable damage was done to both vegetable and flower gardens as well as lawns. Mrs. W. P. Myers of Lakeshore nursery said she had lost small trees and bushes as the result of trampling hooves. One steer was left wandering around the Phil Brixner place and three others were feeding "next door." Several steers are reported to have taken off over the hill between the Bud Chandler and Deb Addison places and at a late hour Thursday none of the eight cowhands bringing the steers to the ranch had found the animals.

The big pasture across the highway from Brixner's held attention of the three-year-olds for at least two hours and grazing was so good the cowpokes were stymied in their efforts to get the beasts on their way, despite an electric fence.

Lawns fell prey to the steers and the Andrew Honzel lawn was among those that were damaged.

Sheriff Lloyd Low said calls started coming in Wednesday night from Midland, where the animals got into gardens.

Pic To Carry Basin Pictures

A pictorial slated to appear in PIC, "the magazine for young men," showing the history of young homesteaders of the recently opened Tulelake area from the time of the drawing until harvest period, is planned by the publication, it was learned here today.

Dick Williams, West Coast editor of PIC, and Bob Wallace, staff photographer, spent Tuesday and Wednesday in the Wednesday night "shoot" a couple of hundred shots of young homestead families. They will use some earlier pictures of the December drawing at the armory and plan to return for the latest period in order to get a complete story of the farm life of the homesteaders. The layout is slated to appear in PIC in December or January. The PIC men had the cooperation of the U. S. bureau of reclamation.

Tax Delay Vote Monday

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The senate agreed Thursday to vote at 3 p. m. (EST) Monday on a motion to postpone action on the $4,000,000,000 income tax cutting bill until June 10.

The senate gave unanimous consent to the request made by Senator Milkin (R-Colo.), floor manager of the bill.

Senator George (D-Ga.), author of the postponement motion, said the voting time was satisfactory to him.

Democratic senators were wheeling up their heaviest artillery to put the George motion over. Republicans admitted the outcome will be close.

Democratic Senator Byrd of Virginia, who has been waiting 14 years for a balanced budget, was ready to back up the demand of Senator George that the legislation be postponed until June 10.

Woman Reports House Entered

Mrs. Jack Laine, 118 Martin, reported to city police yesterday afternoon that her house was entered sometime yesterday and several items of jewelry taken.

Missing articles include a wrist watch, a man's signet ring and a $250 gold piece. Mrs. Laine said that the break-in apparently occurred during the morning while she was working at the rear of the house.

A hole had been cut in the front screen and the door unlatched.

Historians Seek Building

Suggestions to be brought up at a coming joint meeting with the museum committee, were discussed by the Klamath Historical society board of directors Tuesday afternoon at the chamber of commerce.

The society is anxious to find an exhibit building in which to display historical items which have been donated and are now in storage, the building to be used until a museum can be constructed.

The board favored having a tour to Klamath Agency and Crater lake, following Fremont's old campsite, or a pioneer picnic instead of the regular June meeting. These suggestions will be discussed further to determine which activity meets with the greatest approval of members.

Track Meet Called Off

PORTLAND, May 23 (AP)—The proposed track meet between the Portland prep league and the Southern Oregon district has been cancelled for this year, but may be held next.

The June 7 date, proposed by Corvallis last Friday, comes after Medford high school closes, and Portland schools could not make an earlier date.

Bill Bowerman, Medford High athlete director, proposed making the meet part of the regular 1948 schedule.

Man Killed In Disc Accident

Approximately 45 minutes had passed before he noticed Schneider's machine stalled against the dike and went to investigate.

He back-tracked half a mile before he came upon Schneider's body.

The accident happened a mile west of the Modoc county road, half a mile from sump No. 2. The investigation was made by Gerald Wilson, California state highway patrolman, and Frank G. Rhodes, Tulelake police chief and coroner.

Schneider is survived by his wife, Nora, a native of Boston, and two small children, Jerry, 5, and Noralee, 2. They have resided in apartment 14 of the old German prisoner of war camp on the Lava Beds road.

Schneider was born April 23, 1918, at New Orleans. His mother, Mrs. Martha I. Schneider, resides in New Orleans. A brother, Max Henry, lives in Lake Charles, and a sister, Mrs. Anna Mae Bendix, lives in New Orleans.

Schneider was stationed in the Washington, D. C., office of the fish and wildlife service before being transferred to the West in 1943. After spending eight years in the marine corps he came to work at Tulelake about a year ago.

The body is at Whitlock's funeral home.

Final rites will be held in the Westlock chapel Saturday at 11:30 a. m.

Army Providing Neurosurgery

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The veterans administration said today it has established centers for surgery of the nervous system at 37 of its hospitals.

In addition, it will provide neurosurgery for war veterans at the Maine General hospital, Portland, Maine, the army's Fitzsimmons General hospital at Denver, or the navy hospital at Philadelphia and Houston, Texas.

Altamont Graduation

Marking the official close of their elementary school year, 137 students were graduated in commencement exercises from Altamont Junior high school Wednesday night.

Honored were Corliss Mayfield and Junior Davenport, who received the annual citizenship awards, given to the graduating boy and girl outstanding in that field. Catherine Glidden received the homemaking award presented annually by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Departing from the usual plan, a group of students gave the commencement addresses, in place of the customary adult speaker. They were Norma Augustus, Donna Kitchin, Arla Collins, Ronald Glind, Betty Vahl, Jimmy Metler, Dixie Lous, Junior Davenport, Edith Tennant, Jean Overen and Corliss Mayfield.

The school band played the professional and recreational, directed by John McManus. Vocal numbers were given by the mixed chorus and the boys' chorus, and a solo by Arnold Collins. Director is Mrs. Henry W. Moore.

The class advisor, Mrs. Rollin E. Thompson, presented diplomas. There is no school today for the students but they will have their last day for this year Friday when they will get their report cards.

Diamond Lake Area Open

Summer home owners at Diamond lake are going into the beautiful mountain resort area at this time but the Oregon state highway department will not remove the gate or barricade at the Diamond lake-highway 97 junction until June 1, it was learned today.

Passenger cars will do no damage to the light surface highway but heavy logging trucks which will use the stretch during summer and fall months, could hurt the road bed considerably, according to the highway office. There is no snow at the lake although there were four feet of packed snow one month ago but warm weather resulted in a rapid run-off.

Alan Hale To Make Appearance Here

Alan Hale, playing in the picture, "Cheyenne," which will be shown at the Tower and Esquire theatres Sunday, May 25, will appear at both theatres in person.

Hale will arrive on the morning train from the south on Sunday and divide his afternoon between the Tower and Esquire, making personal appearances and speaking to the audience.

Walter Eschebeck, theatre manager, is arranging a fishing trip for Hale, who plans to spend some vacation time in the Klamath region.

Youngster Has Narrow Squeak

SEATTLE, May 23 (AP)—Wood alcohol in place of "rhubarb squeakers" put six-year-old Patricia Edmonds in the hospital here yesterday.

Mrs. Marie Thompson, her mother, said the neighborhood youngsters were filling pop bottles with water, then adding crunched rhubarb and sugar to provide their own drinks.

One of the youngsters appeared with a bottle of wood alcohol. The others tasted it and spat it out. Patricia swallowed and feeling her stomach beginning to grow warm, ran to her mother.

She was rushed to a hospital when her mother smelled the fumes. Attendants today said she was feeling fine after treatment.

Shrine Ticket Sale Goes Over

Tickets for the 11th annual Shrine crippled children's hospital dance, to be held in the armory June 7, are selling nicely according to Ted Reeves, member of the dance committee. He added that each shriner has been issued a group of tickets to sell, as has each member of the Nile club.

Reeves pointed out that the proceeds from the sale of the tickets will be used for the support of the Shrine hospital for crippled children in Portland. He said that many persons are buying tickets for the dance who do not even intend to go, but regard the ticket as being "worth the price of some youngster's life and welfare."

"If you could walk through the hospital in Portland and see the youngsters there, of all creeds, races and color, some horribly stricken with crippling diseases, you could better realize the work that is being done at the hospital, and why the annual dances contribute so much to its upkeep," Reeves said.
