Peggy Keating Is Bride Of Sunday

A lovely June bride was Peggy June Keating, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Keating of this city, who became Mrs. Richard W. Robinson in a ceremony read at St. Paul's Episcopal church, on Sunday afternoon, June 15. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray F. Robinson of Palo Alto.

Double ring vows were exchanged at 2 o'clock in the afternoon with the service read by the Rev. Frederick C. Wissenbach. Rites were solemnized before an altar banked with white gladioli and stock, with palms and many tapers in candelabra completing the pretty setting.

George Willis sang "O Promise Me" as guests assembled, accompanied by Mrs. Samuel A. Musher, who also played the Lohengrin wedding march as the bridal party entered the church.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father, who gave her in marriage. Her bridegroom was of heavy ivory satin with a softly gathered skirt forming a bustle back, and full court train. The small, round neckline ended in a yoke of fine marquisette with a wide trim of embroidery. A fitted bodice and long, fitted sleeves completed the fashion.

Her fingertip illusion net veil was held in place by a Juliet cap of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with a single white orchid.

The bride's only attendant was a college friend, Mrs. John S. Griswold of Palo Alto, who was attired in a gown of gold taffeta. A small hand in her hair matched the gown. She carried a Colonial bouquet of dainty yellow seasonal blooms.

Best man was James Holzhauser, cousin of the groom, of Los Altos, Calif. Richard McGuire and William Axtier of this city were ushers.

The bridal party left the church to the strains of the traditional Mendelssohn wedding recessional.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Robinson received with their parents in the Pelican party room immediately following the service. Mrs. Keating, mother of the bride, wore an afternoon frock of lime with beige accessories. Her corsage was of pink Delight roses. Mother of the groom, Mrs. Robinson, chose a dress of light blue with navy accessories. Pinned at the shoulder was a corsage of pink roses and gardenias.

Many bouquets of spring flowers were placed about the rooms, and roses decorated the bride's table, where the central note was a lovely white wedding cake with the first piece cut by the bride and groom. Music was by the Williams trio.

Serving was Mrs. Louis Serrus, with Mrs. George Hillis pouring. At the punch bowl was Mrs. Brady Narey. Mrs. Richard McGuire assisted.

Soon after the young couple left for a wedding trip down the Oregon and California coast to Southern California. For traveling Mrs. Robinson selected a suit of brown and white stripe with brown accessories. Pinned at the lapel of her suit was her orchid.

After a trip of about a week the newlyweds will be at home in Redwood, Calif.

Other out of town guests for the wedding and reception were the parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson of Los Altos, and Mrs. O. F. Holzhauser, also of Los Altos. Mrs. Robinson is a member of a well-known Klamath Falls family. She attended the University of Oregon and was graduated from Stanford university. She was affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega sorority at Oregon.

Mr. Robinson was an officer in the army air corps and saw three years' service. Following his discharge he returned to studies at Stanford.

Roses And Brides Herald Summer

Roses are in full bloom, youngsters are out of school, strains from Lohengrin fill the air, and June is here again. With June, and the first day of summer just a little way off, brides and grooms leave for honeymoons, vacationers head for the great outdoors, and the old social whirl is reduced to only the mildest of flutters.

As long as there are brides, though, we won't feel too badly, and speaking of brides...

Wedding notes... Beautiful roses from the garden of Mrs. Rose M. Pooler decked the Pelican party room last Sunday at the reception following the Keating-Robinson rites at St. Paul's. As pretty a bride as has passed down an aisle was Peggy, whose gown was perfect for a June bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Keating entertained for their daughter's wedding party in the party room last Saturday evening. Covers were laid for 15 guests.

Congratulations are in order for Mr. and Mrs. Melvin M. McCollum. Their baby daughter, Julie Ellen, was born June 13 at Wilcox Memorial hospital in Portland, where she tipped the scales at 7 pounds 2 ounces. Proud grandparents of the little girl are Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. George W. McCollum, all of Klamath Falls.

Back in the States are Major and Mrs. John Harding and their little daughter, Jonnie. The Hardings arrived not long ago from Italy, where Major Harding has been stationed. Right now he is awaiting assignment to a new post. They have been visiting in Portland for a time, and are now in Eugene with Mrs. Harding's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Horton, formerly of Klamath Falls, who recently moved south. Mrs. Harding is the former Margaret Horton.

We noticed in a folder left on our desk by the postman this morning that "experienced travelers give this advice... pack your heavier clothing first, placing the crushable things on top." We thought even the most inexperienced travelers could figure that one out! Nevertheless, it did offer one suggestion as an answer to an annoying travel problem... "seal your liquid cosmetics and perfumes with adhesive tape, overlapping the edge of the cap line where it meets the bottle or jar neck, then, when you remove the tape, wrap it around the bottle to preserve the stickiness and it will be good for the round trip." Now if they'd just figure out some way to keep our lipstick and other creams from melting in the summer sun we'd be all set!

Richard Sinclair, who was graduated from the school of dentistry at the University of California June 14, and Mrs. Sinclair, both former Klamath Falls residents are expected here June 25 for a month's visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sinclair of 3833 Summers lane. While they are here he will take the Oregon board examination, and
