

Haying Operations Under Way In Basin; First Cut Of Alfalfa Said Good

Haying is getting under way throughout the Klamath project. Quite a bit of alfalfa has been cut during the past week and before the end of the week, heavy haying will be under way. The first cutting of alfalfa is generally good and seems to be reasonably free of weeds. Quite a number of calls have been received at the county agent's office for information on weather conditions for hay growers, as provided in the weekly weather and crop bulletin put out by the weather bureau, U. S. department of commerce.

While this report is not always correct in every detail, it does give good long-range information on weather conditions. The report arrives at the office on Wednesday morning and provides early information on weather conditions until the following Tuesday morning.

The forecast for this week for Eastern Oregon is: "Fair weather with occasional high cloudiness in prospect throughout the week with no precipitation other than scattered thunderstorms in the Blue mountains on Thursday and again towards the end of the week. There will be abundant sunshine and light winds except fresh to strong near the Columbia gorge on Thursday. High daytime temperatures will prevail with peaks near or above the 90 degree mark on Wednesday and Saturday. Nighttime temperatures will be near or above the seasonal average and well above the freezing point."

Two light frosts occurring in the Klamath basin during the past two weeks caused some minor damage. In some sections potatoes and gar- dens were frozen. Slight damage to grain in a few places has been reported to the county agent's office. On the whole, the damage, however, was not severe and potatoes are rapidly recovering. The frost was extremely spotty, the major portion of the general farming section not being effected in any way. With the drying, warm weather of the past few days, irrigation of crops is increasing.

Pudding River Bridge Finished

BALEM, June 27 (AP)—The new bridge across the Pudding river was in place today.

An ambulance bound from Roseburg was the first vehicle to cross the span last night. It almost stuck there, too. A cable—the bridge was still on its rollers—tore off the ambulance's bumper, but workmen wired the bumper back on.

The new bridge was built beside the old one then shifted into place—the largest undertaking of its kind in Oregon history.

Lewis And Clark Festival Opens

SEASIDE, June 27 (AP)—A Lewis & Clark festival, which Seaside hopes to make an annual event, opened here today.

Parade, sheriff's posse drills, and dedication of a plaque on the Lewis & Clark route, were scheduled.

Bob Summers To Play Here

Bob Summers and his orchestra, returning by popular request under the sponsorship of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars, will appear at the army, Wednesday, July 2. With a broad background of experience in entertaining the public Bob and his group are becoming increasingly popular.

During the war he and his band, under USO sponsorship, entertained millions of GI's overseas. He is stopping here on his way to Chicago and the Midwest for a series of engagements.

The VFW cordially invites the dancing public to "make a date" for next Wednesday at the army and enjoy Bob Summers and his "musical fun for everyone."
