Woman, Son Badly Burned

A young mother and her two-year-old son are in Klamath Valley hospital today suffering from severe burns. Hospital attendants say that the child, Jimmy Pybus, is in a dangerous condition, but his mother, Mrs. Mary Ann Pybus, though suffering from burns and shock, is doing fairly well.

Little is known about the accident, but it is believed that Mrs. Pybus was attempting to light a fire in a stove with either gasoline or oil when it exploded. Nothing more could be learned because of the severe shock from which the mother is suffering.

The two were admitted about 10:30 a. m. today.

Wheat Shows Some Gains

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP)—Selling of the corn pit in expanded volume on the board today and prices broke several cents. Wheat and oats were lower most of the session, although deferred wheat contracts displayed a firm undertone.

Improved weather over the corn belt, coupled with reports from parts of Iowa that the grain was making a good recovery from recent wet weather in unflooded areas, caused the selling of corn contracts.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1/4 cent higher, July $2.16 1/4-2.17, corn was 1 1/2-4 1/2 cents lower, July $1.96 1/2-1.97, and oats were 1/2-3/4 cents lower, July $1.95-96.

"Mr. Hollywood" Proves Good, But Baffling, Guy

By HAL BOYLE
HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—I don't know anyone who has more telephones growing to his ear or gets a bigger kick out of being a movie producer than Lester Cowan.

He plays the role of the hill-billy like John Barrymore doing "Hamlet" and "King Lear" on the same set. He plays it for fun as well as money.

He is a chunky, friendly, enthusiastic man with a head full of ideas for making pictures outside the conventional patterns. His tremendous energy, shrewd box office timing—he made Ernie Pyle's "G. I. Joe"—and business judgment have made him a top film figure at an age when he is too old to be a "boy wonder" and too young to be middle-aged.

Mr. Hollywood

"To the Lester is "Mr. Hollywood," and I suppose he will cut me off his cocktail list for calling him that, because he doesn't like to think he is "Hollywoodish." Nobody cut here does for some reason.

But his life reads like an Horatio Alger tale polished up by Ben Hecht.

Lester as a boy sold newspapers in Dayton, O. Then he went into the glove business—boxing. But he soon decided there was no future in getting roundhanded from catching fists in the face.

He came out here, got a start in the film industry and went up like a champagne cork. He now is a leading independent producer, associated with Mary Pickford.

Most producers merely supervise pictures. Lester lives here. He throws himself head foremost into every detail from casting the film to the camera crank, 100, but I don't believe he holds a union card.

After watching him pinwheel around a studio, I remarked wondrously:

"He does everything but write the script."

"He rewrites that!" moaned a man who turned out to be a script writer.

Lester wears out assistants, writers, directors, actors and stenographers like a beaver full of benzidine cutting through a straw forest. But what won my admiration was his two-listed skill with a telephone. He can dial two phones while carrying on three conversations, and he always gets the right number. He has called up everybody but Alexander Graham Bell, and would get him except there's no connection. He doesn't produce movies. He phones them.

Final Rites For Baby Held

Little Frank Albert McGee, who was drowned in an irrigation canal at his Port Rock ranch home Tuesday evening, was buried at Klamath Memorial park yesterday, following funeral services at Ward's.

The 10-month old boy was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. McGee. The boy was playing in a baby wading outside the house when he walked off into the canal. His father found him about 20 minutes later. The body was taken to Bend, then brought here for burial.

Frank Albert is survived in addition to his parents, by Mr. and Mrs. F. E. McGee of route 3, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Andrews of Silver Lake. He was born at Bend on August 7, 1946.

FOREST RESTRICTIONS
SEATTLE, June 26 (AP)—Usual restrictions will be in force July 1 in all national forests of Washington and Oregon even though June rains have reduced the fire hazard. Larry Mays, chief of fire control for the U. S. forest service's North Pacific region, announced today.

WHAT we art trying to do is to get people ALL OVER THE WORLD to quit fighting and squabbling and throat-cutting and GO TO WORK. It is a farseeing and statesmanlike program. If we can put it over, it will be world leadership of the sound and constructive kind to be expected from America. It will cost money, naturally—but good things seldom come cheap.
