

FRANK JERKINS Editor MALCOLM EPLEY Managing Editor

Published as second class matter at the postoffice of Klamath Falls, Ore., on August 20, 1906, under act of congress, March 3, 1879.

Today's Roundup

According to our police reporter, Klamath Falls pedestrians are going to get a break, with motorists required to stop when pedestrians are in newly-painted crosswalks to be found on pavements around town.

EPLEY

Our own method, and one that is widely practiced by motorists, is to speed up to hurry by the waiting pedestrian, rather than to hold up while he goes across. And somehow, we've always thought we were doing him a favor by getting out of the way.

Highway Matters: It is meeting in Portland July 21, the state highway commission will open bids on the surfacing of the new Chillicothe cut-off on US highway 7 north—the project that eliminates Sun mountain from our major north-south artery.

Most of the grading has been done on the cut-off, which will straighten out No. 97 and cut several miles off the distance between Williamson river and Diamond lake junction. This is a major improvement that will add speed to an already speedy route.

There is no regular travel yet on the new cut-off, but those few motorists which have traversed it on special business report that it offers exceptional promise.

There had been hope here that travel might be opened on the cut-off before the snow season of 1947-48. But postwar programming of highway work didn't provide for that. The contract is to be let and work to start this summer, but travel won't begin until 1948. The coming winter will be the last for bucking Sun mountain.

There is only one unfortunate aspect. That tremendous view of the Wood River valley, which gives southbound travelers a most impressive entrance to the Klamath basin, will no longer be available to users of US 97. It will be sacrificed to speed and progress.

9 o'Clock Special: For many years, newspapers have made use of a little local feature based on the off-hand observations of their reporters making their regular rounds. The idea has been to make notes of little incidents seen around town that reflect the flavor of the community and the life of its people. This record of trivia has been found widely popular.

The Herald and News recently undertook a pictorial adaptation of this feature, and dubbed it the "9 o'Clock Special." Wes Guderian, the photographer, simply goes out into the town and snaps what he happens to see at 9 a. m. (It was one good way of making certain Wes would be at work at least by 9 o'clock). The feature has proved interesting and popular, and in a short time has become a local institution.

Our Mr. Guderian is very jealous of the idea. He refuses to permit set-ups. People are always calling up with a suggestion that he take a 9 o'Clock Special to prove something or to grind an ax. Mr. Guderian flatly refuses. His theory is that the 9 o'Clock Special has to be spontaneous, and no one has been able to change his mind.

Frequently he has pictured workmen at various commonplace but nevertheless interesting and important tasks. Almost invariably, these folks have been men. Mr. Guderian has never been known before to concentrate his pictorial efforts on the male sex, and we asked him the other day how it happened that he didn't get any pictures of local women performing menial tasks, such as gardening, sweeping the front stoop, etc.

"Just try it," he snorted. "The girls won't let me. They want to be prettier up when their pictures are taken, and not many of them are prettier up when they are gardening or sweeping the front porch. When I stop, and they realize what's going on, they scream and run to cover, shouting warnings of what they'll do to me if I print their picture in that old house dress. I don't like that kind of trouble."

Today, it happens, Mr. Guderian did catch a feminine subject at work. But this girl is engaged in pouring coffee in an eating place, and is professionally attired for public view. Girls performing home tasks aren't likely to make the 9 o'Clock Special—unless our photographer relents and gives them advance notice that he's coming. It is doubtful he will make that sacrifice in spontaneity, even for the ladies.

The World Today

Associated Press Foreign News Analyst (DeWitt MacKenzie on Vacation)

THIS column drew attention yesterday to the crisis in China's life and death struggle, and concluded with the observation that "doctors don't abandon a patient without giving him the benefit of every possible treatment."

Well, the doctors in Washington once more have devised an emergency treatment for the sick man of Asia.

The United States has agreed to sell Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek 130,000,000 rounds of surplus rifle ammunition for his hard pressed troops in their fierce fray with the Chinese communists. Chiang's government also has been authorized to purchase other military supplies from private American manufacturers. And the export-import bank has announced that it will consider lending money to China for specific projects.

Logical Remedy Now

THAT seems like the logical remedy to try at this juncture. It's logical because, while China's needs are many and diversified, she considers her essential requirement right now to be the wherewithal to defeat the Chinese communists.

I realize that this assertion is strong mustard and gives rise to the question of why defeat of the communists should be placed ahead of, say, further reform in the national government with the idea of winning over the reds peacefully. Must the Chinese political quarrel be settled on the battlefield? A partial answer. It is that there is no possible compromise between communism and any other political belief on the face of the earth. No country could be part communist and part something else. It's that cardinal fact which rapidly is dividing the globe into two camps which are at swords point politically, economically and religiously.

Not Whole Story

HOWEVER, that isn't the whole story by a long shot. There's another highly important angle to which Catholic Archbishop Paul Yu-pin drew attention yesterday at Nanking in a statement calling for American aid. He declared that China's civil war actually is a "foreign war." He added that unless the United States gave assistance, "she herself may be the next victim," and China may become the birthplace of World War III.

The significance of the archbishop's remark about a "foreign war" is of course that it echoes Chinese nationalist government charges that Russia is aiding the Chinese communists in their effort to overthrow the Nanking government and establish communism in China.

STATIC

By VAN HEMERT

In deference to those who don't like to leave things unfinished, here is a picture of Sherlock Holmes, Tom Conway to you. His partner in the war against crime, Nigel Bruce, was shown hovering over this column sometime last week. So, just as coffee is not complete without cream, the team of Watson and Holmes is not complete without Conway. That's a good reason for today's pix, but the real reason is I'd like to find out who Conway has resting on "a jolly old chin."

A reader of this column (believe it or not) came up with the full title of a program mentioned last week. I called it "Dart something-or-other of the air." Said reader said the name should have been "Darts for Dough." Next time we will listen more intently.

It has been some time since the early listener had an inning in this column. In recognition of this lack, here is one for the early bird (or even listener). It is a 15-minute program featuring the witticisms, philosophy, humor and opinions of Galen Drake. If we can believe what it says here, Drake's opinions are "distilled from a life of vast experience." He comes into your home every day, Monday through Friday, from 10 to 10:15 a. m. over KFLW. Some day I'll get up in time to hear Drake. When that time arrives, if the world does not come to an end, I'll let you know if it is as good as it reads.

It almost slipped my mind, but in connection with the picture at the top, you might like to have a program time. On Monday night, June 30, at 7:30 p. m., Dr. Watson will tell us about the "Adventure of the Innocent Murderer." It promises to be baffling to everyone but Holmes, of course.

Sheriffs Posse To Hold Meeting

The Klamath Sheriffs Posse will hold a dinner meeting at the Willard hotel on Monday night at which time they will lay final plans for the celebration of the Fourth of July.

CARD OF THANKS: We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, the messages of sympathy and the many beautiful floral offerings during our recent bereavement, the loss of our baby, "Frankie."

Yamsay Logs On Market

The Little Yamsay timber unit on the Klamath Indian reservation will be advertised for sale, it was announced Friday following a meeting of the Klamath Indian general council.

Boyd Jackson, tribal delegate to Washington, said that the secretary of the interior had approved the sale of 106,000,000 feet. He said the timber sale will be advertised in the Herald and News for 30 days instead of the usual 60, but that no date has been set.

Enrollment matters took up considerable time at yesterday's council session. Twenty enrollment requests were taken up and approved, all involving children.

Verla Chase of Klamath Falls was retained as court reporter to take down all proceedings of tribal sessions.

The next council meeting will be determined by the business committee at the quarterly session July 8.

Nagel Plea Slated For July 12

William Henry Nagel, Portland preacher indicted for contributing to the delinquency of a minor, was arraigned in circuit court here at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon and date for plea was set for Saturday morning, July 12. Circuit Judge Orval Millard of Grants Pass presided.

Nagel's attorney, George Mowry of Portland, said this afternoon that when Nagel enters his plea, in all probability he will ask for a change of venue as the informant in this case is the duly elected judge of the district. He referred to Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg who disqualified himself from the bench in connection with the Nagel case.

The Klamath Historical society will spend Sunday, June 29 visiting historical sites throughout Klamath county. The group, scheduled to leave the Klamath courthouse at 9:30 a. m., will visit many spots which have figured in early pioneer history and Indian legend.

In Redmond he will be in charge of administration of the Central Oregon and Fort Rock land utilization projects for the U. S. soil conservation service.

Christenson came to Klamath Falls from Redmond in February, 1946, and before his work with the service in Redmond he was with it in Madras. He plans a six-week vacation with his family, the first vacation he has had since 1941, before resuming his duties at the new station.

Steel Company Furloughs Workers

PITTSBURGH, June 28 (AP)—The Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation said today that 10,000 workers in its district mills would be furloughed by Monday in the largest mass layoff to date in a coal-dependent industry because of a complete shutdown in the nation's mines for a miners' vacation.

This drastic slash in the Pittsburgh-Youngstown, O., district came as nearly a half-million United States coal miners went on a 10-day paid vacation.

The company spokesman was unable to say how long the furloughs of workers would last, nor if there would be additional layoffs.

Butter Price Up In Portland Area

PORTLAND, June 28 (AP)—The wholesale price of butter was up 3 cents today—70 cents on grade A and 69 cents on grade B.

The new increase, attributed to the seasonal decline in milk production, and advancing eastern prices, brought butter to 5 cents more than a month ago and 20 cents more than a year ago.

WHY WE SAY THUG. Our modern slang for a criminal was derived from the thugs of India who worshipped Kali Ma, the Hindu goddess of destruction. This group considered assassination to be a religious duty and terrorized India for centuries murdering by looping a noose around the victim's neck and strangling him.

Record Mushroom Found At Lake

Mrs. Albert Barrett reported today that she found a huge, nine-pound puffball mushroom near the Barrett ranch at Round lake this week. Over a foot in diameter, the mushroom made three quarts after it was canned.

For the interest of other "mushroomers," Mrs. Barrett says that mushrooming has been fairly good in that area this season, despite reports from other sections that the weather has not been favorable.
