News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, July 10—No one wants to mention federal finances around here. Money is a subject repugnant to democrats and republicans alike.

Today's Roundup

IN yesterday's interesting discussion of tourist promotion possibilities for the Klamath area, conducted by John Houston at the Tulelake Rotary club, the point was made that this section is on a tourist fly-way.

EPLEY

Continued development of our highways, and insistence on their recognition on maps, road signs, and among those who provide information for tourists, is certain to bring an increasing travel through our region.

Perhaps this is just as well because the treasury sneaked some next year's expenditures into last year's budget in order to hold the surplus figure down, and make the finances look worse.

It might be a good idea to erect a sign at that point on the highway, bearing some such large inscription as TULE LAKE WATER LINE, followed by other informative material.

As an enthusiastic motorist, who has driven considerably in strange territory, this writer has always been appreciative of efforts made to keep him informed about interesting spots he might otherwise pass without knowing of their significance.

Information

AND as to information, it is mighty important that the passing motorist be accurately informed by those in the area of whom he may inquire.

A little imagination and ingenuity can help a lot on capitalizing on the tourist trade possibilities of the region.

The point we are getting at is that if it is true that heavy travel through here is inevitable, regardless of what we do about it, it is also true that it offers economic opportunity that can be realized to a greater or lesser extent according to our own imagination, effort, and hospitable interest in the folks who pause in our country.

The World Today

By DeWitt MacKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Greek government's announcement of a communist plot to overthrow the Athens regime acquires special significance from the fact that a few hours earlier Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko has charged before the United Nations security council that the situation in Greece was due to Anglo-American interference and had demanded that the U. N. order foreign military personnel (meaning U. S. and British) off Greek soil.

It was in the pre-dawn of yesterday that Greek police and military made swift raids which netted close to 3,000 people who were charged with plotting rebellion against the state. Many important communists reportedly had fled to the mountains or were in hiding. Officials stated that all those arrested would have hearings and that those implicated probably would be exiled on the numerous islands off the Greek coast in the Aegean Sea.

One wonders whether Gromyko would have delivered exactly the same speech if he had known that the Greek police were to swing into action against the Reds a few hours later.

Gromyko said that Russia could not accept an American proposal for the establishment of a semi-permanent U. N. watch along the borders in question.

The effect of Gromyko's fiery proposals of course must be to delay the security council in making a decision regarding the Balkan investigating commission's report. Any delay of this sort obviously would be of advantage to the red elements which have been aiming at the establishment of a soviet in Greece.

It would permit continuance of such tactics as have been employed by red elements along the frontiers of Greece's northern neighbors.

The discovery of the plot in Athens presumably has put a dent in the communist program, but it isn't likely to halt the red drive.

Bigger Than Expected

EVEN at the end of the fiscal year, the time of final addition, all that came out was a statement by Treasury Secretary Snyder that we had a much bigger surplus than expected, ($753.7 millions he made it) accompanied by a warning against reducing taxes.

Perhaps this is just as well because the treasury sneaked some next year's expenditures into last year's budget in order to hold the surplus figure down, and make the finances look worse.

But this does not at all fit the Truman picture of the rich getting a big republican tax reduction.

So Mr. Snyder painfully views the happy or disregarded circumstances with caution. Indeed, even Senate Director Taft was against bringing up 1) delayed-tax reduction (beginning next January 1) at this time.

UN Action Waits

FOREIGN CHAIRMAN VANDENBERG was even more deadset against raising the subject. Vandenberg has all his United Nations legislation to get through before adjournment, and he did not wish a tax reduction bill interfering, especially as the cut is to be promised for six months hence.

Noah G. Holmes Died On Tuesday

Noah G. Holmes, 68, a resident of this city for eight years, died Tuesday, Mr. Holmes had been in ill health for some time.

He was manager of the Earley hotel from July, 1946, until the time of his death. He formerly managed the Pelican rooms. Survivors are his wife, Maude, and one daughter, Mrs. Jim Campbell, of Dorris, Calif.

Obituary and funeral notice are announced by Ward's Funeral home elsewhere in this issue.

Probe Ordered In "Drunk Tank" Death

PORTLAND, July 10 (AP)—The death of Alfred J. Love in the city jail "drunk tank" here June 26 will be investigated this week by the Multnomah county grand jury.

The order for the investigation was given by Judge Ashby C. Dickson. Death of the prisoner resulted in suspension of two city jailers for neglect of duty.

Oklahoma To Back Dewey

SAPULPA, Okla., July 10 (AP)—Two Arkansas republican leaders told Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York Tuesday there were strong indications the Arkansas delegation to the GOP national convention in 1948 would support the governor for the presidential nomination.

William T. Mills, defeated candidate for governor of Arkansas last year, and Claude M. Williams, a member of the Arkansas state committee, said they assured Dewey there was a "heavy sentiment" for him in Arkansas.

Both hoped to be delegates to the national convention.

Mills said that while it was too early to make final judgment on which way Arkansas delegates would go, he expected a majority of them would be for Dewey.

Republican leaders from four or five other states were to see the governor later today before he left for a civic reception at the Elks club.

Ashland Teacher To Publish Text

SOUTHERN OREGON COLLEGE, Ashland, July 10—Miss Ollie Depew, member of the faculty of Southern Oregon college, is publishing a college textbook in the field of English, through Funk and Wagnalls company of New York.

This is her second book in the field of English language and literature, since coming to the college in 1932; the former publication, issued by Ginn and Company of Boston, is used as a college text throughout the country.

Zanesville Man To Judge Poultry

SALEM, July 10 (AP)—Ben F. Ricketts, Zanesville, Ohio, will judge the poultry at the Oregon state fair which opens here September 1. Fair Manager Leo Spitzbart announced.

Kenneth Jennings, Salem, again will be superintendent of the poultry competitions. All pre-war poultry classifications will be included in the premium lists.

The state of Washington has 46,049 miles of highways.

State Police Stand Guard Over Roads

By VAN HEMERT

Everyone did not take a vacation over the 4th of July holidays. While most were playing, there were a few for which the holidays merely represented more work.

Sgt. E. W. Tichenor, in charge of the local state police, reports that all officers regularly assigned to this area, as well as three new officers here awaiting rookie training, were on duty patrolling the highways from 10 a. m. until after midnight on the 4th, 5th and 6th.

The three rookie officers joined the patrol here on July 1. They are John Paxton, Raymond Howard and Roger Herendeen. They will be enrolled in the first session of the state police training school which will be held at the Oregon Vocational school from July 13 to August 2.

Tichenor reported a total strength over the holidays of 12 officers. There are 8 members assigned to duty at Klamath Falls. One officer, Tom Martin, was called over from Lakeview to assist in this area.

According to Tichenor, the holiday traffic volume was very nearly up to estimates made prior to the 4th. In all, he said, motorists were on good behavior.

The eight officers regularly assigned to this area are L. G. Bergmann, W. J. Colbert, L. W. Harroun, Todd Knapp, Robert Milton, D. J. Reed, Walter Scheidreiter and Mark Sullivan.

Electrical Store Opens

TULELAKE, July 10—Boyd and Fausett, electricians, will be open Saturday in a new location between the Red and White market and Balsiger, Inc. The new premises building, just completed, is the property of Balsiger, Inc. and was built by Pimmiger and Watkins, Klamath Falls contractors.

Floor space and the full glass front will afford adequate space for display of a large stock of electric household appliances and will provide room for the shop and repair department.

Fausett, who has been in business here for two and one-half years, is the city's mayor. Prior to entering the business field for himself he was employed by the California Oregon Power company. He has been a resident of Tulelake for 11 years.

Boyd, who owned and operated a grocery in Alturas for some time, is a navy veteran.

Both are licensed electrical contractors in California and Oregon.

The public is invited to view the new store on the opening day.

Bones Identified As Those Of Bear

SEATTLE, July 10 (AP)—Dr. Gale Wilson, King county autopsy surgeon, said today that bones which were uncovered by a bulldozer just north of the King county line yesterday were those of a bear.

The bones were found by A. W. Kent, a bulldozer operator, and before identification had sent police on a search of the missing persons file on the chance it might lead to a solution of an old case.

Rancher Leaves $14,000 Estate

Allen Edward Gale, Langel Valley rancher who died June 25 at the age of 75, left an estate tentatively valued at $14,000, according to probate filings.

His will was dated June 26, 1946, exactly one year before the date of his death. He named his wife, Mae Hester Gale, executrix of the will and left his entire estate to her, with the exception of a cash bequest of $500 to his daughter, Violet Gale Harris of Bonanza.

Sorry, but we can't be better than great. Talking about THE HUCKSTERS, previewers say it's not only better than the best-selling novel, but add that it's the best Hollywood picture in years.

The cast is perhaps the most perfect ever assembled, starting with those two great stars

CLARK GABLE and DEBORAH KERR

(her name rhymes with star), and continuing through Sydney Greenstreet, Adolphe Menjou, Ava Gardner, Keenan Wynn and Edward Arnold.

M-G-M'S "THE HUCKSTERS" is a genuine treat, romantic, absorbing, amusing, and altogether satisfying.

Screen Play by Luther Davis • Adaptation by Edward Chodorov and George Wells • Based on the novel by Frederic Wakeman • Directed by Jack Conway • Produced by Arthur Hornblow, Jr.

Starts July 20th
