Cupidors In; Cremation Waning In Far, Far West

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—West coast leaves from a transcontinental notebook.

The cupidors, man's best under-foot friend, may be on the wane in the rest of America, but it has many stout defenders in the far West, where the tradition of masculine rights is still cherished.

One champion of the cupidior is Paul C. Smith, the stocky young red-haired general manager of the San Francisco Chronicle.

Smith believes the real future of the cupidior lies in the field of decorative living room art rather than in its present function as floor furniture. He owns three. One, a flowing bell topped model, he keeps in his office—at the usual altitude.

"The other two I turned into table lamps at home," he said. "They make beautiful lamps. They've got the grace of a Grecian urn."

Cautious housewives, who find no possible use for cupidors except as daring flowerpots, may question the sureness of this unmarried journalist's taste. They wouldn't if they saw his home at Telegraph Hill overlooking San Francisco bay. It's one of the most distinctive on the West coast.

Not Enorthodox
Employing cupidors for table lamps isn't at all unorthodox for Smith, a freckle-faced editor who at 39 is still one of the nation's youngest major newspaper executives. A distinction he's enjoyed for ten years. The only thing commonplace about him is his last name.

He went into the navy as a lieutenant commander during the war, then resigned so he could dive into the marines as an enlisted man. He got what he wanted: a closeup of Pacific fighting.

He was near enough for the Japs

Jackson, Josephine, Coos, Curry and Douglas.

Areas Closed to Migratory Waterfowl Hunting—Coos bay and railroad bridge and Pony slough; same portion of Summer lake management area as last year plus and additional 160 acres under lease; all property of Chewaucan Land and Cattle company in the upper and lower Chewaucan marshes.

Three Dead In Oregon Drownings

By the Associated Press
Twelve Portlanders were rescued by life guards at crowded Northern Oregon beaches yesterday while water mishaps brought tragedy to three persons.

Two men were missing and believed drowned and a companion was in a hospital at North Bend after the small outboard motor boat they were riding capsized south of Cape Arago lighthouse yesterday.

The coast guard reported Wayne Dupree, 22, Powers and Henry Brainard, 41, also Powers, were missing. James F. Sutton, 28, Coos Bay, is in the hospital suffering shock and pain from immersion.

A lifeboat picked up Sutton at 6:55 p. m. but could not locate his companions. Brainard was boss of fallers and buckers for the Coos Bay Lumber company.

In other water accidents over the state, William Barzell, 18, Portland, drowned in the Clackamas river and at Seaside a stunt parachute jumper was rescued by an amphibious craft when he floated seaward and came down more than a mile off shore.

Six swimmers were saved at Seaside, four at Cannon Beach and two were unconscious when pulled from the surf at Rockaway after their rubber boat capsized.

Jim Bonner, Astoria, jumped from 5,500 feet in the sportsmen pilots air show at Seaside yesterday. He miscalculated the wind, and landed with his parachute out in the ocean instead of on the beach. An amphibious Duck brought him, unhurt, to shore.

Oakridge To Vote On Sewer System

OAKRIDGE, July 14 (AP)—This fast growing lumber town will vote Friday, July 18, on a proposed $150,000 bond issue to finance installation of a sewage system and disposal plant.

The system, planned to serve 2,000 people, will augment the municipal water system now used by the community's 800 residents. A population of 3,000 is expected when lumber development expands the town.

The Secretary-General of the International Emergency Food Council Says:

Help World Recovery, Save Used Fats

Thanks to patriotic American women, over 600 million pounds of used fats have been added to U. S. supplies of industrial fats since August 1942. These 600 million pounds were vitally important, not only to the United States, but to the entire world.

Fats and oils, both food fats and industrial fats, are in critically short supply, practically everywhere. Total world production of fats and oils in 1947 will be one-sixth less than in prewar years. But at the same time, there are many more mouths to feed and a tremendous job of reconstruction and rehabilitation to be done.

In the face of this great world-wide shortage of fats and oils, it is obviously most necessary to conserve every possible pound of fat. American women can make a real contribution to the welfare of their own country and to the recovery of the rest of the world by saving and turning in their used cooking fats.

D. A. Fitzgerald, Secretary-General
International Emergency Food Council

Grocer Robbed

LUMBER YARD ALSO — The butcher, the baker and the candle stick maker all lose. Old John Barleycorn robs every till. He takes our money out to live in the dry. Our drink bill and Main Street holds the bag.

NOW DRY — 28 million now live in dry territory. Some vote dry to keep home dollars home for the home folks. Dollars that can buy cats and fuel and build houses and be laid away for the rainy day. And what sense are the public schools if the grads are to drink up their earnings and spend their lives away? It is said that out of every ten who can take it or leave it alone, three must go down to the drunkard's grave.

WET BROOD — Rags—poverty—family break-up—crime—insanity—prostitution—venereal disease. This is the brood that liquor hatches. No wonder that 28 million choose to live in the dry.

STEP AHEAD—You are the man who had faith to believe that Christ died for your sins. You said YES, the sins of my lifetime are blotted out by the blood of Christ. God honored your faith and set your name in the Book of Eternal Life. Then he took up in your heart to make you new. Now what is your part? With city, county, state, nation skidding toward the pit, what is your part?
