

Memorial Park Plot For Veterans, Weed Cutting, Lighting Council Topics

The question of whether or not a special plot should be set aside in Klamath Memorial Cemetery as a final resting place for local servicemen killed in World War II was brought before last night's council meeting.

E. V. Zell, past commander of the Klamath Falls VFW chapter, requested the council take some action on this matter in view of the fact many of the boys killed overseas are going to be returned and interred here. In the discussion which followed the question arose if there should be a special plot for those returned from foreign soil, or if this section of the cemetery should be set aside for all veterans of World War II.

The council's action was deferred until a study of the situation could be made.

Councilman Condrey brought a request before the council for the immediate removal of weeds from the city's walks. This was approved and it was decided the work should be begun immediately. A mowing machine will be used to lower the crawling greenery on the strips between the sidewalk and the curb. It will also cut the weeds for a distance of one foot into all vacant lots from the sidewalk. Owners of vacant lots are required by a city ordinance to clear the weeds from their land and therefore the city will not undertake this task.

It was further decided that weed and grass burning by the city fire department should begin shortly. Fire Chief Keith Ambrose had previously informed the council of the department's readiness to do this.

Two reports were read before the council. The Klamath Falls Animal commission reported the collection of $215.56 during the month of July and the report of the chief of police showed $2,941 in fines had been collected by the department in the same period.

Bids on improvement unit 94 were read to the city dads. This unit is for paving and curbing on two blocks along Applegate. There were two bids. The first, from the Warren Northwest Construction company, was for $10,957.90. The second, from the Asphalt Paving company was for $9,408.15. The bids were referred to the street committee and the city engineer for further study.

Councilman Newton brought up the subject of lighting around the outside of the armory. He suggested two flood lights be placed on top of the fire station and directed toward the rear of the armory, and another flood light be placed on the Spring street side of the armory. This matter was referred to the utilities committee, the chief of police and the city engineer for further study.

The one discussion of the whole session which seemed likely to get a little warm was a matter concerning the parking of vehicles on the strip between the curb and the sidewalk on the city's streets. After considerable opinion on all sides had been expressed, the matter was referred to the mayor, chief of police and the city engineer for study.

John Paul Jones once said, "Since the establishment of the navy, none have been so good, so fair a prospect—this makes all argument in favor of it unnecessary."

Bank Help Seen Community Aid

SEATTLE, Aug. 5 (AP)—"Anything a bank can do to help promote and encourage business in its own area lends to prosperity. 100 bankers from Washington, Oregon, Idaho, California, Utah and Montana were told yesterday at the opening of the annual 12-day Pacific Northwest banking school.

Both Dr. Howard H. Preston, dean of the University of Washington school of economics and business, and H. C. Philbrick, Seattle banker, stressed "at the 'no-no-no' reaction to a customer's request is bad business."
