LONDON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee introduced surprise legislation in the house of commons today to give his government broad powers for increasing agricultural and industrial production to meet Britain's impending dollar crisis.

The precise powers sought for the labor regime were not immediately clear, but a highly placed source said it did not provide for power to direct labor.

Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison said the legislation would

Transportation News

A report from the Southern Pacific company indicates the present tri-weekly streamliner service between San Francisco and Chicago will go on a daily basis on September 1. This announcement was made by A. T. Mercier, president of the Southern Pacific company.

Schedule of the new service will continue to be 39 and 40 hours between the west coast and Chicago.

All western rail lines report a severe shortage of freight cars. Yesterday, a report was received from Washington which pointed up this situation. Representative Robertson of North Dakota directed a request to J. M. Johnson, director of defense transportation and R. V. Fletcher, of the Association of American Railroads, which urged that all of the box cars owned by northwest railroads that are being used elsewhere be returned immediately.

This shortage is expected to be particularly acute during the harvest season unless a large number of cars are returned.

Move Made To Save West Relics

Relics of ancient life in the Columbia basin, the weapons, tools, and ornaments that prehistoric tribes left in their old village sites, are to be rescued from oblivion by an archeological program recently undertaken by the Smithsonian Institution in cooperation with the National Park service, the bureau of reclamation, and the U. S. army corps of engineers.

Dr. Philip Drucker, Smithsonian institution archeologist, directing the program on the west coast, in announcing the program stressed the fact that three west coast educational institutions, the University of Oregon, the University of Washington, and the University of California, through their respective departments of anthropology, are collaborating with the four government agencies by providing trained personnel for field parties and laboratory space for study of collections.

Two field parties have begun the search for ancient remains in areas to be flooded by dams projected on the Columbia and its tributaries. One party is working at present in the McNary dam area, the other in the Grand Coulee, below Coulee dam where a storage reservoir is planned. The more important sites found will be excavated before completion of the dams covers them with water and makes recovery of the valuable archeological materials impossible.

Gypsy Smith Dies Aboard Ocean Liner

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—Rodney (Gypsy) Smith, 87, British evangelist, died of a heart attack aboard the British liner Queen Mary at 1 p. m. Monday, it became known when the liner arrived here today.

A few hours before his death, he had insisted on being carried to the top deck of the liner to greet some friends.

Mrs. Smith, who accompanied the noted evangelist, said her husband had made the trip for his health. She said that the last time he preached was last year, and that he had hoped to preach during his visit in the United States.

"Gypsy really belongs to the world," the widow said.

The name Gypsy was given the evangelist because of his birth, March 31, 1860, in a gypsy tent near Epping forest, outside the county of London. As a youth he sold clothes pegs and tinware made by his father.

He broke away from a nomad's life when his father and two of his brothers were converted and began preaching. Their example resulted in his conversion when he was 16 and he set preaching as his goal.

He went to work with the Christian mission headed by William Booth, who soon became general in the re-organization of the mission into the Salvation Army.
