Barley Crops May Top Spuds

Potatoes, usually leading in total sales value in Klamath basin harvests, are likely to be replaced this year by the barley crop, the county agent's office advised today.

Barley acreage in the area this year is 10,000 acres greater than planted in 1946, or 82,000 acres for 1947. In the neighborhood of 75,000 acres were planted in the Hannechen variety used for malting and the remainder planted in Utah Winter, Vaughan and some other varieties.

Weather conditions are continuing favorable and some of the grain is reportedly ripening already to threshing stage.

Some dry land wheat is also ready for harvest and grass threshing is in progress on the Geary ranch.

The potato acreage, limited this year by planting, frosts and other diverse growing conditions will undoubtedly take a second place in total sales value. The second section of the first potato seed certification is in progress now in this county.
