

Rescue Plane Crashes While Trying Landing

NOME, Alaska, Dec. 29 (AP) — Heavy ground fogs, gale force winds and sub-zero temperatures confronted rescue parties today as the air force, further hindered by the crash landing of a C-47 tow plane and its glider in Sunday's operations, sought to evacuate four known survivors of a B-29 crash in the bleak sub-Arctic 95 miles north of Nome.

None of the seven men in the C-47 and the glider was injured. Five of the unsuccessful rescuers were returned last night to Nome by the crew of a C-45. Two others were left behind to ready the stranded glider to be picked up today.

Condition of the four survivors and fate of the four other crew members of the stricken Superfortress, the "Clobbered Turkey," still was uncertain. The plane crashed on a training flight last Tuesday.

Capt. Aiken Mays, Nome air base doctor, and two paratroopers dropped to their aid Saturday night, shortly after the plane was first sighted, but failure of their radio equipment has made it impossible to gather details. A second radio was dropped by the C-47 team yesterday but there was no indication from the medical team that any messages were getting through.

148 Sign Up For Night Class Here

At the close of fall term, 148 students were registered in the general extension division evening classes at Klamath Union High school.

In remedial reading the enrollment was 49, with 35 in typing, 23 in accounting, 22 in English composition and 19 in American literature. Jeannette Smith and Arthur Kreisman of Southern Oregon college at Ashland taught the reading composition and literature. H. O. Palmer of the KUHS staff taught the typing and accounting classes.

Registration for winter term classes will begin Monday, January 5, at 7 p. m. in room 209 of the high school for English composition and literature. Those interested in typing, both beginning and advanced, may register at room 103. Accounting students will enroll in room 102 Thursday, January 8. All classes carry full college credit but may be taken without college credit if desired. Classes are held at 7 p. m. at the high school.

In-service training courses for teachers, tentatively planned for early January, are a graduate seminar taught by Dr. Elmo Stevenson, president of SOU, and science for elementary school teachers. A course in the natural history of Oregon with emphasis on the bird life, geology, and plant life of the Klamath area will be offered. The course will be open to anyone interested.

Dr. Ruth Hopson of the general extension division of the Oregon state system of higher education, will teach the science classes. Dr. Hopson was naturalist at Crater Lake national park last summer.

Oklahoma City Shuns Stripper

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 29 (AP) — Oklahoma City, often called a great frontier town by its own residents, found strip-teaser Evelyn West of Los Angeles too metropolitan for local tastes.

When she took off most of her clothes at the club jamboree last night, police took her entirely off the billing.

"An Oklahoma City audience isn't blasé enough for that," said Vice Squad Detectives Bill Bidley and Roy De Shields.

"It's sort of sophisticated, all right," replied the dancer's manager, Jake Zamara, "but she didn't take off all her clothes."

Then he posted $20 bond to guarantee Miss West's appearance in police court.

Engineers Spend $30 Million

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 29 (AP) — The army engineers spent $30,437,916 on flood control, dams and similar projects in the Portland district this year.

Col. O. E. Walsh in a year-end report listed flood control work at $6,818,995; maintenance of dams, $389,852; rivers and harbors improvements, $3,431,861; rivers and harbors maintenance, $3,693,291; maintenance of locks and dams, including Bonneville, $1,365,737.

He said major project expenditures were: Snake river in Oregon, Washington and Idaho, $133,918; McNary dam, $2,823,765; Lookout Point reservoir, $969,237; Dorena reservoir, $2,100,739; Detroit reservoir, $2,236,727. All the reservoirs are in the Willamette valley flood control project.

When The Elks Celebrated Western Nights In 1912

The recent stag night held by Klamath Falls Elks lodge, No. 1247, brought up memories of the first Elks "western nights" party, pictured above. This was the scene in 1912 when the Elks, then headquartered in the second floor of a building at Fourth and Klamath, staged a night of fun to raise money for charity purposes. Perhaps readers will be able to pick out some faces in the group. The man in the left foreground in the black coat and boots is E. B. Hall, genial host at the Hotel Hall. The pudgy gentleman at the right, with cigar in hand, is Gary Cozad, Linkville constable. This picture belongs to Mrs. J. J. Keller, 718 Jefferson, who loaned it to The Herald and News.

Taft Attacks Truman Policy

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 29 (AP) — Senator Robert A. Taft, an aspirant for the republican presidential nomination, said today President Truman is "playing all the politics he can with high prices."

The Ohio senator, at a breakfast held for him and Mrs. Taft here by the Jackson county republican committee, was referring to the president's statement last night on the republican anti-inflation bill which he said he was going to sign although it was "pitifully inadequate."

Taft said Truman's comments on the anti-inflation measure, co-sponsored by Taft and Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.), represented the administration's efforts to shift the responsibility to the republicans.

"Present prices are due to the policies of the government for the last 15 years," Taft told the county republican committee. "The inflation has been produced by the spending policy of the administration, and by more demand than supply."

"The inflation has been brought about by the lavish use of money and the tremendous government deficits."

Even greater governmental spending, he said, is being planned. "The president now is preparing a $40,000,000,000 budget for next year," he added, saying that the proposed budget represented a sharp increase above the last $29,000,000,000 budget which the republicans lopped off $3,000,000,000.

Taft is to make a speech at a political meeting here tonight following a full day political sessions with republican leaders here.

Christmas Ship Officials Thank Klamath Basin Donors

By FRED E. FLEET
While Klamath Falls and Klamath county have not reached the totals hoped for in the Christmas Relief Ship and while donations received have not thus far shown up well in comparison with many other sections of the Northwest owing to the fact that Klamath was un-solicited until too late for an organized campaign, nevertheless the generous response which has been entirely voluntary by so many local givers has been heart warming to those in charge of receiving contributions.

The first order for purchase of canned goods from monies received so far is expected to go forward today to Portland headquarters. This order will be in the amount of $506, and according to the price list from headquarters it will be segregated as follows:

8204 will go for the purchase of 9792 cans of milk; $102 will secure 6800 servings of dehydrated potatoes; $100 is going to buy 240 cans of meat, each can a serving for four persons; $100 will be marked for purchase of 500 cans of baked beans. Present plans are now to make another purchase with remaining funds at the termination date.

Appreciation was voiced today for permission to display slides requesting contributions at the Klamath Falls theatres.

All contributions from firms or individuals to the Christmas Ship may be deducted from income tax payments.

Present plans are now to make another purchase with remaining funds at the termination date.

Helicopter Crash Fatal

NAPLES, Italy, Dec. 29 (AP) — Three U. S. navy men were killed when a helicopter from the aircraft carrier Midway lost its rotor and fell into a swamp iron pile in the port of Naples today.

Two were listed as naval officers Robert Lamm and Jack Peter. Their addresses and the name of the third victim were not available.

Witnesses said the helicopter took off from the carrier, anchored in Naples harbor, a few minutes before the crash. The accident occurred a few hundred yards from the "friendship train" food ship Exiria.

The rotor fell in several pieces from a considerable height, witnesses said. Then the ship crashed. Wreckage was taken aboard the Midway for investigation.
