houseguest until Monday when she left for her home. She is a music instructor in the Yakima high school.

Salem visitors in Klamath Falls at the Martin Ramsby home on North Fifth street, include Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Livesley and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Drager. They were guests at Reames New Year's Eve and at several informal affairs arranged for them during their stay.

Out-of-town guests over New Year's included Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Low of Brookings who were guests of Mrs. Low's sister and family, the Neal Stewarts. They returned to their home on the coast New Year's Day.

Mrs. Robert E. Slutz (Mary Awdry Radcliffe), left Tuesday morning by train for her home in Madison, Wisconsin, after spending the holidays here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Heber Radcliffe.

Marylhurst bound Sunday will be Mary Vandenberg, Florence Narey, Barbara Brosterhous, Patricia O'Leary, with Phyllis Honzel going to Seattle college. Earl Wisecarver is going back to Portland university as is Bill Colbert.

The Herald and News has received several "first robin" calls but remembering the barrage of assertions that "we have the first robin" kept us from announcing the arrival of the little red-breasted fellows.

But today along came a report of many, many robins, feasting on the apples still hanging to the trees in Twyla Ferguson's back yard. They're having a field day, according to Conger avenue residents.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bechen of Deleker, California, were New Year guests of Mr. and Mrs. Haarty Bechen and family of California avenue.

Holiday visitors in Klamath Falls included Mr. and Mrs. Kirk White and son Kirk Jr., of Manhattan Beach, guests here of Mr. White's mother, Mrs. G. W. White, and his two sisters, Mrs. Oscar Shive of Washington street and Mrs. Charles L. Roberts of Pacific Terrace. Mr. White is a former Klamath Falls resident and greeted many old friends while here.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ranker, 202 N. Second street, have returned from a five-day Christmas vacation at the home of Mr. Ranker's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin W. Shepard, Valley of the Moon, California.

Mr. Shepard is a nephew of the late Jack London, noted Western writer, and the Shepards live in the London home. This picturesque old house is often included in sight-seeing trips around the San Francisco bay area, and celebrities who visit the West are often entertained there. The house is copied from a French chateau. Mrs. Charrman London, widow of Jack London, was present at the Christmas festivities this year, as were several other relatives of the Rankers.

Barbara Zinn leaves soon for Fresno State college at Fresno, Calif., and Mary Havens returns to Stephens college at Columbia, Missouri.

Candlelight Rites Read Friday Eve

Alice Eastman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Eastman of this city, became the bride of Shelbert Rhodus of Smith River, Calif., in a candlelight service read at the First Covenant church, December 26.

Rev. Selmer T. Jacobson read the ceremony at 7:30 before relatives and friends of the young couple.

Vows were exchanged in a Christmas setting with two lighted Christmas trees, poinsettias, white pompons and tall tapers forming the background for the nuptials.

Mrs. Virgil Nelson of Yreka, Calif., sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Walter Lind, who later played the wedding marches.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of chiffon, fashioned with a long train. Her fingertip veil was edged in lace and fell from a tiara of seed pearls and crystals. Her bouquet was of gardenias and white carnations.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Norman Dwight of Chicago, Ill. Her frock was of lavender taffeta moire. Her bouquet was of poinsettias.

Bridesmaids were Carol Eastman, sister of the bride, and Neil Lindbergh. They wore identical gowns of gold taffeta moire and each carried an arm bouquet of poinsettias.

Flower girl was Elsie Eastman, gowned in a frock similar to the bride's.

Mrs. Eastman chose a dress of forest green with black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Best man was the brother of the bridegroom, Hollis Rhodus, also of Smith River. Ushers were Robert Eastman, brother of the bride, and Primo Bartelme of Smith River.

Some 100 guests attended the reception following the ceremony. Assisting were Mrs. Karin Carlson, who served, Mrs. J. R. Gunn, who presided at the coffee service, Mrs.

A HANDSOME FAMILY are the R. R. Royses. With her mother and daddy, First Lt. and Mrs. Roysel, is little Roselyn, 10 months old. The three were here over the holidays for a brief visit with Roselyn's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Len Roysel of 615 California avenue. Lt. Roysel recently went into active duty with the army air corps and is now stationed in Roswell, N. M.

Helen Radcliffe Is Bride Of Holidays

Ruth Helen Radcliffe walked down the aisle of St. Paul's Episcopal church at 8 o'clock Sunday evening, December 28, to exchange vows with Robert Frederick Graf of Corvallis.

The Rev. Frederick C. Wissenbach officiated at the ceremony before many friends of the young couple. The altar was decked with poinsettias, pews were made with clusters of white chrysanthemums and poinsettias, and there were many candles burning against the background of lighted Christmas trees. The two young candle lighters were Diana and Judy Voorhies of Corvallis and they were gowned in floor length white frocks with rosebuds in their hair.

Just before the ceremony, Mrs. Samuel A. Mushen played incidental music and the wedding songs, Schubert's "Ave Maria" and "O Perfect Love," were sung by Carl Hagel.

Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Heber Radcliffe of this city, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white satin gown with a full train, the white marquisette yoke of the bodice outlined with loops of satin. Her veil of white illusion net was caught at the head by a braid of satin with clusters of orange blossoms on either side. The top was a single white orchid with white carried a white prayer book sprays of stephanotis from which fell a shower of satin ribbons.

The bride's sister, Mary Awdry, now Mrs. Robert Stutz of Madison, Wisconsin, was her only attendant. Mary Awdry's floor length frock was fashioned with a peplum and the dusty rose tone of her tulle dress was repeated in the cascade arrangement of deeper rose snapdragons and white roses. She wore a brief veil with a band of white roses.

Best man was the groom's cousin, William Sylvester of Albany, Oregon. Ushers were the bride's two brothers, Tom and Billy Radcliffe.

Immediately after the ceremony there was a reception given at the Radcliffe home on Pacific Terrace. Mr. and Mrs. Radcliffe received with the young couple, and Mrs. Radcliffe wore a blue gown embellished with bead trim, and a small black hat.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake and after Helen and Bob cut the first piece of the confection, it was served by Mrs. Robert Webb of Jacksonville, Oregon. Mrs. W. B. MacMillan of Sacramento, aunt of the bride, presided at the coffee urn and Mrs. Glenn Voorhies of Corvallis at the punch bowl. Asisting about the rooms were Miss Pearl McLean, Miss Ann Reeves, Mrs. Horace E. Getz, Mrs. Raymond Reeves, Mrs. Francis R. Olds, Miss Hazel Morrison, and in charge of the bride's book was Miss Joan Campbell.

The rooms were gay with a lighted Christmas tree and poinsettias. The young couple left that evening for a week's stay in San Francisco and will return through Klamath Falls this week-end en route to Eugene where they will remain for the balance of the school year. For traveling, Helen wore a deep red gabardine suit with black accessories and new length top coat. She pinned the white orchid from her bouquet to the lapel of her jacket.

Helen is a member of an old Klamath county family and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Graf of Muscatine, Iowa. They met during early war years at the Canterbury club in Corvallis when Helen was attending Oregon College of Education and Bob was at Oregon State college with the army. He served overseas in the European theater with the armed forces for 18 months and then returned to Oregon State to resume his studies. He was graduated this past fall term from the school of education. In the meantime Helen was graduated from Monmouth and for the past three years has taught at the Whitaker school in Eugene.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. MacMillan and sons David and Paul of Sacramento, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Webb of Jacksonville, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Voorhies, Diana and Judy of Corvallis, William Sylvester and his mother, Mrs. Albert Benhagle of Albany.

Mrs. R. H. Anderson, Merrill road, will entertain members of the Art Needlework club Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, January 7.

Holiday Bride

In a simple Christmas Day ceremony, Mrs. Clara A. Peterman of this city became the bride of Louie Benson, also of Klamath Falls.

Rites were solemnized at 8 o'clock in the evening at the home of the Rev. E. E. Hambrick before a group of friends of the couple.

The two exchanged vows before the fireplace with a lighted Christmas tree adding to the holiday setting.

The new Mrs. Benson chose a suit of beige with brown accessories and a sprig of holly pinned at her lapel for the wedding.

After a brief trip to Santa Cruz, the couple will return to Klamath Falls to reside at 1135 Pine street.

Meeting Plans

The Klamath Falls Nile club will hold its monthly meeting at 1 o'clock, Wednesday, January 7, at the Winema hotel.
