

Wind Balks Rescue Try In Alaska

KODIAK, Alaska, Jan. 5 (AP)—Cut off both by land and sea, nine—and possibly 10—shivering castaways huddled on a rocky, ice-coated point of the Alaska peninsula, opposite Kodiak island, today as a navy tug and a coast guard cutter waited out a 60-mile an hour storm before attempting a rescue.

For all but three of the men it was their fifth night of exposure to the freezing cold.

Heavy seas whipped up by the gale balked rescue efforts Sunday for the third day, and forced the cutter Clover to seek shelter in Portage bay, at whose mouth the men are stranded.

Three of the men are crewmen from the navy tug Mataco.

Rescue Failure
They struggled to shore Saturday night after their surf boat capsized in a daring rescue attempt.

The others have been stranded since their 65-foot cannery tender, the motorship Spencer, struck a reef December 31 and broke up in the pounding surf. Aerial photographs taken by a search plane showed a group of either six or seven men huddled on the point. Previous reports said six had been seen.

"There were no visible casualties," the Kodiak naval base said. The scene is but five miles overland from the village of Kanatak, but high cliffs and impassable terrain prohibits rescue attempts from that direction, the navy said.

Only one of the stranded men has been identified. He is Lt. (jg) E. J. Kratochvil, Washington, D. C., of the tug Mataco.

Three Dead In Shooting Case

SEATTLE, Jan. 5 (AP)—The "misplaced jealousy" of an estranged husband led yesterday to the fatal shooting of a Washon island couple and death of the distraught slayer.

The husband, Robert Maynard, a power company lineman, killed himself in the yard of his home after shooting Mr. and Mrs. Carl Esterle as they sat reading in their living room.

County Detective Chief Adam Lyskoski said investigation disclosed that Maynard, 44, "incorrectly blamed his brother-in-law and sister-in-law for his own marriage going on the rocks."

Mrs. Maynard told Lyskoski she had seen her husband emerge from his car with a 30-30 carbine.

"I thought he was coming to kill me. He had threatened to kill me if I ever started divorce proceedings again."

"I hid in a closet," she continued. "I was afraid to breathe. Then I heard shots and I ran out to a neighbor's house and called the sheriff."

Officers said Maynard made no apparent attempt to find his wife. Neither did he try to halt the Esterle's 15-year-old daughter, Marilyn, who fled from an upstairs room past the body of her mother and drove to the home of a neighbor where she collapsed.

Public Works Contracts Gain
WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Public works contracts in Washington and Oregon more than doubled in value during the first nine months of 1947 as compared with the same period in 1946, the federal works agency said today.

Contracts let in Washington state totaled $57,866,000 from January through September, 1947, as compared to but $22,131,000 the previous year.

Oregon projects climbed from $15,873,000 to $30,965,000.

High School News and Comment

School moved into step again today as students returned after two fleeting weeks of vacationing. Ahead of them are semester reviews and, in two weeks, semester final exams.

Bringing honors to the KUHS journalism department is Ronnie Brown, Krater editor. Ronnie received an honorable mention in the fall, nation-wide editorial contest, as reported in the December-January edition of the Quill and Scroll magazine. Journalism has been Ronnie's interest since the last half of his sophomore year when he joined the Krater staff, and he is now employed part-time by The Herald and News.

The Pep Peppers will soon start practicing a half-time drill for the first home conference basketball game, which will be played January 16 with Medford high. Two or three more drills will be presented throughout the season, probably for the Grants Pass and Ashland home games.

A meeting of the junior forum group will be held tonight at 7:30 in the Little Theatre. This will be more or less of a reorganizational meeting, and the meeting dates for the future will be decided upon.

With "New Year's Reunion" as the theme, the Honor society is sponsoring a matinee dance Wednesday, January 7. In charge of the arrangements for the dance is club president, John Epley. Committee chairmen are Donna Rae Worden, entertainment; Mary Lou Case, concessions; Gerald Haddock, music and Ruthie Huston, publicity. A special feature of the entertainment will be a musical.

AVC Protests Game Position

PORTLAND, Jan. 5 (AP)—Delegates to the state convention of the American veterans committee wound up their sessions here yesterday with a resolution opposing the appointment of a Portland restaurant operator to the state game commission.

The state council was instructed to oppose appointment of Larry Hilaire, Portland, on the ground that his restaurant refused service to Carol Brice, a negro concert stage singer when she was here for a recent performance.

(Hilaire was named over the week-end by Governor Hall to the state game commission post.)

Paul Hansen, vice chairman of the Portland area AVC council, was elected state council chairman at the end of the two day meeting in which the organization pledged to work for better housing, civil rights, legislative and tax reform.

In one major vote battle the group endorsed the United Nations and overrode critics by a narrow margin.

Royal Gardner, Ashland, Ore., high school teacher, was elected vice chairman; Janis Kauffman, Portland, secretary; and Wilbur Gaston, Portland, treasurer.

New Travel Bureau Opens

Opening of the World Wide Travel Bureau today, with headquarters in the lobby of the Wilma hotel, was announced by Harold Clapp, general manager as well as owner of the bureau.

The bureau is the agent of the United Air Lines and was established in Redmond about a year ago. The bureau is the agent as well for most of the east and west coast steamship lines and its purpose is to book travel and accommodations at no cost to the individual. Air travelers may now pick up their tickets at the bureau instead of at the airport, Clapp advised.

Clapp will operate the bureau here at the present time.

Flyer Smashed By Propeller

Airport attendants reported the young physician, accompanied by his wife, had stopped here en route home from a vacation trip in the airplane. Miller was turning the propeller to start the engine when it "kicked over," striking him.
