

Transport Planes Used To Evacuate Missionaries From China Danger Spots

CHENGCHOW, China, Jan. 15 (AP)—Transport planes sped the evacuation of missionaries from this communist-menaced center today. Civil war fighting, however, hid the fate of an unknown number of Americans and others who had sought safety in Laohokow to the southwest.

Four have been killed in recent days—three of them slain by armed Chinese who shouted "Americans must die!" and the fourth was fatally injured by a grenade explosion in communist-government fighting.

As missionaries and other foreigners gathered at the busy Chengchow airport, one American said the spread of civil warfare and of anti-foreign sentiment had convinced him: "... It's time for us all to get out of China again." (There are more than 500 in danger spots, mission leaders said.)

A missionary for many years, he lived through the 1927 flareup of anti-foreign violence, when 6000 endangered missionaries were evacuated from Central China.

Reds Near City

Communists were reported within three miles of Chengchow, but this rail city 300 miles north of Hankow is strongly defended. Laohokow, 2000 miles northwest of Hankow, was at last reports under increasingly heavy communist pressure and evacuation-plane pilots said they could not land there without ground communications.

Laohokow is near the scene of the three missionary murders January 7. Assaults who Chinese witnesses said appeared to be communists stopped a bus and shot down Miss Martha J. Anderson, Minneapolis, Miss Esther Victoria Mordlund, Chicago, and Dr. Alexis Friedrich Berg, Helsinki, Finland.

The fourth death was reported Tuesday, that of American Mennonite missionary, Miss Elizabeth ment to citizens of nations granting reciprocal payment of such losses to U. S. citizens. The commission is determining which other nations are eligible to file claims, deadline for which is February 19.
