Terrace To Be Worked Over Soon

Pacific Terrace property owners last night took definite steps in the direction of improving the appearance of the street. Paul Landry, councilman from that ward, called a meeting of residents to discuss the matter, long a cause of discussion. Those attending the meeting discussed the possibility of landscaping and sprinkling the center parking strip under the Bancroft law, which provides for financing of paving, sewers and other improvement features. However, Landry stated, it is not certain whether the law will permit improvement of the appearance of a street to be financed by assessment on property owners. Immediate plans call for submitting the matter to bond attorneys for a decision. Landry said. Should the Bancroft act not okay the plan, property owners hope to get a street widening project in motion this spring. The proposal is to widen Pacific Terrace four feet.

As for the rest of the improvement project, when the state legislature meets this spring, property owners plan to ask for an enabling act so that improvement of the looks of the street can be accomplished and financed by local shared expense or assessment.

Loggers Back Strike Action

SEATTLE, Jan. 22 (AP) — Unanimous concurrence with the strike recommendations of their executive board was voted yesterday by 38 locals of the Puget Sound district council of the AFL Lumber and Sawmill Workers union.

The delegates voted to strike "as soon as possible" if no "substantial" wage boost is forthcoming in Thursday and Friday negotiations with employers. The union has asked a 30-cent-an-hour across the board increase.

Eighteen thousand Western Washington workers are represented in the council.

The negotiating committee will meet here Thursday with representatives of the Plywood and Door Industry of Washington and Oregon. Friday it will meet with the lumbermen's industrial relations committee.

Firm Chosen For Survey

City, county and chamber of commerce representatives will meet with an agent of Hahn, Campbell and Associates today for final negotiations for a county-wide economic, road and highway survey. It was reported at the luncheon meeting of chamber of commerce directors today.

The Burlingame firm has been agreed upon by the local people as the agency to make the survey, which may include sewage disposal and other angles as well as economic and highway conditions.

The chamber of commerce has agreed to put up $4000 out of community advertising funds, and the remainder of the cost presumably will be borne by city and county. A figure of $8500 has been mentioned as probable cost of the study.

Petrillo Eyes Newest Prospect

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP) — James C. Petrillo, head of the AFL musicians' union, was testifying Wednesday on Capitol Hill about plight of musicians. He said people don't have money to spend on entertainment.

Rep. Owens (R-Ill.), member of the house labor committee, kept quoting from a report by President Truman, that people are spending a lot on nearly everything.

Finally, Petrillo said: "I won't contradict the president. After all, he's a potential member of the union. He's a piano player."

Teen-agers Slate After-Game Dance

An after-game dance for Friday night will be sponsored by the Teen-Age club at the Willard from 9 to 12 o'clock. Bill Proctor, recreation director for the Teen-Age group said today.

Proctor will be in charge of the dance and officers of the club will serve on the committee. They are Bob Mahoney, president; Carol Monteth, secretary, and Pat Williams, treasurer.

Music will be furnished by Baldy's band and the dance will be broadcast from 10:30 to 11 p. m. over KPJL.

Youth Freed Of Theft Suspicion

Louie Gerue, 20, of 3304 Crosby, was absolved of suspicion of an attempted break-in at Beck's bakery last Saturday morning after a hearing in city police court this week.

The young man had been booked for disorderly conduct when he was found back of the bakery, but was released from custody Saturday after being held several hours.

LAST RITES
BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Jan. 22 (AP)—Yugoslav fighter planes dived in salute, and a military band played a funeral dirge Wednesday in tribute to 700 American fliers whose bodies were started toward home.

Their graves had been found during a two and a half years' search by a U. S. graves registration unit. The fliers fell while bombing the German and Italian occupation forces. Their coffins will be placed on a ship in Italy.

bination of more man hours per acre and more man hours per log will keep their town growing at a satisfactory rate.

They are building their plans for the future on that foundation.

YOU'VE heard, of course, of the Prineville municipal railroad and its little train that was known as the Galloping Goose. The road, running to Redmond, where it connects with the UP and the GN, was municipally financed and came in for a lot of ribbing. But it has paid out. Prineville's industrial growth has been largely built on this foundation.

It has been our custom too often in this country to laugh at pioneers who DO THINGS. The Galloping Goose is a bright and shiny example of the fairly dependable fact that it is better to do something than to sit tight and do nothing.

Anyway, Prineville is pretty well satisfied with the way things have worked out.

Homestead Appeals Miss

The sudden dropping off of heavy mails at the homestead office of the U. S. bureau of reclamation was markedly noticeable Wednesday.

The deadline for completed applications on the 44 Coppock bay homesteads was Tuesday, January 20, at 2 p. m. Quite a number of applications came in with the afternoon mail of that day, many of them by airmail, but too late to qualify for the priority group. These will automatically fall into the second group and applicants will be notified to that effect, A. D. Harvey, in charge of the homestead division, said.

Any appeals from applicants will be referred to the regional director.

Cook Building Gets Addition

E. Brosterhaus, contractor, has under construction on S. 8th street a triangular addition to the red hollow tile and brick building built only a few months ago by Troy C. Cook, buyer of potatoes, hay and grain.

Cook, after moving into his new location, added fertilizer, bags and dairy and poultry feeds to his business and plans to put in a hardware stock when the addition is completed.

Construction should be finished in a month.

Riddle Taken To Tacoma Hospital

Owen Riddle of Beatty, who suffered severe body burns in a holiday party at Beatty, was moved by ambulance early Thursday morning to the government hospital at Tacoma, Wash.

Riddle was taken north at 6 a. m. today by the Professional Ambulance Service operated by Ralph Rust who expects to return here late tomorrow afternoon.

Merrill Rancher Taken Ill

MERRILL, January 22 — Robert W. Steele, prominent Merrill valley rancher, was taken ill suddenly Sunday morning but was reported improved today.

Steele is at his home in Merrill. His son, J. R. Steele, has been with him during his illness.

Crowd Jams Farm Show

Between 600 and 700 people, farmers and their families attended the Kerns Implement company's farmers' show at the armory last night.

Following a series of colored moving picture reels a magician with his two girl attendants performed. Several youngsters from the crowd assisted him on the stage and received special awards for their services.

The pictures included animated cartoons, animal shorts, operations of flying farmers and the use of modern farm equipment and logging work in the pine forests.

At the close of the evening refreshments of coffee, soft drinks, doughnuts and ice cream were served.

SALEM, Jan. 22 (AP) — National guardsmen who want to go to the United States military academy at West Point have until February 1 to apply, Adjutant Gen. Thomas E. Rilea said today.

Beer Wholesalers Given Warning

The Oregon State liquor control commission today from Portland issued warnings to four Klamath Falls firms, all based on sale of beer to a grocer who does not hold a retail license. The firms were Martin's wholesale distributors, Carl Stienweiser, 515 Spring; J. Marvyn Hilton, 1415 Main; Lost River Dairy, 1500 Esplanade.

The warnings were issued on reported violations of the Knox code to a score of licensees throughout the state, including the four local operators. Approvals included one to Mack's Grocery, 336 Michigan.
