Klamath Indian Tribes' Meeting Proves Slow, Little Progress Shown

KLAMATH AGENCY, Jan. 24—A meeting of members of the Klamath Indian tribes, called yesterday by Seldon Kirk, general council chairman, produced very little in the way of concrete suggestions of ways to better relations between Klamath reservation and the federal government.

The intent of the meeting was to get recommendations and suggestions to improve the "wards of the government" status of the Indians, but reluctance to talk on the part of most of the persons in attendance caused the meeting to produce very little.

It was planned as a sort of "town forum" and any results, Kirk said, were to be forwarded to the National Congress of American Indians in Washington.

Slow Start

The chairman, Kirk, had difficulty getting the meeting started, having to do most of the talking himself, and the only suggestion from the floor that might be called a proposal to be sent to Washington came from Mrs. Dorothy McAnuity of Beatty.

She said she was very discouraged at the expense of the present administration at Klamath Agency, and also at the bickering going on between factions for and against the proposed liquidation of the reservation.

Mrs. McAnulty suggested that members of the tribes be appointed to administrative posts for a period of five or ten years to see if they could do a better job than white administrators have done.

Her suggestion, in effect, if the reservation is dissolved, the break shouldn't come so sudden the Indians would not be acquainted with their own affairs.

Kirk read a long letter from B. G. Courtright, Agency superintendent who is on leave, containing advice similar to that offered by Mrs. McAnulty and pointing out the pitfalls which might await the Indian and his property if he suddenly was taken out from under federal government wardship status.

Kirk had invited persons from town interested in Indian affairs to attend the meeting, and expressed disappointment that very few showed up.

Those who spoke briefly on invitation were Phil Hitchcock, president of the chamber of commerce, and Malcolm Epley, managing editor of The Herald and News, and Mrs. Frank Brown of Crystal.

Hitchcock assured the Indians that the general feeling of the white community was to hope that the rservation's problems can be worked out to the best interests of the Indians. He said there may be some white persons who look upon the issue as one that may provide economic opportunity for them, but that is not the general attitude.

Liquidation Sure

Epley suggested the eventual inevitability of "liquidation" in view of the obliteration of racial and physical lines that has been going on for a long time and will continue, and cited the advice given in the Courtright letter for Indians to prepare themselves for the inevitable. He said that people in the white community hesitate to participate in the controversies over reservation issues for fear their actions will be resented by the Indians as "interference and nosiness."

Mrs. Selden Kirk said she hoped the Indians would be given a better "break" in the press, with more news about Indians who do creditable things to offset that about Indians who become involved in difficulties with the law.

Market Road Work Shapes

LAKEVIEW, Ore., January 24 — The state highway commission has authorized its Lakeview resident engineer, J. S. Sawyer, to make a survey of 11½ miles of county roads in the Westside area near Lakeview to establish grade preparatory to improvement and surfacing under the state-federal market road aid program.

Although it still appears that the state and federal aid will not reach here for some time, it is held by County Judge J. R. Heckman that if the survey were completed, the county can use its own crews, equipment and supplies to accomplish much of the preliminary work such as cuts, fills, grading, drainage.

Heckman also feels that if the county does much of this work with its own funds, leaving only the surfacing of many of the county's roads for the state and federal aid, the money from the latter source will be available to improve many more mil.. of roads. A total of 68 miles of Lake county roads have been designated as market roads for the state-federal aid program.

Sawyer said that he can have his crew begin the survey within a few days so that the county will be able to start its own part of the program in the spring.

Chiloquin Set For Hoop Game

Rickys quintet from Klamath Falls will play the local Gienger's team in a basketball tilt on the local floor Saturday with Hal's Sport Shop team and Norval's playing the first game.

Next Saturday night a dance will be given in the high school gymnasium with the Rhythm Makers from Klamath Falls furnishing the music. The committee in charge of arrangements: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Kircher, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Cook.

Stock Dealing Slow Today

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP) — Little buying here and there for a technical rebound propped individual stocks today although many market leaders continued to suffer from neglect. Dealings were among the slowest of the past year.

A severe cold wave and threats of another storm kept numerous customers away from Wall street. The result was that the ticker tape loafed throughout. The price variations generally were in minor fractions. Slightly mixed tendencies prevailed near the close. Transfers for the two hours ran to around 250,000 shares.

Caution still was the watchword in financial circles pending more light on taxes, the Marshall plan, disturbing foreign situations and possible new wage demands in various industries.

Tuna Landings In Oregon Show Gain

ASTORIA, Ore., Jan. 24 (AP) — Tuna landings in Oregon increased last year to 9,137,623 pounds—more than double the 1946 total.

The catch was under 1944 and 1945 figures, with 1944 the top year at 22,418,704 pounds.

Prices were up, however, to a record $650 a ton. The catch was lowered by numerous storms.

MARKETS and FINANCIAL

WHEAT CLOSES UP LOSSES

CHICAGO, Jan. 24 (AP)—Wheat again displayed an easier trend on the board of trade today, influenced by snows in the winter wheat belt and by an agriculture department report showing substantial stocks on hand at the start of this year.

Feed grains resisted the decline after selling off with wheat early. Buying by houses with Northwestern connections gave the corn market support, although deferred months showed a tendency to ease late in the session. Oats were firm in line with cash grain strength.

Wheat closed 1¼ lower to 1 cent higher, May $2.93⅝-$2.94, corn was ⅝-1¼ lower, May $2.64⅝-$2.65⅛, oats were ¼-1¼ higher, May $1.27½-⅝, and soybeans were unchanged to 1½ lower, March $4.20.

Campaign Fund --No Candidate

CHICAGO, Jan. 24 (AP)—Bernard E Epton, one of the organizers of the Illinois "Eisenhower for President" club has $16,000 in campaign funds—but no candidate.

Epton called a press conference yesterday at which he planned to announce the merger of the Illinois Eisenhower group with the "National Draft Eisenhower League, Inc."

Surrounded by piles of press releases and red, white and blue buttons that said "I'm for Ike," Epton picked up one of the releases and to a reporter said:

"Here, take this."

"No, you take this," said the reporter, handing Epton a Washington dispatch which said General Eisenhower would not accept the presidential nomination if offered him.

Portland Wheat Market Strong

PORTLAND, Jan. 24 (AP)—Despite midwestern futures declines, the Portland cash wheat market stayed strong this week, with most classes of wheat gaining 2 cents, the U. S. department of agriculture reported today.

Hard white Baart wheat gained 10 cents in response to an active demand. Generally, however, the strong market arose from light country offerings rather than heavy buying.

Principal purchases were for the fed trade and for flour mills manufacturing domestic flour. Flour mills as a whole were operating at half-capacity, due to no export flour business.

Columbia river terminals received 523 cars of wheat this week.

Pine Activity Shows Gains

PORTLAND, Jan. 23 (AP)—Pine industry activity moved upward in the week ended January 17 following the customary year-end slackening, the Western Pine association reported today.
