Girls Injured In Spill

TWO BONANZA high school girls are in Hillside hospital recovering from painful hurts sustained late last night when a horse which they were riding fell on them.

The girls, Marilyn Markham, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Markham, and Sylvia Robinson, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Robinson, all of Bonanza, were reported improving today but X-rays were taken to determine possible fractures. They are badly bruised.

Marilyn and Sylvia had been at a basketball game and had returned to Marilyn's home for Sylvia's horse. They were en route to Sylvia's home to spend the night when the horse slipped and fell on top of the two riders. A brother of one of the girls was in a car and came on the accident. Marilyn and Sylvia were admitted to Hillside at 12:30 a. m. today.

Sabo's Said Improving

SOME IMPROVEMENT was reported here today in the condition of Paul Sabo and his wife, Mary Jane, Klamath Falls students at Oregon State college, painfully injured in the explosion of a butane gas tank which destroyed their trailer home at Corvallis last Tuesday.

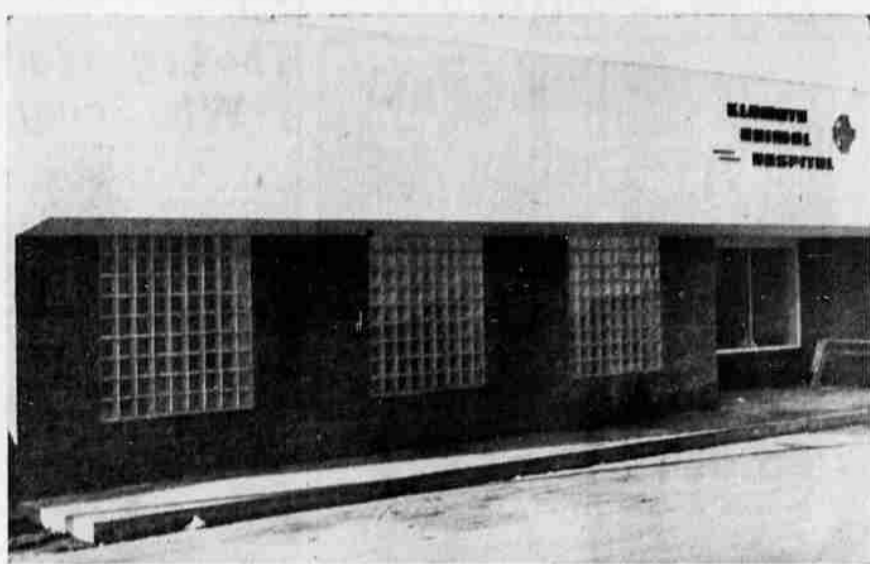

Both young people are in Corvallis General hospital but late word received here said their condition was improving this week-end. Mrs. Steve Sabo of 73 Pine has been with her son and daughter-in-law since the accident and Steve Sabo left last night for Corvallis.

The accident occurred while young Sabo was working on the tank. In the meantime, officials of the state labor office in Salem investigated the explosion and said that the tank was faulty. The tank has been removed for study. A neighbor, Mrs. Mack Andrews, 60, died as the result of burns when her nearby trailer caught fire. Andrews was also recovering from burns.

NAMED—SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 24 (AP)—J. A. Gardner of Salem, Ore., was named yesterday as one of five directors of the newly organized western international fox, mink and chinchilla show. No site has been chosen for the first exhibition, scheduled for next November.

500 Attend Annual KPCA Meeting

Over 500 farmers, stockmen, their wives and guests, met at the Oregon Vocational school today for a luncheon and the 14th annual stockholders meeting of the Klamath Production Credit association.

William Kittredge, president of the association, presided at the meeting and the report of the board of directors was presented by Director Lee Holliday. Secretary-Treasurer Lee S. McMullen presented the financial report for the year 1947 and brought out interesting figures showing the growth of the association since its organization in 1934.

His report indicated that loans amounting to over three and one-half million dollars were made to the association's 470 farmer and stockmen members during 1947, and that total loans made since 1934 were in excess of 31 million dollars.

Net earnings for 1947 were $31,372, leaving $22,715 to be added to the reserves after paying a 4 per cent dividend to member stockholders amounting to $8657. Total dividends paid to stockholders now amount to over $57,200. Farmer and stockmen members have now invested $191,415 in capital stock in the association with $239,811 in earnings placed in reserve to protect this investment. Indicating the sound financial position which has been attained.

Progress Shown

McMullen pointed out that rapid progress has been made in retiring government-owned stock and that the association would soon be wholly member owned. In 1937 the government had $250,000 invested in capital stock of the association. $225,000 of this stock has been retired, leaving a government investment of $25,000 as of December 31, 1947. McMullen reported that plans have been made to retire an additional $20,000 of this stock on March 1, 1948, and that at that time the member stockholders would own 97 1/2 per cent of the outstanding capital stock. It is expected that by 1949 or 1950 complete ownership should be accomplished.

J. W. Bradley, secretary of the Production Credit corporation of Spokane, was the principal speaker at the meeting.

Winston D. Purvine, director of the Oregon Vocational school, also spoke to the group on relations between the college and farmers in the Klamath basin.

R. J. Michels, who served as assistant secretary-treasurer since organization, resigned to take a position with the Warner Valley Land and Cattle company. This is the

Driver Hurt In Smash-Up

Darwin V. Huck, 33, a Weyerhaeuser Timber company employe of camp 6, was seriously injured early this morning when a car he was driving crashed into a tree at 430 Riverside.

Huck was taken to Klamath Valley hospital where his injuries were said to include a badly broken arm, head and chest hurts and many cuts. Hospital attendants said his condition was poor.

Investigating police said Huck told them he was driving into town about 4:30 a. m. when an oncoming car forced him off the street. His car went over the curb and struck the tree with such an impact that the car was completely wrecked. The injured man was taken to the hospital by Professional Ambulance service.

Lake School Population Gains

LAKEVIEW, Jan. 24 — The school population of Lake county increased 170 in 1947 over the 1946 figure, according to figures completed in the office of Mrs. Anne Sprague, county school superintendent.

Eight of the 18 districts in the county showed increases totaling 208, but nine of them showed losses totaling 38, and one district showed no change.

John Marshall, who was appointed chief justice of the U. S. supreme court in 1801, served 34 years, longer than any other chief justice, and is credited with shaping the policies which gave the court its present importance in American government.

Student Loan Gift Given

The first contribution to a student loan fund at Oregon Vocational school has come from Fred C. King of Portland, head of the King Boilerworks in that city.

Loans from the fund donated by King will be used to help students through financial difficulties, according to Winston D. Purvine, OVS director, who announced word of the donation today.

Each $100 received by the school for the loan fund will help six students annually, Purvine said. A faculty committee will review student applications for loans, and any student in financial difficulty, whether it be large or small, may request aid. The loan will be issued on the committee's approval on a short term basis with a small interest rate.

Merrill Winds Up City Plan

MERRILL, Jan. 24 — Completed are Merrill's $75,000 city improvement projects which include installation of a new 50,000-gallon steel storage tank, the laying of 1 1/2 miles of steel pipe for the water distribution system and the re-construction of the sewage disposal plant. Two-thirds of the total cash outlay went for the water system and the remainder for the sewer improvements.

General obligation bonds in the amount necessary were voted at a special election to finance the work. One year prior to the taxpayers' sanction of the plan, Paul Lewis, city councilman, laid the groundwork and he has been largely responsible for its early successful conclusion.

The new tank replaces a 30,000-gallon wooden structure built by the Columbia Utilities company in 1931. Prior to that time part of the town was supplied with water from one or two private wells. The late George Offield was then mayor. The system was operated between 1931 and 1939 by the company, water being distributed through wooden pipes.

In 1939 during the time that Charles Gard, now of Tulelake, was mayor here, the city bought the water system. A 1034-foot well was drilled to replace the original 300-foot bore.

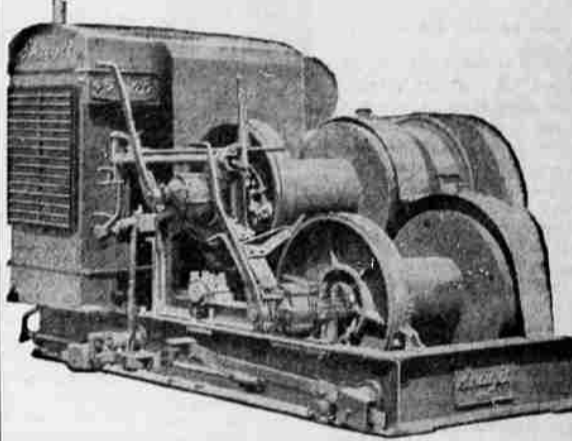

P. L. Lord, Portland, took the bid for laying the pipe, the contract on the tank went to H. D. Fowler, Seattle, and the actual construction on the big cylinder was done by the Pittsburgh-Des Moines company of Des Moines, Ia.

Present storage is believed adequate for any emergency, Lewis stated this week. It is proposed to lay an additional two and one-half miles of pipe soon, this to be financed also by a bond issue.

All property within the city limits including the new addition to the west is now serviced with both water and sewer lines. With the installation of recirculating pumps in the receiving tank of the disposal system and improvement of the filtering system all pollution of Lost river is eliminated. The improvement work has been accomplished during the administration of Mayor Frank E. Trotman.

John Marshall, who was appointed chief justice of the U. S. supreme court in 1801, served 34 years, longer than any other chief justice, and is credited with shaping the policies which gave the court its present importance in American government.
