

Biting Cold Grips Wide Section Of Country Today As Death Toll Reaches 160

By The Associated Press
Winter's relentless siege of cold, snow and ice dealt further damaging blows to a wide section of the country today.

The inclement weather affected many segments of business and industry and made idle thousands of workers. The death toll—in the east, south and midwest—was nearly 160.

The third cold wave in a week chilled residents from the Rockies to the Atlantic coast. A blizzard swept New Mexico. A numbing cold spread over Texas from the Panhandle to the Lower Rio Grande valley. Snow falls in Tennessee measured from four to 16 inches.

Ice from three to six inches deep covered Arkansas and other parts of the south hit by cold weather, closing schools, impeding traffic and disrupting communications.

High Wind
California did not escape the antics of the elements. Gusts of 85 miles an hour swept through Ontario, Calif., and winds of between 50 and 60 MPH in other parts of the San Bernardino valley yesterday. Trees and some telephone poles were felled as the winds whipped up heavy clouds of dust and sand. The weather generally in Southern California was clear.

In Northern California forecasters said there was a "bare possibility" of rain for the drought-stricken area but the immediate prediction was for continued clear skies. The region has been without rain for more than five weeks.

The current fuel shortage brought further discomfort to many communities as the cold weather tightened its icy grip over the area from the Rockies to New England.

No estimate was available as to the number of workers made idle by closing down of plants and factories to conserve fuel. However, in Detroit area alone an estimated 200,000 workers were made temporarily jobless when the Michigan Consolidated Gas company suspended all gas supplies to industrial users. The order, to be in effect until next Tuesday, virtually halted auto production in the motor city.

Workers Idled
Continued cold weather also was responsible for idling 15,000 workers in the Pittsburgh district following an almost 100 per cent curtailment of industrial gas supplies. In Buffalo, N. Y., a shortage of gas prompted the American Brass company to put 400 of its 800 employees on a four-hour shift. Another Buffalo company temporarily laid off 600 of its 1300 employees.

There was promise of some relief from the bitter cold which has gripped the Midwest this week and temperatures started to moderate last night in North Dakota. But the mercury was far below zero in many sections of the central states this morning, with a low of -20 at Atlantic, Ia. The sub-zero line extended into Northern Illinois, where Chicago's early morning minimum was -4.

Clear Weather For 9 Days

Folks in these parts who have laid bets that this month will see an all-time record for clear January days, can take back their money.

The weatherman chalked up nine consecutive clear days, January 12 to 20, inclusive, but January 21 and 22 were labeled "part cloudy." The record for consecutive clear days goes to 1920 when 16 straight days, without a cloud in the sky, was the weatherman's report. The minimum temperature that year in January was 12 degrees above zero, same minimum reading for this month. In 1917, there were 10 days of clear weather running day by day, but the minimum reading was 13 degrees below zero for the month of January.

It was 16 above here this morning at 7 o'clock.

The young fry took advantage of the below freezing weather and took to the government canal last night where bonfires were burning to warm their hands and feet in between sashays on the ice. Skating looked good for tonight but the city recreation office still warned of skating on Upper Klamath lake.

Worker Treated For Flash Burns

William L. Nolen, 2151 Darrow was treated early this morning at Hillside hospital for flashburns to his eyes received late yesterday afternoon while at work at Bell Machinery company on S. 6th street.

Nolen works as a machinist at Bell's and was near an arc welding job at the time. He is resting at his home.

Police Press Hunt For Killer
TOKYO, Jan. 28 (AP)—Metropolitan police said today they expect soon to arrest the fiend who coolly poisoned Teikoku bank employees—killing 12—and escaped with an estimated 164,000 yen ($3280).

Inspector Horiaki Shigetaki said the bizarre robbery was similar to two previous bank robbery attempts. As in the latest case, the robber posed as a public health official and induced employees to drink poison with the explanation it was an antidysentery medicine.

In the previous cases, the employees were only sickened.

Thousands of Japanese police are searching for a pallid, big-nosed Japanese with white hair. He entered the bank at closing time Monday, ordered 18 employees to drink the "medicine" and scooped up the currency as they writhed on the floor. Four are expected to recover.

Tankers Held Big U. S. Sea Hope

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—Proposed tanker construction is viewed by shipping men as the greatest immediate hope of keeping the American shipbuilding industry alive and healthy.

J. Lewis Luckenbach, president of the American bureau of shipping, says orders for new tankers held out hope of enabling the shipbuilders to "maintain the nucleus of a trained and skilled staff."

A fear of losing trained and skilled personnel during the lean years is one of the reasons shipyard operators are seeking a long-range steady program of ship construction.

Luckenbach reports that the oil industry has placed orders for 18 new tankers aggregating 278,690 gross tons and 466,000 deadweight tons.

Iraq Cabinet Resigns

LONDON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Government plans to establish a British-Arab security system against communism in the Middle East have suffered a severe setback by a blow-up in British relations with Iraq.

The Iraq cabinet resigned last night after violent riots in protest of a revised treaty of alliance with Britain cost 70 lives.

A Beirut dispatch said Lebanon had been informed by the Arab league that the league was studying a British proposal for a council of Britons and Arabs to coordinate defenses of the Arab nations in the event of war.

In Cairo, an Arab league press official told newsmen the riots "should induce Britain to chart a policy serving the people's interests."

It was thought they would attempt to find and support a new premier willing to work at convincing the Iraq people that they should accept the treaty. Efforts of Premier Salih Bey el Jabur were fruitless and violence broke out when he said he would push the proposal. It stopped when he quit.
