Martha and Shops

Long's Apparel

is introducing a new line and a wonderful array of new gabardine casuals... for junior figures... that promise to be ever so popular... especially for golfing and other outdoor activities! They had just been unpacked when Martha viewed them this week... yet hardly a wrinkle marred their neatness. As finely tailored as far more expensive dresses of a similar type, these slip-on casuals come in four new versions of becoming colors... glauc blue, grapefruit, Zuni which is a sand beige with a yellow cast, and Copacabana beige. Buttons extending from collar to hem are concealed beneath a fly-front... and to break the straight lines, they're designed with a convertible neckline, pointed collar, flange shoulders... and the long sleeves are finished with French turn-back cuffs, fastened by gold links... the only trim except for narrow brown belts of simulated reptile. These comfortable and smart gabardines are an exclusive... designed by Terry of California... sizes 8 to 17... and are especially priced at $19.75 at LONG'S... 719 Main.

To be seen again this spring are romantically styled cloaks with full, sweeping hemlines, and shortie coats are being designed with full, rippings collars like the Victorian caping collar ago.

Jewel & Gift Shop is holding a special on hand-made glass miniatures... those quaint little animals and ships... which have been marked down to half price or less. Values formerly to $2.95 now range from 15 cents to $1.50... making it a good opportunity to acquire some inexpensive party prizes or unusual Valentine remembrances. Louise Reinhart has been so exclamatory over the clever Valentines received by Jewel and Gift this year that Martha did some shopping among the greeting cards... so here's one for a February 14th birthday: "I'm either confused... Or kind of stupid... But just who brought you? The stork or cupid!" And an appropriate Valentine's Day message for a shut-in: "A little Valentine to say... It's a shame you're 'on the blink'... And I'll be very blue indeed... Till I hear you're 'in the pink'!" It all "N" Arrows down to this... JEWEL AND GIFT SHOP... at 519 Main... has a Valentine... humorous or serious... for anyone you wish to remember!

The renaissance creams, a gift of science to older women, contain humectants which hold moisture in the skin, giving it a look of freshness, and these are wonderful lubricants, defying cold weather.

Currin's... No one understands every woman's "February complexion problem" and that let-down, slightly dowdy feeling any better than Mmde Helena Rubinstein, famous international beauty authority... and, being a practical person, she's offering a cure... at least for the skin care part of the problem. During the month of February, the House of Rubinstein is offering a special combination package called "Special Dry Skin Treatment"... containing two of the most famous Rubinstein creams which, if used together, can accomplish wonders... for both contain marvelous lubricating and skin-softening qualities. The package consists of regular sizes of Pasturized Face Cream Special, an emollient cleansing cream, usually selling at $1.00 for the three-ounce jar... and rich-textured Novena Night Cream, most effective in combating dryness and tightness, regularly priced at $2.00 for the ounce size. For women who want lovely, translucent skins to go with feminine spring fashions, the Special Dry Skin Treatment is emphatically recommended... or if you're already using these creams, you'll want to take advantage of the special offer of a $3.00 value for $2.00 in effect at CURRIN'S... the main drug store at Ninth and Main... from February 2nd through 28th.

Many of the make-up items we take for granted today were inspired by their need in Hollywood pictures. For instance, eyebrow pencils were developed years ago for the benefit of blonde picture actresses.

has just received some stunning "lady-in-waiting" frocks... creations from distinguished designers... that conform in every way to the smartest fashion standards... a far cry from former ideas when style was supposed to be neglected for a time. In suit types with roomy jackets and adjustable skirt bands, there's a perfect number for spring of a wrinkle-resistant strutter cloth in a flattering shade of aqua, with gay trim detailing across the shoulders. Add a perky straw hat and you're all set! Showing plenty of style is a black moire taffeta, designed with straight, slimming lines... a versatile basic that lends itself beautifully to any number of accessories. There's a goodly choice of one-piece dresses for a mama-to-be... but most striking are the sleek, two-toned rayon jerseys of black and white... or the elegant puffy-sleeve crepes in cinnamon brown or black, combined with rose and blue for color interest. A simple black crepe, plenty nice for the dressiest occasion, is a ruffled choice of one-piece dresses, enhanced by an old-fashioned, buffed yoke of eyelet embroidery. A few early prints are included in this outstanding selection of maternity dresses at LaPOINTE'S... 507 Main... and nearest among a splendid assortment of practical cottons are the tailored casuals of pink or blue bluish linen. Surprisingly, they slip on like a coat and button down the front!

Rickys downstairs store now has an adequate stock of Sunbeam Shavers masters again... first since the holiday sell-out... and right here's a suggestion for a Valentine gift to father... or a February birthday. The Shavermaster... selling for $23.50... is the only razor with its own electric motor... and its superior shaving head is designed for a faster, smoother operation than other types. More new arrivals in the downstairs store of RICKYS JEWELERS... 700 Main... where they look right at home in the Youngstown steel cupboards... are several attractive and budget-priced dinner sets... a Valentine idea for Mom. A 15-piece set for every-day use, brightened by a pastel floral pattern, retails for $19.95... while the most expensive dinnerware ensemble in the selection is only $29.95 for 63 pieces. Of durable pottery, it has a grey rose design against a cream background that would brighten any table... and the set includes half a dozen pieces of handy oven ware.

Pine Street Market Greeted as pleasantly as a familiar face are National Biscuit Company's Famous Chocolate or Ginger Wafers... packaged in the tall, cylindrical tins... absent from grocery shelves since the pre-war years. Not only are they nice for serving as cookies, but can be crushed for sprinkling over desserts. Another shipment of the tinned Hormel Hams has been received... one and a half pound sizes... and they'll probably disappear just as rapidly as the last shipment. These little hams are from choice corn-fed meat that's been given the delicious Hormel cure... and can be served in different ways to suit the occasion. Green Mt. Boy Pure Sap Vermont Maple Syrup is a breakfast delicacy available again in pint bottles... and the dwindling honey supply has been replenished by two kinds... Pure Alfalfa Honey, unstrained... or Pot o' Gold, an amber liquid type.

Speaking of hotcake waffles, a reminder that last week Martha neglected to mention that the Old Manse Cane and Maple Syrups... a brand new item at PINE STREET MARKET... can be had in five- and ten-pound tins, in addition to the pints or quarts... and you'll find it's an extremely tasty syrup for the price!

Ruffled or lace-edged petticoats of organdy, taffeta and faille are going to be whispering and peering from the under edge of suits, play frocks, daytime dresses and evening gowns this season, and you're now appearing in stores here in black or color combinations.

The Candy Jar's display cases are filled with such a complete variety of delectable chocolates that Martha found it quite difficult to choose between such old favorites as Almond or Honeycomb Chips, Pineapple-Walnut or Raspberry Creams, Mint Wafers, Nougat or Cream Caramels... all obtainable in bulk form again. Then, to further complicate the problem of selection, there are all of Roger's chocolate-coated nuts... every kind from pecans to cashews... and a fresh shipment of that heavenly vanilla and walnut fudge from Roger's.

Perhaps you've noticed that perfume remains "alive" on some women much longer than on others. Also, in case you're interested, the principles used in blending perfume and whiskey are highly similar.

Mrs. Cordon Visits After Island Trip

Jack McDonald, sports editor of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin, sent "how's to" Klamath acquaintances and especially the old timers on The Herald and News. Jack did sports and anything else that was necessary at the moment on the old News when it was holed in under where Dick Reeder's is now. He went from here to San Francisco and has made quite a name for himself in sports writing circles. The messages came from the diamond big-wigs who were here for the "hot stove" banquet, as Hale Scarborough termed it, for the organization of baseball.

And if you want to hear a good story, get Dena Backes to tell you about riding the bus from Corvallis to Portland, standing up in the crowded vehicle where she peered off her fur coat and rode for miles with "Willard Hotel - Klamath Falls" in big white letters on the back of her black satin bowling shirt!
