

MIDLAND EMPIRE NEWS

New Pine Creek

Meaning much in the way of satisfaction to the March of Dimes dance committee, headed by Chairman Raymond Fisher, and to the community in general for the appreciable showing made, the benefit dance held last Saturday evening, sponsored by the East Side Grange, turned out quite successfully, considering all the March of Dimes dances that were scheduled in the valley and surrounding communities on the same night. The net proceeds were around $8825 with some minor expenses yet to come out which will leave for both the Oregon and California funds approximately $36 each.

There will be a regular meeting of the East Side Grange this Saturday evening. Potluck supper at 7 o'clock and dancing following the meeting and program.

Jack F. Leahy has purchased the Pat Hallman ranch and moved his family over last Thursday. He traded a band of sheep and his ranch in Klamath county for the local spread.

Leahy is not a stranger in this community, having purchased hay here and fed his sheep at the old Green place for four different years, the last time being in 1942. He plans to go into both dairy and stock work here.

Early Wednesday morning, along with a moderation of near zero nightly temperature to 25 above or over, came a steady downfall of dry powder snow which seemed would continue unabated for hours, thus in nature's around-about way everyone is made happy.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer McLain left last Saturday morning for a two-week visit with relatives in Spokane and Olympia, Wash.

Lee Bernard and family have moved into the Jack Moffitt place and are renovating the premises into a very attractive home.

Kelton Butler has purchased the Emil Buhl place and expects to renovate that place prior to his moving in. In the near future, when the present occupants, Gilbert Andrews and family, have secured another living abode.

Mrs. Delbert Cloud returned to the home ranch after spending several weeks taking care of her daughter, Mrs. Velma Newcombe in Lakeview, who has been recuperating from a major operation. Mr. and Mrs. Cloud went to Medford Monday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Butler motored to Martinez, Calif., last week, returning on Monday with their son, Kenneth, who has been visiting with his sister, Mrs. Joy Mahan.

At the Youth club meeting held recently the group began work in earnest on their play and also discussed the advisability of the group changing from the Youth club name to the Youth Grangers of America. Grangemaster Roy Millap was present and together with Leader

Gladys Cooper, Assistant Leader Amie Cloud and the members present, took part in the discussion. The matter will come up for a vote at the meeting of the group next Tuesday night. If they decide to change the name the group will have to undergo reorganization under supervision of the state grangemaster, or some district supervisor appointed by him. The nearest supervisor is Mrs. Anne Hickman of Merrill, Ore., who, it is most likely, would be appointed to do the reorganization work here.

Cascade

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Caldwell of Portland are now in charge of Moan's commissary at Cascade Summit, replacing Mrs. E. Lilly and the Warren J. Hicks, who are now at Tunnel diner in Oakridge. Caldwell was formerly chef at the Tuxedo Country club at Portland.

After rounding out two months as agent for the Southern Pacific at Cascade Summit depot, Jack Freed took one horrified look in his mirror and caught the first train to Oakridge to have a barber set his ears down. Jack said he was afraid his friends and family in Bend might nickname him "Dan'l Boone" if they had seen his long locks before he had them clipped.

Would be nice to find out how Timberline tames their snowshoe rabbits enough for one to allow itself to be picked up by a stranger and brought into a refreshment palace. Cascade Summit has a profusion of "wabbit tracks" all over its snowy slopes but not a "wabbit" to be found. Little snowshoe prints lead to nowhere if followed to source and the longer trails lead up and down the hills but no rabbits at the end. Last summer one sat and watched two campers eating their meal but scampered away as soon as one camper drifted outside of the camp circle. Wonder if a snowshoe rabbit fur collar would change color from brown to white with the seasons.

Jose Caraveo, long-time employe on Southern Pacific section at Cascade Summit, has returned from a prolonged visit to El Paso, Tex. Illness of his mother necessitated a more lengthy stay than Jose had originally planned. However, his friends in Klamath Falls will be glad to know of his return and that he intends to resume his frequent trips to their city.

"Bud" Clark, caterpillar tractor operator, has been kept busy around the summit. Seems that as soon as Clark has all the snow out of the way, a new storm puts down another layer to be cleared away. The only thing that keeps Bud happy is his new fire-engine Red Croxley which is a familiar sight to local residents and certainly stands out against the white ground.

Bly

A total of $201.50 was collected in Bly for the March of Dimes. Of this amount $141.25 was cleared at the dance held in the school gymnasium Saturday. Pie and coffee were served during the evening. The remaining contributions for the dime fund came from the bottles placed about town.

The liquor store and Bly rooms which have been operated by Mr. and Mrs. Al Cokes for several years changed hands on February 1 and new managers are Mr. and Mrs. Willis Pankey. The Cokes have moved into the Pankey residence.

Mrs. Charles Wingardner, who had major surgery on December 27 at Hillsdale hospital, returned to the hospital February 1 for a second operation, after spending two weeks at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gifford Williams and daughter arrived here January 31 after spending several months with relatives in Arkansas. Williams is employed at Spangler mill here.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Spoor and children of Emmett, Ida, have returned here to work. Spoor is working for Garey and Fouts.

George Carlisle of Westwood, Calif., spent the week-end here visiting his mother-in-law, Mrs. O. G. Protzman.

Bud Patzke of Corvallis, Ore., is working at Spangler's mill. Patzke plans to move his family here as soon as he can locate a house.

Business visitors in Klamath Falls Wednesday were Mrs. August Tikkanen, Mrs. Monte Cline, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McGinnis, Mrs. Jerry Crew and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Patzke.

Mr. and Mrs. Scottie Lower and daughter of Ivory Pine left Monday, February 2, to spend two weeks visiting relatives at Tuttle, Ida.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Samples and children left Wednesday to make their home at Lakeview. Samples has been janitor at the school here for two years.

M. L. Johnson of Klamath Falls was a business visitor here last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hitchcock from Willow Ranch visited here on Saturday.
