BONANZA, Feb. 14:—Word was received this week of the death of Robert L. Goss of Turner, a former resident of Bonanza. Mr. Goss died February 11, after a lengthy illness. He was 72 years of age at the time of his passing. The Goss family operated a hotel and livery stable in Bonanza for many years. Mr. and Mrs. Goss were married at Bonanza on December 21, 1902. Both were members of pioneer families.

About 25 years ago they moved to Turner where they purchased a farm and raised a fine type of green beans and cucumbers. Besides his wife, Sallye Chastain Goss, Mr. Goss is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Shirley Whitman of Pendleton, a son Larry of West Stayton, two grandsons, Darr and Jimmie Goss, and three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Chastain of San Francisco, Mrs. D. B. Reed of Klamath Falls, Mrs. Nora Roberts of Reno and several nieces and nephews. Funeral services were held Saturday from the Stayton chapel.

Oldest Member Up For Election
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—The oldest man in congress is running for re-election at the age of 84. Rep. Doughton (D-N.C.) announced his decision today.

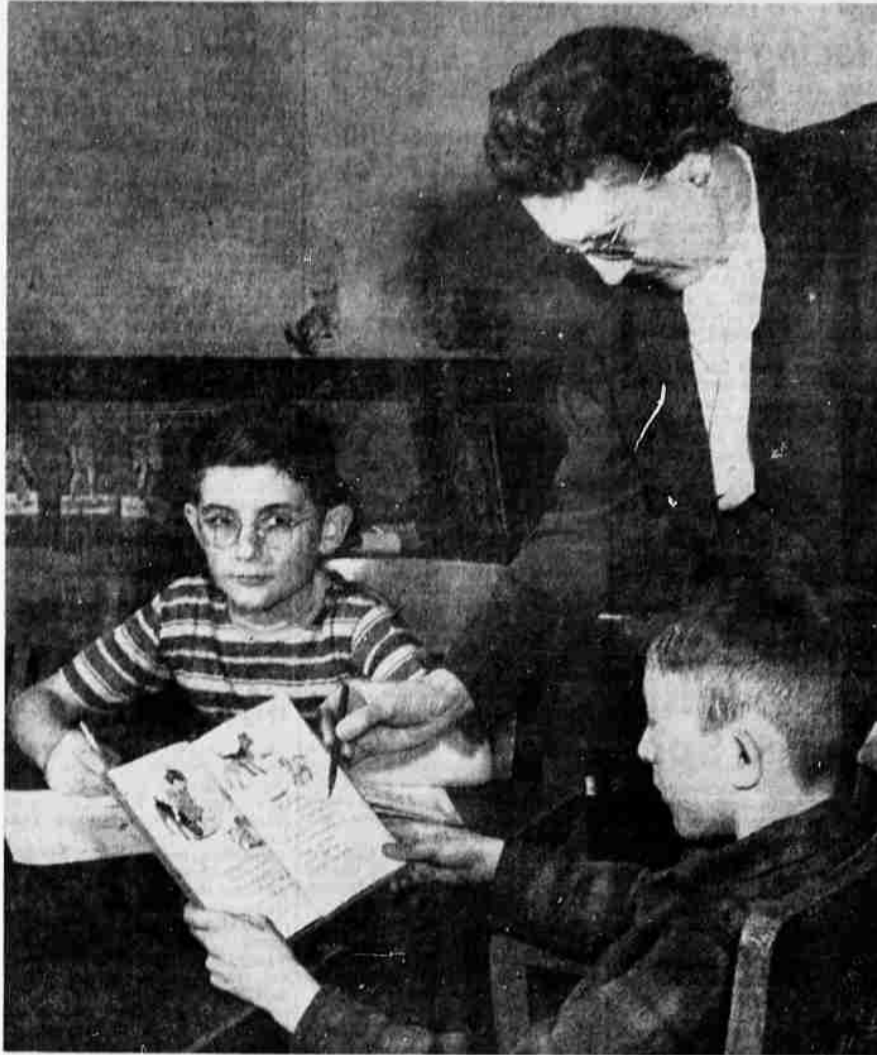

He has represented the ninth North Carolina district for 19 consecutive two-year terms. Doughton said in a statement he had been thinking of retiring, but the folks back home persuaded him not to step aside during these perilous years.

He is the ranking democrat on the house ways and means committee, which writes the tax laws. He was its chairman when his party controlled congress.

Klamath Students Get Boost In Reading

Miss Helen Prince, member of the Klamath Falls public school teaching staff, is aiding Wayne Colvard and Herbert Blakeman (right), in getting over some of the humps in education. These two youngsters have attended schools elsewhere and on enrollment in Klamath Falls Fremont school were given special attention to bring their reading up to requirements set in this system.

Butchers Open Two-Day Confab

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 14 (AP)—A two-day conference of AFL butchers from 11 western states opened here today.

In a preliminary meeting of butchers from Oregon, Washington and California yesterday a demand was heard for a return to a federally financed program of meat inspection.

Delegates said recent congressional economy measures withdrew financial support for federal inspections. Now inspectors must bill packers who use the service, they said.

They urged national union officials to work for a wholly government-controlled and financed program.

Special School Facilities Offered Children Of Basin

Editors Note: This is the second of a series of articles dealing with Klamath Falls schools and written by school people.

By MRS. LENA HACKETT
Director of Special Education
Special educational facilities are offered the school children of Klamath Falls, and particular attention is offered those children who transfer to the local schools and require additional training to bring them up to the standards of the local system. In addition, there are some 102 handicapped children in the city who are now being benefited by special education facilities.

The program embraces five types of students who are capable of profiting by the instruction. The work is carried on by two special trained teachers, Mrs. Elda Fletcher and Helen Prince, with Mrs. Lena Hackett acting as director.

Eight of these students have received home teaching services. Mrs. Lucille Sewell, Hope Samson, Mrs. Freeda Kemmizer, and Lillias Hynd, regular classroom teachers, and Mrs. Nellie Wattenburg have assisted with children who are physically handicapped and cannot attend regular classes.

At least once a year a supervisor from the state department of education visits Klamath Falls. In October Bernice Hughes, supervisor of the visually handicapped, Dr. Leon Lassers, speech pathologist, Mrs. Verna Hogg, supervisor of crippled and low vitality children, and John Taylor from the state school for the deaf, held clinics in cooperation with the public health unit and the special education department.

Three times during the school year a child guidance clinic is held. The psychiatrist is sent from the University of Oregon medical school. The last clinic of the year will be held next March with Dr. Haugen in charge.

Two fancy cakes decorated in the Valentine motif were served to the 17 members present.

An invitation to participate in the St. Patrick's Day celebration in San Francisco on March 14, was turned down by the club due to the horses not being in top condition at the present time. There will probably be about six of the members accompanying their husbands for the event, however, as the Sheriff's posse has accepted an invitation to join the parade.

A program of activities for the ensuing year was tentatively outlined including breakfast rides, a "lost call" search and paper chase.

Committees were appointed to outline one activity for each month and named on the first committee were Mildred Barton, Beth Chase and Elva Kenyon.

Student Body Fee Studied At OVS

OREGON VOCATIONAL SCHOOL, Feb. 14—Student body fees have been under discussion at recent student council meetings at Oregon Vocational school. Latest proposal is for a monthly levy.

The money will be used to purchase athletic equipment and awards, and possibly to finance some free school dances.

A monthly charge of $1.50 was proposed to be incorporated in the regular school tuition, payable for veterans through the veterans administration.

New Check System Set

The adoption of a new special checking account service for customers of the Klamath Falls branch of the United States National bank was announced today by E. H. Thompson, branch manager.

The new system, particularly designed for patrons who need to write only a few checks monthly, requires no minimum balance and involves no monthly service fee.

Thompson explained, "Instead, the customer buys 10 checks for one dollar and uses these special checks at any time, according to individual needs."

Under the new system, any amount opens an account.

According to Thompson, this is not a new experiment but a plan that has operated successfully and has proved popular with the public in large banks throughout the nation.
