'Old Timers' Rule Local Elks Meet

Frock-coated, bearded officers led over 400 Elks gathered at their temple here Thursday night in honoring antiquity by their annual "Old Timers' Night" dinner and lodge meeting which was highlighted by a talk by the president of the Oregon State Elks association, E. J. Hutton.

Hutton's speech reviewed the work of the BPOE and stressed the good accomplished by the national lodge and the members who back youth organizations.

In keeping with the old-time theme, the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America presented their selection of old numbers and a barbershop travelogue.

Seventy-five members who had been Elks for 25 years or more were designated as "oldtimers" by huge buttons handed them as they entered the building and were presented with elk head tie clasps by the officers during the meeting.

The "Old Time" Elks and their years of membership are: Edward P. Geary, 33; F. D. McMillan, 28; G. W. Houston, 39; Burrell Short, 32; J. E. Sissmore, 31; Burge W. Mason, 32; A. F. Glover, 24; M. W. Peace Film Slated Here

"Messenger of Peace," a full-length sound film, is slated for showings in the Klamath area beginning Saturday.

The film, starring John Beal and a Hollywood cast, will be shown at 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m., Saturday at Altamont Junior high school, and at the same times Sunday at Shasta school.

At 7:30 p. m., Monday, the movie will be shown at Fremont school. A small admission charge will be made.

The Lutheran Laymen's league is sponsor of the picture, produced in Hollywood and at a cost of $110,000. The story concerns the tireless, self-sacrificing service of a Christian pastor. The casting and filming were supervised by clergymen and laymen to assure authenticity in every detail.

Everyone is invited.
