Dinner Highlights Annual Public Health Association Program Here Saturday

A full day's schedule, highlighted by an interesting noon meeting and culminating in a dinner and a program, is planned by the Klamath County Public Health Association Saturday.

This is the annual session of the association and interest is high among those who are affiliated with the organization or among groups who have contact throughout the year with the Klamath county public health office. A cordial invitation to all interested to attend any or all meetings has been sent out.

Principal speaker at the 6:30 p. m. dinner tomorrow night at the Willard hotel is Jay E. McCarthy, health education consultant in the California bureau of health education. McCarthy is coming to Klamath Falls as a guest of the association and his topic will be, "Family Relations."

McCarthy has been a member of California's state department of health since 1941. He completed his undergraduate work at the University of Montana and in North Dakota. During the war years, McCarthy successfully conducted a venereal disease educational program among war production workers and military personnel. For the academic year, 1946-47, he attended the school of public health, University of California, where he majored in health education. On completion this year of graduate study he returned to the California state department of public health. He is rated as an exceptionally fine speaker with a full knowledge of his subject.

The dinner meeting will open promptly at 6:30 p. m. with the Rev. Godfrey Matthews giving the invocation. William McKibbin, president of the Klamath County Public Health Association, will give the speech of welcome and this will be followed by business including the election of next year's officers. McCarthy's talk will complete the program.

At 12 o'clock noon Saturday there will be a luncheon arranged in the blue room at the Willard with Mrs. E. A. Geary presiding. Mrs. Saide Orr-Dunbar, known to thousands of Oregonians for her long years of work in the Oregon Tuberculosis and Health association of which she is executive secretary, will speak on "Value of the Program in the County Health Association Development." This talk is of interest to all groups involved in health programs and will tell just what can or should be expected from local health associations.

At 2:30 p. m. the afternoon program will be continued and F. G. Scherer, director of social hygiene education of the Oregon Tuberculosis and Health association, will speak on the topic, "Sex Education in the Home." Again, the Klamath County Health Association urges all interested men and women to attend the meetings, all to be held at the Willard.

Indian Shift Confirmed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Raymond H. Bitney Thursday was named superintendent of the Klamath, Ore., Indian agency, effective March 1.

He succeeds Bert G. Courtright March 1. Courtright is being transferred to a similar post at the Western Shoshone agency at Owyhee, Nev.

Erastus J. Deibel, superintendent of the Western Shoshone agency for the past four years, will become superintendent of the Fort Peck, Mont., Indian agency, replacing Furman Asbury, moving to the bureau of reclamation as an agricultural economist at Wolf Point, Mont.

Bitney will also act as special disbursing agent for the bureau of Indian affairs at the Klamath Agency. He has been with the Indian bureau since 1926.

He formerly was superintendent of the Red Lake, Minn., reservation and has been district forester at Phoenix, Ariz., since July, 1946.

Oscar Chapman, acting secretary of the interior, said Bitney's forestry experience especially qualifies him to handle the large timber holdings of the Klamath, Modoc and Paiute tribes in Oregon, which return more than $1,000,000 a year from timber sales.

Reporters Get Jail

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—The news editor and a reporter for the Newburgh News were fined $100 each and sentenced to ten days in jail today for contempt in refusing to tell an Orange county grand jury where they obtained "numbers" lottery tickets reproduced in the paper.

They paid their fines and immediately were taken to jail.

The news editor, Douglas V. Clarke, 33, and the reporter, Charles L. Leonard, 27, refused to disclose their sources because "it would violate a confidence, and in the newspaper business a confidence is a sacred thing."

Clarke appeared before the grand jury yesterday and Leonard Thursday.

Today they were taken before Supreme Court Justice J. Gordon Flannery. At the suggestion of District Attorney Stanley B. Johnson the transcript of their testimony was read. Judge Flannery called on each to answer the question as to the source of the tickets, and each refused.

The former Prince of Wales introduced and made popular suede shoes for men.

Heavyweight

Nurse Keller in Beth El hospital, Brooklyn, checks weight of 13 pound 11-ounce baby girl born to 27-year-old Mrs. Jacob Epstein. Obstetricians said they believed the infant to be the largest ever delivered in the New York metropolitan area.

Drunk Draws Down 30-Day Sentence

Delbert Darril Wahl, 31, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail Thursday morning by Justice of the Peace J. A. Mahoney on a plea of guilty to a drunk charge.

Wahl was arrested yesterday afternoon at 4338 Arthur by state police on complaint of the man's family. He is an interdicted person, having had his right to buy liquor in Oregon revoked by the state liquor control commission.

Wahl said he bought the liquor he consumed yesterday at Tulelake.

Flood Holds Up Milking Time

PULLMAN, Wash., Feb. 27 (AP)—A herd of cows which stood in two feet of water for 26 hours finally got milked last night.

The Koppel dairy in Pullman said today milkers were kept out of the dairy barn until flood waters here receded.

However, the milk still can't be delivered to customers. The dairy still is isolated by the flood.

Kennedy Estate Filed

On file today at the courthouse is a petition for probate of the estate of Prince Murtis Kennedy, longtime Klamath resident, who died here February 22 at the age of 63. Tentative value of the estate is $11,000.

Kennedy left a will dated January 30, 1948, naming his son, Bob M. Kennedy, executor, and bequeathing his property to his son and sister-in-law, Mrs. Della M. Schroeder.

The estate of Mattie J. Nichols, who died intestate in Portland, February 5, is estimated at $7500 worth of property in Klamath county, according to probate filings. J. H. Carnahan is attorney for the petitioner, Mrs. Nichols' daughter, Mrs. Artie Nichols Freese of Portland.

Also filed here is a petition for probate of a $7000 estate in Klamath county left by Mrs. Bertha M. Geiger, who died February 14. The estate includes a house at 1503 Upham. The petition was filed by a son, Wilford Laverne Geiger, with J. C. O'Neill as his attorney.

Seattle Man Heads Poultry Association

SEATTLE, Feb. 27 (AP)—A Seattle produce man, Thad R. Perry, today heads the Pacific States Butter, Egg, Cheese and Poultry association. He was elected Tuesday to succeed George R. Lawson of the Tillamook, Ore., County Creamery association.
