Social Meet

Catholic Daughters of America held a social meeting in the parish hall Monday evening, February 23, at 8 o'clock. Mildred Seavey, chairman for the evening, introduced Mrs. Ait Reinhart who gave a talk on "The Romance of Old Silver."

"Silverware was found as far back as Bible times and through the Greek and Roman periods, but sterling really began with the reign of King John in England in the 16th century, the speaker said. The first pieces made were chiefly church vessels. There is an old saying concerning "a child born with a silver spoon in his mouth" and Mrs. Reinhart said it derives from the fact that in those days, because of the lack of banks, coins were melted up and made into spoons and a family's wealth was judged by the number of silver spoons it owned. Another interesting fact about silver is that its decorations followed the interior and exterior architecture of its time, she added.

Mildred Seavey, assisted by Marie Nidorf, Sohia Bullaway, Jenet Motz, Mabel Brockton, Helen Wagner and Rita Case served refreshments.

The next meeting, planned for March 4, will be a potluck luncheon at 12:30 at the home of Mrs. Gally Wright of 707 Washington.

Eagles Club

The Lady Eagles club met at the home of Gladys Halverson, 5437 Cottage, Thursday evening, February 19. Seven members and two guests were present. Pinochle was played later in the evening.

The next meeting, planned for March 4, will be a potluck luncheon at 12:30 at the home of Mrs. Gally Wright of 707 Washington.

A potluck supper will precede the regular Eagles auxiliary meeting Tuesday, March 2. The business meeting and entertainment will follow.
