Ewauna High Bidder For Indian Logs

Ewauna Box company of Klamath Falls was high bidder Tuesday afternoon for approximately 10,000,000 feet of virgin Ponderosa pine timber on the Klamath Indian reservation, offering $25 a thousand feet for the stumpage.

Bids were opened at 2 p. m. at Klamath Agency, Reese Taylor, Agency forester, said that the sale would not be official until the bids were reviewed by the regional forestry office in Portland.

Ewauna's bid was $25 for pine, $10 for Douglas fir and cedar, $4.60 for other saw species. Second high was the Ivory Pine company at $22.50 for pine, $12 and $5.50; Modoc Lumber company's bid at $20.85, $10 and $4.60 was third and the Finney Logging company's $20.75, $10 and $4.60 was fourth. Only four sealed bids were submitted.

The timber lies on about 1800 acres of tribal land just south of Puego mountain. It is almost 100 per cent Ponderosa but the other bids were put in to take care of any stray trees of other species.

Ewauna logged in the immediate area of this Kanott unit during the war for the Kesterson Lumber company and has roads right through the Kanott unit. The company also has a rail head about six miles west of the stand.

The $25 bid is a high price for timber stumpage, but a sale last summer on the reservation went for the record of $27.76.

No Diapers For Junior On Sunday--!

BOSTON, March 3 (AP)—The Massachusetts senate has rejected a proposal allowing diaper services to make emergency deliveries on Sundays.

Even the strange alliance of two bachelors and a father of twins couldn't save the measure.

Sen. Philip G. Bowker, a bachelor, said yesterday he was all wrapped up in the subject and didn't intend to "pin anything on anybody."

"But it's time for a change," he added. "This measure," Bowker said, "will provide relief for the little folks."

Waving a baby doll and a diaper, another bachelor, Sen. Charles W. Olson, seconded Bowker's remarks.

The opposition, trading puns with the opponents, prevailed. Senator Sumner Greenleaf Whittier, a member of the same family as the poet, Whittier, listened to his colleagues' arguments for emergency diaper service and commented, "Whatever has been said here goes double for me." Whittier is the father of twins.

British Troops Support Jews

JERUSALEM, March 3 (AP)—British troops battled beside Jews Tuesday against Arab snipers dug in on hillsides commanding the Jerusalem-Jaffa road, a Jewish agency source said.

The British vowed last night to use their weapons henceforth, "impartially against whichever side is firing."

The informant said both British police and Tommies moved into the area, about 12 miles outside Jerusalem.

A large-scale battle appeared to be under way. Heavy automatic weapons and grenades were heard, and the Jews were believed to be bringing up mortars.

The British have threatened to use weapons more powerful than those available either to Jews or Arabs to stem the bloody fighting which has raged in Palestine ever since the United Nations decision to partition the Holy Land was announced in November.

The new battle is near a point where the Jerusalem-Jaffa road leaves the Judean hills and enters the plains. A three-mile stretch of road has been impassable for weeks because of sniping.

No casualty reports were immediately available.

Cupid Champ For February

There were 20 marriage licenses issued by the county clerk here during February and 18 divorce decrees granted in circuit court. That's a slight change in the marital picture from January when only 16 marriages were licensed and 17 divorces granted.

During February 29 suits for divorce or annulment were instituted and 25 of them cited cruel and inhuman treatment as the grounds. Three others claimed desertion and the annulment petition was based on fraudulent marriage.

Wives filed 18 of the 29 petitions, husbands 11. The 18 divorces were split, 11 going to wives.

Quake May Have Hit Alaska Area
CLEVELAND, March 3 (AP)—A "strong" earthquake about 5000 miles to the northwest was recorded today on the seismograph at John Carroll university.

Rev. Henry F. Birkenbauer, director of the observatory, said it was possible the tremor occurred in Kamchatka in the vicinity of Alaska. The first wave was registered at 1:30:15 a. m. (PST) and a second wave at 1:39:49 a. m. Shocks lasted for about two hours.

Nearly 70 per cent, or about two-thirds of the weight of the animal body consists of water.

WHY WE SAY

This name for a male garment originated from the French "trouser"—meaning to truss or girt. The Duke of Wellington was among the first to wear trousers (1814). Before the 18th century, men wore breeches and silk stockings.

Wocus
Five-year-old Mike McClurg played host to 13 of his little friends and neighbors on St. Valentine's Day. Games suitable for children were played and Mike's mother, Mrs. Archie McClurg, served refreshments to the gay little group. Carol Mills and Nancy Orrell won prizes for having played the games best. This was young Mike's first party, and he was proud to have played host to the following, James and Ted Veatch, Peggy Jo Buck, Zane, Lynn and Reed Zirkle, Larry Ash, James and Vic Ivie and Nancy Orrell, Barbara Crapo, Cliff, and Carol Mills of Klamath Falls were among those invited.

A big ham, the guest prize given away at the recent PTA carnival at Pelican school, was received by Goldie McClurg.

Jessie Totten reported one of her saddle horses broke a leg. Neighbors passing by where the horse was being pastured said they thought the mishap took place when other horses became playful and started running and kicking up their heels and a "King," the ill-fated horse, was unable to get out of the way of another horse's blow to his right hind leg, which broke it just above the fetlock. "King" will be remembered by many Wocus children who had the pleasure of riding him last summer. He was brought to this community by George Reagan, who purchased him when he was a very young colt five years ago.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Don Veatch were confined to their home for several days, due to illness, but are reported on the way to recovery and will soon be back in school.

Peggy Jo and Donna Jean, daughter of the Paul Bucks, are recovering nicely from a siege of sickness which put them to bed for several days. The little girls ran high temperatures and were under the doctor's care, but according to Mrs. Bucks they are out of danger now.

Fred Morton, who recently underwent major surgery at the Hillside hospital, is up and around again and is able to walk enough to help regain his strength.

A birthday "surprise" party honoring Frank Hurd was given at his home by Mrs. Hurd Thursday, February 19. To greet him when he arrived home late from work were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGehey, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lister, Mr. and Mrs. Vic Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Isensee and two children, Donald and Patricia, all from Klamath Falls, Jessie Totten and Mrs. Hurd. A buffet supper was served and after supper a game of "Identify the picture" from ads taken from current magazines was played, and Eddie Isensee won the prize by having the most correct answers. Jessie won the consolation prize.

Mrs. James Helm, who suffered severe injuries to her back and hip last Monday when she fell from the top step of her basement stairs, is reported doing nicely at Hillside hospital and is expected home soon. Helm, on learning of his wife's accident, suffered nervous shock and was unable to return to work for a week. He was cared for by Mrs. Fred Morton, a former nurse, in the Morton home. While Helm was away from home his house was broken into and several dollars taken by the thief. Entrance to the house was gained by using a pass key, Helm said. Dresser drawers were pilfered and the contents were strewn all over the bedroom floor. Money was all the intruder seemed to want, as nothing else was missing.

A week's vacation trip was taken by the Frank Hurds last week and the time spent with Hurd's aged aunts at Boise, Ida. Frank had not seen his aunts for over 31 years. While there the Hurds visited Boise's capitol and on Washington's birthday saw the life-size statue of George Washington on his horse which was carved from a solid piece of wood. It was February 22, 1865, when Charles L. Ostner, native of Germany, agreed to carve the statue of Washington on horseback from a certain yellow pine that grew on Alder creek. It took the sculptor four years to complete the job. Ostner's son, Albert, held a pitch pine torch for his father to work by and the piece was done at night. Ostner presented the statue to the Idaho territory January 8, 1869. We mention seeing this work of art because it is in keeping with the anniversary of the "Father of Our Country" on February 22.

The weather was warmer in Boise and Eastern Oregon and the farmers were planting peas and lettuce. The large sugar refinery at Nyssa, Ore. is working day and night and huge piles of sugar beets, last year's crop, are waiting to be turned into the once-rationed table commodity. We saw hundreds of head of Hereford cattle on the ranges between Burns and Vale that appeared to be in excellent condition for marketing.

Mrs. F. E. McGee is at Fort Ord, Calif., where she is waiting to have X-rays taken of a bad ankle. She sprained her ankle over two years ago, and recently it has pained her so much she couldn't sleep nights. Friends of Roy Fenning will be glad to know he is able to work after having to remain home for nearly two years with an injured back received while working as a green chain operator in a local mill. Fenning is working as an oiler on the night shift at the Klamath Lake Moulding company.

F. E. "Pop" McGee is working as chief electrician at Klamath Lake Moulding company. McGee closed his own mill off Greensprings highway this winter when the weather became too bad to operate.

Jerry Short is seen frequently flying over Wocus in his recently purchased airplane. Jerry is trying for enough hours in the air to obtain his pilot's license. Happy landing, Jerry!

Ferry Tie-Up Goes Into Third Day

By The Associated Press
Puget Sound's crippling transportation paralysis went into its third day with state and Puget Sound Navigation company officials matching offer with offer.

Capt. Alex M. Peabody, company president, said the state must reply to his proposal for resumption of ferry service before he can answer an expected "proposition" for sale of eight company ferries.

Peabody offered yesterday to resume intrastate operations at rates 30 per cent above the temporary 30 per cent increase in effect until service was discontinued Sunday midnight.

Governor's Plan
At the same time, Governor Wallgren disclosed that the state's plan to end the three-day-old "lay-up" included an approach to the company on a price for eight of its vessels. This, he said, would be done today.

Should the vessels not be obtainable at a "reasonable" figure, he said, condemnation proceedings would be undertaken.

Earlier, officials said the state was without power to condemn the ferry lines. Counties do have that authority, however.

Following a meeting with Governor Wallgren and the toll bridge authority yesterday, commissioners of King, Snohomish, Kitsap, Skagit, Island and Jefferson counties said they had made no decision on possible condemnation action pending company reaction to the state's purchase offer.

The company offer to resume its intrastate operations brought critical comment from Governor Wallgren. He said the proposal would "put us right back where we started—in fact we would be 39 per cent worse off."

Peacetime Ain't No Cinch, Bud!

GASTONIA, N. C., March 3 (AP)—Army combat veteran Albert McGinnis says civilian life has its hardships, too.

An angry bull took a belligerent stance in the middle of the Gastonia-Belmont road yesterday and wouldn't let McGinnis drive by in his laundry truck. The brute rushed into the truck, butted the front wheels into the air, then eased the vehicle, with McGinnis inside, into a ditch.

Employees of Belmont Abbey college, where the animal is owned, drove the bull off with sticks and an axe. Then civilian combat veteran McGinnis emerged unhurt.

Army To Change Shoe Pattern

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—The army today sounded "at ease" for little toes.

It said future service shoes and combat boots will have 1/4 inch more ceiling room for these digits. And as an added feature the soles will be flattened to give "better traction."

To do this, the army is changing the last on which its footwear is made. The last dates back to 1912 when the late Brig. Gen. Edward L. Munson invented the form that bears his name.

Now after two wars the army has decided a change is in order to furnish "improved foot health"—and, incidentally, to make the shoes last longer.
