

Herald and News

FRANK JENKINS Editor MALCOLM EPLEY Managing Editor

Entered as second class matter at the postoffice of Klamath Falls, Ore., on August 20, 1904, under act of Congress, March 3, 1879.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Associated Press is entitled exclusively to the use for publication of all the local news printed in this newspaper, as well as all AP news.

Today's Roundup

JACKSON county's active Red Cross campaigners have gotten the jump on the Klamath organization in their contest to see which reaches its goal first. The last score we heard was: Jackson, 22 per cent; Klamath, 10 per cent. Not so good, but the Klamath campaigners are now getting in some groundwork that ought to start paying off in a few days.

Red Cross And Chest THERE appears to be some honest misunderstanding about the Red Cross and the Community Chest. The comment has been reported to this department that there was not to be a Red Cross drive—or any other fund drive here—because of the success of the Community Chest campaign.

There was never any such misrepresentation of the Community Chest. The Chest beneficiary organizations were carefully listed in Chest publicity, and it was pointed out that the Chest campaign replaced separate campaigns for those particular organizations.

Thus, the Chest went a long way in reducing the number of financial drives carried on in this community. It could not eliminate them all. One major drive that was definitely excepted from the Chest, and that most people must have realized would be forthcoming, was the Red Cross effort. We do not believe anyone gave so generously to the Community Chest that he cannot spare a little more for this worthy purpose.

If the male adults of the county would all give the price of just one bottle of whiskey, it would all be over.

US 97 Association UP at Moro in Sherman county, representatives of communities along US highway 97 will meet Monday to form a US 97 association. Klamath, of course, will be represented there. It is the largest community on US 97 in Oregon, and US 97 is of major economic importance to the Klamath county.

US 97 has its southern terminus at Weed, Calif., where it joins US 99. It runs north through Oregon and Washington to the Canadian border near Orville, Wash. Yakima and Wenatchee are major Washington cities on this north-south federal highway. Coordinated action by the towns and cities along US 97 should be effective in bringing about its further development and increased attention to its value to the motoring public.

Klamath's interests, incidentally, are not confined to US 97 among north-south federal highways of the region. US 99 is of direct importance to us north of Goshen, Ore., and south of Weed, Calif., where it becomes part of the major route from Northwestern points to California through here. US 99—the Three Flags highway through Lakeview and Alturas—is of importance to us, not only because it serves the welfare of these most friendly neighbors, but because it is part of the route through here to Reno and to Southern California points that are growing in significance.

Klamath's attitude toward highway development is therefore necessarily broad and regional, and we have an interest in the success of such groups as the Pacific Highway association and the Three Flags Highway association. That does not, of course, hinder our participation in a proposed US 97 organization. Intelligent people have long since realized that the development of the entire region, including alternate highway routes, is good for everybody.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S chances of election are supposed to be nil; therefore, the democrats think in terms either of replacing him at the convention as a capitulation to Henry Wallace or of letting the election go by default to make possible a party housecleaning.

Of course, it is too early to say that Truman's election chances are nil. All sorts of things can happen to pull him out of the doldrums. The republicans are not too smart in their political manipulations and a world situation might arise to alter the atmosphere. The overconfidence of the republicans may be helpful to the democrats.

This much can be said: Truman misunderstood his role and lost his greatest advantage. To the public, he had never been a master mind. He was regarded as a gentle, friendly, kindly, decent citizen, utterly unprepared to take over the complicated mazes that Roosevelt had engineered over a 13-year period. The public was extraordinarily sympathetic; they liked the man and his family.

Truman should have set himself to complete Roosevelt's unfinished term and that's all. He should have called in the ablest men in the country, without regard to party, to provide a national government of the highest caliber to advise and guide him through that Roosevelt maze. Instead he surrounded himself with mediocre personal cronies who for ineptitude, misunderstanding and just plain, downright dumbness have been unequalled in American history.

Roosevelt Trick WHEN he tried the Roosevelt trick, so ably described in Jim Farley's book of balancing one element against another, one individual against another, it takes a Talleyrand or a Roosevelt to do that successfully. Mr. Truman lacks the cynicism, the natural capacity for falsehood, the joy of trickiness to be an adept at that art. He inevitably failed. The attempt to balance James Byrnes and Henry Wallace lost him both Byrnes and Wallace; the attempt to please the radicals of the northern big cities and to hold the southern democrats in line smashed the new deal amalgam which Roosevelt had so painstakingly built molecule upon molecule.

So Mr. Truman is left with few friends. The left wing of the new deal is with Wallace; the solid south is in a political fury. Only those democrats who have no other place to go stand by Truman; they and the labor leaders who are distressed that the Taft-Hartley bill is working so well. It is little enough to have left of the amalgam that gave Roosevelt four terms, and it ought to serve the republicans well, if they make no mistakes.

But the republicans are divided between men of principle and men of opportunity. And there is no gainsaying that the opportunists may not come out on top with a miserable "me too" campaign that might even elect Truman. "Me too" has been a curse since 1932.

As it now stands, these are the republican candidates: Taft, Dewey, Vandenberg, Martin, Stassen and MacArthur. Although the contest still remains between Taft and Dewey in a see-saw of popularity among party leaders who are likely to be the delegates, the others are hard at work placing banana peels under the feet of each candidate. If all the ill-will engendered by Stassen's invasion of Ohio could work over into a general election, even Truman could defeat the republicans.

This is a free country and anybody is free to attempt to become president of the United States. Never have the republicans been so laden down with candidates, each of whom describes his opponents as impossible. They sort of cancel each other out. The MacArthur boom has taken on seriousness with startling suddenness, since the Hearst newspapers have come to his support. It is doubtful, however, that, with all his talents, General MacArthur can make the run from distant Tokyo.

For a convention is not an election. The people have nothing to say about a convention. It is a politician's paradise, where he can work as he chooses. For instance, New York state's delegation will be solidly for Dewey until Herbert Brownell releases the delegation, if ever. That means that this huge delegation will have no MacArthur votes—nor Stassen nor Vandenberg votes—unless Dewey wants it that way—which he won't.

SIDE GLANCES

"George doesn't worry about a thing—the family, politics, inflation or Russia! I'm trying to get him to see a psychiatrist and have the condition corrected!"

STATIC

By HALE SCARBROUGH

With Joe Stalin and his well-lubricated communist organization gobbling up small countries faster than our congressmen can think up stumbling blocks to lay in front of the Marshall recovery plan, bugged Eddie Cantor, the agilest NBC comedian, has scheduled an open letter entitled "Are You Listening Joe?" for his next Thursday night airing.

This 15-minute musical drama is supposed to take the form of a "political oratorio," whatever that is.

gist of the matter is a plea by Cantor to Stalin for greater understanding between the United States and Russia.

There are, at last count, 15 candidates for sheriff, four for commissioner, five or six for legislature, a couple for state senate and more for various other electoral jobs of Klamath county and this district.

When it comes to locating radio time for them all, our two stations are going to really be in a predicament, unless they choose up sides, cast property to the winds and slug it out in a political battle.

Then the listeners will be in a predicament.

In the pile of stolen articles recovered from three young men—who are now in the county jail for burglary—was a case of Shredded Ralston breakfast food. I suppose the three youngsters can now be called Ralston Straightshooters.

I'm a fiend for detective mysteries on the radio, although I know they'll undoubtedly cause me to become a 30-year-old juvenile delinquent, and want to put in a good word for "Box 13" which appears Thursday night on KPJI.

It's the best one out since Pat Novak went off the air, apparently the hero. Alan Ladd of movie fame is the foreer of "Box 13" and plays the muscular part of a writer who advertises for adventure. The adventure always seems to come in the form of a beautiful blonde.

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Lt. General Albert C. Wedemeyer, expert on China, is attracting widespread attention by his advocacy of military help to that stricken country in its fight against communism.

And the general doesn't restrict to China his proposal for military aid to check the red tide. Testifying before the foreign affairs committee of the house of representatives, he declared the belief that "we should give military aid to all countries and all peoples whose policies and economic structures are compatible with our own and who are striving against totalitarian doctrines."

Wedemeyer takes the position that dollars alone won't stop the spread of communism anywhere, but that economic assistance should be backed by military support. He asserts bluntly that "we are going to pay with blood" if the United States doesn't take proper steps to block the expansion of communism.

General Wedemeyer was called before the house committee in connection with the administration proposal of $570,000,000 aid for China without military assistance. His views were sought because of his wide experience in China. He was at one time chief of staff to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and last summer was sent to China by President Truman to make a special survey of the situation. His report was so searching that it has been a top-drawer secret ever since.

In advocating military support abroad the general explained that he was not talking about military participation. He said military aid meant sending competent officers to advise in the use of weapons where a country was given economic aid. He doesn't believe military participation is necessary at this time.

Dealing specifically with China, the general said he didn't think he would recommend the monetary aid proposed unless there were military help to protect it. That is an appraisal which this column certainly won't try to controvert, having previously expressed the view that a mere $570,000,000 in itself wouldn't be worth a tinker's dam, or words to that effect.

U. S. Backing Wedemeyer's call for military aid to protect the monetary help has an interesting counterpart in the five-nation conference at Brussels, as I mentioned in yesterday's column. Britain, France, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg are considering a pact which they hope would extend into a union of all Western Europe. They figure that the absolute essential for success of such a union is a military alliance which would give them the backing of the United States.

So far as China is concerned she is in a state of chaos politically, economically and militarily. Little worthwhile can be achieved politically or economically until the military situation is ironed out.

The government needs not only material help but, as Wedemeyer points out, the aid of competent military advisers. Economic aid alone "is a question of improving areas and then having opposing forces take them over. That is going on."

The general made it clear that

Telling The Editor

Letters printed here must not be longer than 100 words, must be written legibly on ONE SIDE of the paper, and must be signed by the correct NAME AND ADDRESS of the writer. Contributions following these rules are warmly welcomed.

ON LABOR QUESTION KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (To the Editor)—The editorial comment by Mac Epley in a recent issue warrants a reply from labor.

The subject would require many pages of facts, statistics and elaboration to properly and intelligently cover. I do not seek to do this, but merely to get a few of the more important facts out in defense of labor.

The quotation "We wouldn't mind authorizing this job even at current high costs, if we had any assurance we would get value received for the money put out" implies that labor is a determining, if not a sole factor in high costs. This is an unjust and erroneous implication.

To confine our analysis to the local situation, let me say that if materials, land prices, freight rates and other factors were as stable as labor rates, costs would be much lower.

In November, 1947, the Klamath Falls Building Trades council and the Local Contractors Association (A.B.C. & E.) reached an agreement covering all local crafts for wages and conditions for the entire year of 1948.

Labor gambled that the cost of living would not increase beyond the 12 1/2 cents per hour general increase in rates before that time, yet the bureau of labor statistics shows that the cost of living rose considerably more than this percentage. (Food prices declined 4 to 4 per cent, but this drop in foods would mean a drop of less than 2 per cent in living costs while other prices, including rents and steel continue to rise.)

I am only trying to show by these figures that labor rates are a contributing cost factor as stable, at least to a far greater extent than all or any of the other factors. Therefore labor should be exonerated of any blame for increasing an unstable price.

Now, as to labor output, or efficiency, let us remember that following the end of the war 217,000 men were discharged in Oregon, most of them going into industry for the first time in their lives and having to learn how to produce. Naturally they were not efficient, but now they have learned and production is on the increase.

In the recent convention of 1300 delegates to the associated general contractors meeting in Dallas, Tex., optimism was expressed over the increased productivity of labor. From labor's standpoint, anything optimistic on the subject from this group is little short of miraculous. (We are highly flattered, although it doesn't reflect on our pay checks.) This statement is no reflection on the local contractors or their association.

Finally, it is not labor that is making costs prohibitive; money inflation is the root cause and unless the government stops the creation of excess money, and thus stops the gradual bleeding away of workers' buying power there will be no stable economy.

Organized labor, in all branches is striving for greater efficiency and increased production but is being attacked for everything from communism to inflation and is also shackled with the Taft-Hartley act.

Under these adverse conditions it is a wonder to me that labor can maintain a healthy attitude and a willingness to engage in cooperative effort with employers toward the end that greater monuments to the skill and ingenuity of trained men will continue to rise and become a benefit to society.

Labor wants a bigger building and construction program; labor wants more homes, factories and industrial buildings and also more credit for its efforts and less condemnation for the existence of unsatisfactory and unwholesome conditions beyond its control. JOE WILLIAMS, Central Labor Temple.

The Gallup Poll

Here's How Poll Rates Wedded Bliss

PRINCETON, N. J., March 5—What is the most important quality needed in a good wife? Faithfulness? Devotion? Sex appeal? The average American man—single or married—says it's none of these. He wants his wife to possess above everything else the ability to create pleasant surroundings in his home and to be a neat housekeeper and above average talents in the kitchen.

What do American women think is the most important quality a husband should have? Intelligence? Attractiveness? Kindness? These are important, no doubt, but the average woman gives number one priority to "being an accomplished breadwinner, providing a good living for the family."

These "American" sidelights are revealed in a survey of thousands of married people and single men and women in every section of the country. Field reporters for the Institute asked these representative people:

What would you say is the most important quality in a good husband (wife)?

These are important, no doubt, but the average woman gives number one priority to "being an accomplished breadwinner, providing a good living for the family."

These "American" sidelights are revealed in a survey of thousands of married people and single men and women in every section of the country. Field reporters for the Institute asked these representative people:

What would you say is the most important quality in a good husband (wife)?

These are important, no doubt, but the average woman gives number one priority to "being an accomplished breadwinner, providing a good living for the family."

These "American" sidelights are revealed in a survey of thousands of married people and single men and women in every section of the country. Field reporters for the Institute asked these representative people:

What would you say is the most important quality in a good husband (wife)?

These are important, no doubt, but the average woman gives number one priority to "being an accomplished breadwinner, providing a good living for the family."

These "American" sidelights are revealed in a survey of thousands of married people and single men and women in every section of the country. Field reporters for the Institute asked these representative people:

What would you say is the most important quality in a good husband (wife)?

These are important, no doubt, but the average woman gives number one priority to "being an accomplished breadwinner, providing a good living for the family."

These "American" sidelights are revealed in a survey of thousands of married people and single men and women in every section of the country. Field reporters for the Institute asked these representative people:

What would you say is the most important quality in a good husband (wife)?

These are important, no doubt, but the average woman gives number one priority to "being an accomplished breadwinner, providing a good living for the family."

Table with 2 columns: Quality, Percentage. Includes Faithfulness, Agreeable, etc.

Table with 2 columns: Quality, Percentage. Includes Good homemaker, Good mother, etc.

Table with 2 columns: Quality, Percentage. Includes Good provider, Faithfulness, etc.

Table with 2 columns: Quality, Percentage. Includes Kindness, Consideration, etc.

Table with 2 columns: Quality, Percentage. Includes Good father, Intelligence, etc.

*Adds to more than 100 per cent since some gave more than one answer.

Among women the miscellaneous answers include wealth, faith in self and the future, and neatness. Men listed health, respect, not too fat, and "someone who will play second fiddle."

Two years ago an Institute poll revealed the chief faults of husbands and wives. Men placed poor housemaking third in the list of wives' faults, just below nagging and extravagance. Lack of interest in the home was down in seventh place among women's criticisms of husbands, with drinking and thoughtlessness at the top.

Stewart-Lenox To Raise Cash For Firewagon

Sixty property owners in the Stewart-Lenox addition decided at a meeting in the Community church Friday evening to try and raise money for a fire truck.

They will raise funds by local subscription to equip a truck for fire fighting for the protection of community residents. Jack Nixon was elected chairman.

Harold Schieferstein was named secretary for the group and Hans Hanson, treasurer. Keith Ambrose, Klamath Falls fire chief, spoke on fire protection in the home and gave a number of helpful suggestions regarding equipment.

Another meeting is scheduled to be called soon, at which time plans for raising funds will be announced.

Courthouse Records

- Marriage Licenses: CAVIN-JONES, Kenneth Allen... YARBROUGH-RICHARDSON, Carl C... Complaints Filed: MARY J. FRITZ... ROBERT PEMBERTON McSWAIN...

SAVE TIME on PEN REPAIRS! FACTORY AUTHORIZED All Leading Makes

FACTORY AUTHORIZED All Leading Makes

CAMEO SHOP 737 Main

DRAMA-LOVERS! Dorothy McGuire in "Anna Christie"

THEATRE GUILD ON THE AIR NOW 6:30 P. M. EVERY SUNDAY AT 6:30 P. M. SUNDAY DIAL KFLW 1450

"HI BOYS & GIRLS" MEET UNCLE WIN JOHNSON

FIRST COVENANT CHURCH 823 Walnut St.

Foreign Slides Slated At Keno

An interesting afternoon is in store for families of Keno Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium when Jean Pound will speak and show slides.

Miss Pound of the Oriental Missionary society has spent years as a missionary in the Orient, has traveled in Mexico and South America as well as through the United States. She will show slides of the people and customs in other countries and tell of her experiences among them.

This program is open to anyone interested, sponsored by the Keno community and families are urged to bring their children for an interesting afternoon.

Surprise Valley Gets Phone Hook-Up ALTURAS, March 6—Phone service from Surprise valley to the outside world is now possible with the completion of the installation of dial phones throughout the valley. The connection with Alturas was made this week.

Over 275 phones were installed with an approximate cost of $150,000. Two circuits are now in operation and a third will be added when the weather permits the placing of poles.

Eagleview, one of the farming communities in the valley with a population of about 150, registered 2000 calls during the first 24 hours the system was in operation.

Classified Ads Bring Real Results! PUMICE TILE For Every Building Need

Second Annual Missionary Convention

THE ORIENTAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY AT THE Pilgrim Holiness Church 2301 WANTLAND March 5-7 — 7:45 p. m. MISS JEAN POUND, SPEAKER

THE ORIENTAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY AT THE Pilgrim Holiness Church 2301 WANTLAND March 5-7 — 7:45 p. m. MISS JEAN POUND, SPEAKER

THE ORIENTAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY AT THE Pilgrim Holiness Church 2301 WANTLAND March 5-7 — 7:45 p. m. MISS JEAN POUND, SPEAKER

THE ORIENTAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY AT THE Pilgrim Holiness Church 2301 WANTLAND March 5-7 — 7:45 p. m. MISS JEAN POUND, SPEAKER

THE ORIENTAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY AT THE Pilgrim Holiness Church 2301 WANTLAND March 5-7 — 7:45 p. m. MISS JEAN POUND, SPEAKER

THE ORIENTAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY AT THE Pilgrim Holiness Church 2301 WANTLAND March 5-7 — 7:45 p. m. MISS JEAN POUND, SPEAKER

THE ORIENTAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY AT THE Pilgrim Holiness Church 2301 WANTLAND March 5-7 — 7:45 p. m. MISS JEAN POUND, SPEAKER

RADIO PROGRAMS

- SATURDAY EVE., MARCH 6: 6:00 Sports Lineup, 6:30 HomeTown News, 7:00 World News Summary, 7:30 Jumps! Jacks, 8:00 The Lone Ranger, 8:30 Challenge of Yukon, 9:00 Gangbusters, 9:15 Clarinet Hotel Orch. ABC, 9:30 Hard Hat Melodies, 10:00 Freddy Martin Orch. ABC, 10:15 11:00 News Summary, 11:15 11:30 Teletalk, 11:45 12:00 News Summary, 12:15 12:30 Fine Arts Quartet ABC, 12:45 1:00 Organ Moos, 1:15 1:30 Breakfast Edition News, 1:45 2:00 Church in the Wildwood, 2:15 2:30 Bible Auditorium of Air, 2:45 3:00 Calvary Echoes, 3:15 3:30 Foreign Reporters ABC, 3:45 4:00 Editor at Home ABC, 4:15 4:30 National Yester ABC, 4:45 5:00 Methodist Church, 5:15 5:30 11:00 News Summary, 11:15 11:30 11:45 12:00 News Summary, 12:15 12:30 12:45 1:00 1:15 1:30 1:45 2:00 2:15 2:30 2:45 3:00 3:15 3:30 3:45 4:00 4:15 4:30 4:45 5:00 5:15 5:30 5:45 6:00 6:15 6:30 6:45 7:00 7:15 7:30 7:45 8:00 8:15 8:30 8:45 9:00 9:15 9:30 9:45 10:00 10:15 10:30 10:45 11:00 11:15 11:30 11:45 12:00 12:15 12:30 12:45 1:00 1:15 1:30 1:45 2:00 2:15 2:30 2:45 3:00 3:15 3:30 3:45 4:00 4:15 4:30 4:45 5:00 5:15 5:30 5:45 6:00 6:15 6:30 6:45 7:00 7:15 7:30 7:45 8:00 8:15 8:30 8:45 9:00 9:15 9:30 9:45 10:00 10:15 10:30 10:45 11:00 11:15 11:30 11:45 12:00 12:15 12:30 12:45 1:00 1:15 1:30 1:45 2:00 2:15 2:30 2:45 3:00 3:15 3:30 3:45 4:00 4:15 4:30 4:45 5:00 5:15 5:30 5:45 6:00 6:15 6:30 6:45 7:00 7:15 7:30 7:45 8:00 8:15 8:30 8:45 9:00 9:15 9:30 9:45 10:00 10:15 10:30 10:45 11:00 11:15 11:30 11:45 12:00 12:15 12:30 12:45 1:00 1:15 1:30 1:45 2:00 2:15 2:30 2:45 3:00 3:15 3:30 3:45 4:00 4:15 4:30 4:45 5:00 5:15 5:30 5:45 6:00 6:15 6:30 6:45 7:00 7:15 7:30 7:45 8:00 8:15 8:30 8:45 9:00 9:15 9:30 9:45 10:00 10:15 10:30 10:45 11:00 11:15 11:30 11:45 12:00 12:15 12:30 12:45 1:00 1:15 1:30 1:45 2:00 2:15 2:30 2:45 3:00 3:15 3:30 3:45 4:00 4:15 4:30 4:45 5:00 5:15 5:30 5:45 6:00 6:15 6:30 6:45 7:00 7:15 7:30 7:45 8:00 8:15 8:30 8:45 9:00 9:15 9:30 9:45 10:00 10:15 10:30 10:45 11:00 11:15 11:30 11:45 12:00 12:15 12:30 12:45 1:00 1:15 1:30 1:45 2:00 2:15 2:30 2:45 3:00 3:15 3:30 3:45 4:00 4:15 4:30 4:45 5:00 5:15 5:30 5:45 6:00 6:15 6:30 6:45 7:00 7:15 7:30 7:45 8:00 8:15 8:30 8:45 9:00 9:15 9:30 9:45 10:00 10:15 10:30 10:45 11:00 11:15 11:30 11:45 12:00 12:15 12:30 12:45 1:00 1:15 1:30 1:45 2:00 2:15 2:30 2:45 3:00 3:15 3:30 3:45 4:00 4:15 4:30 4:45 5:00 5:15 5:30 5:45 6:00 6:15 6:30 6:45 7:00 7:15 7:30 7:45 8:00 8:15 8:30 8:45 9:00 9:15 9:30 9:45 10:00 10:15 10:30 10:45 11:00 11:15 11:30 11:45 12:00 12:15 12:30 12:45 1:00 1:15 1:30 1:45 2:00 2:15 2:30 2:45 3:00 3:15 3:30 3:45 4:00 4:15 4:30 4:45 5:00 5:15 5:30 5:45 6:00 6:15 6:30 6:45 7:00 7:15 7:30 7:45 8:00 8:15 8:30 8:45 9:00 9:15 9:30 9:45 10:00 10:15 10:30 10:45 11:00 11:15 11:30 11:45 12:00 12:15 12:30 12:45 1:00 1:15 1:30 1:45 2:00 2:15 2:30 2:45 3:00 3:15 3:30 3:45 4:00 4:15 4:30 4:45 5:00 5:15 5:30 5:45 6:00 6:15 6:30 6:45 7:00 7:15 7:30 7:45 8:00 8:15 8:30 8:45 9:00 9:15 9:30 9:45 10:00 10:15 10:30 10:45 11:00 11:15 11:30 11:45 12:00 12:15 12:30 12:45 1:00 1:15 1:30 1:45 2:00 2:15 2:30 2:45 3:00 3:15 3:30 3:45 4:00 4:15 4:30 4:45 5:00 5:15 5:30 5:45 6:00 6:15 6:30 6:45 7:00 7:15 7:30 7:45 8:00 8:15 8:30 8:45 9:00 9:15 9:30 9:45 10:00 10:15 10:30 10:45 11:00 11:15 11:30 11:45 12:0