

Vows Exchanged In February Nuptials

The Bible Baptist church was the scene of a beautiful wedding on Sunday, February 22, when Jean Stroud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Stroud of this city, became the bride of Lee Jonas, son of Mrs. Everett Donahue, also of this city.

Rites were solemnized at 2 o'clock in the afternoon with the Rev. Keith Fields, pastor of the Bible Baptist church, reading the double ring ceremony.

White stock with yellow snapdragons formed the pretty setting for the nuptials, with palms and white tapers in tall candelabra completing the background.

Hazel Shaver sang "Because," accompanied by Mrs. Henry Moore. The bride was escorted to the altar by her father, Loren Stroud, as the traditional Lohengrin wedding procession was played by Mrs. Moore.

The bride's gown was of brocade marquisette over satin with a full court train. Her illusion net veil was held in place with a tiara of matching lace and seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. A white orchid and lilies of the valley on a white Bible formed her bridal bouquet.

Maid of honor was Sylvia Ann Waite of Medford, cousin of the groom. Her gown was of yellow ribbon taffeta with short puff sleeves and full skirt.

Bridesmaids were Lois Young and Melba Switzer. They wore identical gowns of pale blue and pink taffeta similar to the one worn by the maid of honor. All the bride's attendants carried colonial bouquets of carnations to match their gowns. Also, each wore a bandeau of matching carnations in her hair.

The bride was preceded to the altar by the flower girl, little four-year-old Linda Cornutt, who carried rose petals in a white basket. She wore a yellow chiffon floor length gown trimmed in white lace, and wore a bandeau of pink carnations in her hair.

Mrs. Stroud chose a tunic style dress of gray crepe with lace trim for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of black crepe. Each had a rosebud corsage.

Best man was James Jonas, brother of the groom and ushers were Loren Stroud Jr. and Donald Stroud, cousin of the bride.

Mendelssohn's recessional concluded the rites. The newlyweds cut the traditional first slice of their wedding cake at the reception which was held at Ward's cafe immediately after the ceremony.

Mrs. L. O. Hunter served, while Mrs. Lee Hunter presided at the punch bowl. Keith Sexton was in charge of the bride's book.

The new Mrs. Jonas' going away dress was of gray strutter cloth with a black trim and black accessories. The two will be gone for a short honeymoon on the Rogue before returning to Klamath Falls where they will be at home at 628 Oak street.

Mrs. Jonas was graduated from Klamath Union high school in 1947. The groom attended Bend high school and recently returned from Guam where he was stationed while in the navy.

Coming for the wedding from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. James Munsel of Myrtle Point, grandparents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Riesburg, aunt and uncle of the groom, also of Myrtle Point, and Sylvia Ann Waite of Medford, cousin of the groom.

Dinner was served at the Stroud home later in the evening honoring the bridal party and members of the immediate family.

Card Scores

Lorene Robinson was hostess to the Thimble club of Neighbors of Woodcraft Tuesday evening, February 24. After the business meeting pinochle and whist were played and Sylvia Tilton held high score in pinochle, Stella Dryden low. In whist Neva Hayes received the award for high score, and Ruth Hull, low. Refreshments were served by the hostess later in the evening. The next evening meeting, late in March, will be at the home of Mildred Smith.

International Plan Discussed By BPW

International Relations Week was observed by the Business and Professional Women's club at a dinner meeting March 1, at the Willard hotel. The program was arranged by the chairman, Ellen Upp.

Flags representing every nation of the world were effectively used as decorations.

Bonanza high school students presented an informative panel discussion on "What May We Expect From the Marshall Plan?" Mary Malone, chairman, introduced speakers, Marjorie Brownell, Dennis Davis, Lenore Eagan and Ted Pepples. Each competently explained a different phase of the Marshall plan. A lively question period followed their talks, during which the panel proved itself to be very well informed. The students were accompanied by Mrs. Joana Givans, Bonanza high school teacher.

"Seeds of Friendship" were sown overseas, as each member brought packages of vegetable, herb, and flower seeds to be forwarded to foreign countries in time for planting spring gardens.

Two soloists, Athena Lampropoulos and Ronnie Dimick delightfully entertained with several numbers.

A report was given by Patricia Hunt on a recent meeting of the Lilly Darby Memorial committee. She explained plans in which BPW will participate, will soon be completed.

President Loraine Quillen announced that the local club will join the state federation's program of observing "Oregon Territorial Year."

The next meeting is being planned by Ann Struthers, health and safety chairman, for March 15.
