

Medford, Klamath Falls Cop Top Honors In Annual Southern Oregon Musical

Medford and Klamath Falls high schools walked away with top honors in the Annual Southern Oregon District Music Competition festival held here on Saturday.

Klamath Falls placed the largest number of ratings—39 to be exact—and placed 14 one, or excellent ratings out of this 39, giving them a one-rating percentage of 35 per cent. Medford's 71 per cent one-rating percentage was much higher. Their school, however, placed just 21 ratings, and took 15 excellent gradings.

Klamath Falls, Medford, Grants Pass, Eagle Point, Rogue River, Ashland, Sacred Heart academy and Tulelake high schools were all represented in the festival, which included vocal and instrumental ensembles and solos of all kinds.

Events began in the morning and continued throughout the day, with competition being held in the main auditorium of the local high school. The day was climaxed by a concert in the evening, which featured several groups and soloists.

Judges chose the Saturday night artists and included the following from various schools entered in the festival:

Scientists Succeed In Planting Cancer Seeds

ATLANTIC CITY, March 15 (AP)—Evidence that seeds of cancer may be planted in the very young, and even before birth, was reported today to the American Association for Cancer Research.

These seeds are invisible. They appear to be only a tendency that somehow gets into living flesh. They were shown in mice by Drs. W. E. Smith and Peyton Rous, of the Rockefeller Institute, New York City.

The seeds were sown by injecting mother mice, before birth of their young, with urethane, a chemical compound known to be able to cause cancer in animals. Why this substance causes cancer is not known.

When the mothers had been injected, many of their young developed cancers. Sometimes one of these baby mice showed a cancer within a few days after birth. Some times not for weeks.

But mostly the young mice had cancers much earlier than those whose mothers had not received the cancer-making injection.

There is much evidence that cancers, both in animals and men and women, may not show up until years after the mysterious thing is done. The Rockefeller tests show that it is possible to shorten the time between seeding and appearance of a cancer. That suggests a possibility of learning what may speed human cancer and how to avoid this.

Dr. Vally Menkin, Temple university school of medicine, Philadelphia, reported a new extract, which he calls necrosin, that destroys cancer in Swiss mice. The extract is obtained from dogs. It is one of a series of such cancer destroyers that have been found for animals. Menkin's necrosin attacks only one kind of cancer.

One of the risks in human cancer is the peculiar ability of these malignant growths to spread to displaced parts of the body. The spread is made by jumps, and not by growing like a vine.

A possible explanation was reported by Drs. Dale Rex Cowman and Morton McCutcheon, of the University of Pennsylvania school of medicine. They showed that cancer tissue cells do not stick together as strongly as healthy tissues. The individual cancer cells break apart more easily, and once free, migrate elsewhere.

Their experiment was done with a cocktail-shaker device. In it cancer tissues fell apart easier than healthy tissues.
