

A MID-WINTER BRIDE was Fay Janet Steinseifer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Steinseifer of Klamath Falls, who became Mrs. John Joseph Pickett. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. E. C. Pickett of Boulder, Colorado. Rites were solemnized in the Messiah Lutheran church of Denver.

Fay Steinseifer Is Bride In Denver

The Messiah Lutheran church of Denver, Colorado was the setting for a lovely candlelight wedding the evening of February 17 when Fay Janet Steinseifer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Steinseifer of this city, became the bride of John Joseph Pickett, son of Mrs. E. C. Pickett of Boulder, Colorado.

Rev. Lyle C. Burns read the nuptial ceremony. Palms and baskets of white snapdragons, gladioli and light pink carnations formed the background for the vows, with many tapers lighting the church.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, as the Lutheran wedding march was played. She wore the wedding dress worn by her sister, Mrs. John C. O'Neill, the former Marjory Steinseifer. Of satin brocade, the lovely gown was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and long, fitted sleeves. The skirt formed a long court train. A fingertip veil fell from a Juliet cap of satin brocade. For jewelry she wore a single strand of pearls.

The bride carried a white prayer book marked with white satin ribbon streamers and lilies-of-the-valley, and centered with a deep purple orchid.

Mrs. John C. O'Neill was her sister's matron of honor. Her ballerina length formal gown was of aqua net with tulle. She wore short mitts of the same material and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of light pink roses and carnations. In her hair she wore a bandeau of pink carnations.

Best man was John Drendel, friend of the bridegroom, of Reno, Nevada.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Steinseifer chose a formal gown of powder blue with a soft pink flower hat. Mrs. Pickett, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of black with a pink hat and accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink roses.

The young couple and their parents received following the rites at the home of the bridegroom's sister and brother-in-law, Major and Mrs. Frank Flower in Denver.

White snapdragons and sweetpeas were used throughout the rooms. A lovely tiered wedding cake encircled with fern and stephanotis centered the bride's table. Mary Ellen Pickett, sister of the bridegroom, served. Virginia Riley of Salt Lake City was in charge of the guest book.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Pickett are making their home in Boulder, Colorado, until Mr. Pickett completes his law course at the University of Colorado.

The two are visiting this week-end for a few days at the home of Mrs. Pickett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steinseifer, during spring vacation.

RECEIVING GUESTS AT THE Pelican party room last Saturday, March 13, were Mr. and Mrs. John Anthony Raffetto Jr., at the reception which followed their wedding in Sacred Heart church. —Kennell-Ellis.

Chuckles Furnished By New York Times

Folks that chuckle over the way things are put in their hometown paper at times, can take consolation that a few stories in a recent issue of The New York Times, that august publication, sent the news department of this paper into gales of gusty laughter. Maybe they won't amuse you, but here are a couple:

"A free handbook that explains babies to new parents will accompany all birth certificates issued by the department of health." "Several church leaders have received publicity material of the newly formed Committee For Peace and Justice in the Holy Land of which Virginia C. Gildersleeve, dean emerita of Barnard college, is chairman, and copies of the letter of the National Economic council, headed by Merwin K. Hart, in the same envelope, it was learned yesterday. Miss Gildersleeve and Mr. Hart both expressed surprise at this development!"

"Borough President James A. Burke of Queens asked the Board of Estimate yesterday for $125,000 to set up his own temporary cleaning department. The Queens borough head said he needed the money as an emergency measure to emerge from the mass of garbage and refuse littering the borough streets."

We noted that all pictures on the Times society page were one-column affairs, and the only other-than-social story carried in the society section went like this:

"George E. Ruppert of the Jacob Ruppert Brewery will serve as chairman of the brewers committee for the 1948 fund appeal of the New York Catholic Charities." (Nice plug for Ruppert.)

Going and Coming Dept.: Al Macartney flew down south last week-end with young son David to visit Bud and Carol who are visiting with Bud's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Moore of Pasadena. In a brand new plane, too. Al plans to outfit the Lake o' the Woods road this summer and commute by air.

Mrs. Wilfred E. Lamm and Winifred, who spent the early part of the winter in New York, have returned and after spending a short time at their home at Modoc Point, left Wednesday for Palo Alto, where they have taken an apartment for the remainder of the school year. Winifred has enrolled in classes at Stanford.

Mrs. A. Bristow Hood leaves tomorrow for San Francisco with Mr. Hood. She will go on to New York on the City of San Francisco and arrive in time to spend Easter with daughter Barbara who is studying there. They'll probably share Easter festivities with Carolyn Collier, daughter of the Andrew Colliers, who lives in the same hotel as Barbara, and they also plan to be with Jim and Nancy Buell Renton who went east shortly after their wedding here last summer. Jim has been studying a special course in banking at New York University but plans to go back to Portland the first of April. Bob Hood, student at Stanford, is spending his Easter vacation at Sun Valley skiing. Mrs. Hood expects to return in late spring and will visit in Minneapolis on her way west.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn C. Lorenz will leave Klamath Falls in mid-April, going by train to Chicago where they will spend a short time and flying from there to New York where they join the Rotarian delegation going to Rio de Janeiro for Rotary International's big meet. The ship will be their hotel and there is a period of some 30 days from the time it leaves New York until it returns. Mrs. Oscar Moeller, now of San Jose but formerly of our town, is considering the same trip, friends here said.

Home from a six weeks' stay in the Hawaiian Islands are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kent, both looking wonderfully well. They got home last week-end and will have all three children with them for a week as Joy comes from Oregon State college this week for the Easter vacation, joining brothers Bob and Earl who have been home this winter.

A card postmarked Smith River, Calif., from Mrs. Victor O'Neill who is spending a short time at White Rock cabins on the coast. She sends a weather report: snow storm of vast proportions which switched to rain at Patrick's Creek and it has rained buckets since. Noticed in a Literary Guild Book club blurb that Lucille's brother, Edison Marshall, had his "Yankee Pasha" offered as a membership gift.

Visitor

A distinguished visitor who will speak to the League of Women Voters next week is Dr. Edna Landros of the University of Oregon faculty. Dr. Landros is also a member of the state league board.

She will speak to Klamath Falls league members and their guests at a luncheon meeting in the Pelican party room Wednesday, March 24, at 12:15.

Her topic will be "Is the United Nations Failing and What Can We Do About It?"

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Roland Wright, 5404, or Mrs. Carl Hage, 8560.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN of the Klamath Falls and Wood River units and their guests gathered at the Pelican party room Tuesday to hear Mrs. George T. Gerlinger of Portland, state president of the Oregon Council of Republican Women. Left to right, Mrs. Ray Loosley, vice chairman of the Wood River unit who replaces Mrs. Charles Warren, chairman, who has moved to Redding; Mrs. Rose M. Poole, chairman of the Klamath Falls unit, and Mrs. Gerlinger. —Guderian.

WHITE FLOWERS decked the altar of St. Paul's Episcopal church Sunday, March 14, when June Michelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Michelson of this city, became the bride of Mr. Harold L. Dryden of Klamath Falls. —Kennell-Ellis.

Vows Exchanged In Church Ceremony

June Michelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Michelson of this city, made a lovely bride as she walked down the aisle of St. Paul's Episcopal church last Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock to exchange vows with Harold L. Dryden.

The Rev. Frederick G. Wissenbach read the ceremony in the presence of 125 friends and relatives of the young couple. Mrs. Samuel A. Musher played incidental organ music before the ceremony and Athena Lampropoulos sang the lovely "Panis Angelicus" just before the bride and groom entered the church. The altar was decked with white carnations and many palms and Aspis Stewart lighted the tall white candles.

June's traditionally styled gown had a lace yoke with long, snug fitting sleeves, and a sweeping court train of white satin. Her fingertip veil of illusion net fell from an arrangement of orange blossoms and she wore a single strand of pearls. Her flowers were white camellias and carnations in a formal arrangement.

The bride's sister, Suzanne, now Mrs. Robert Stewart of Los Angeles, was the matron of honor, and the bridesmaid was Betty Merrill. Both wore floor length white crepe frocks with V necklines, and carried fan shaped carnation bouquets. Suzanne's flowers were chartreuse and all wore a chartreuse feather arrangement in her hair, and Betty's flowers were pink and she wore a matching pink feather. The little flower girl, Suzanne Kujac, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kujac, wore a long frock of white marquisette and a pink feather hair ornament was pinned to her curls. She scattered crimson rose petals from a basket as she walked down the aisle.

The best man was Walter McIntyre, and the ushers were Jess Smithers and Francis S. Landrum. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple received in the parish hall where an elaborately decorated wedding cake on a base of sweetheart rosebuds. After Mr. and Mrs. Dryden had cut the first piece of their cake, the confection was served by Mrs. Francis S. Landrum, former Patty Schupp. Mrs. Guy Merrill and Mrs. William Wales presided at the silver coffee service. There was a tray of dream cake for the guests as well. The guest book was passed by the bride's cousin, Mrs. Jack Harmon of Lebanon, Oregon, and assisting about the rooms were Mrs. Walter McIntyre, Jean Merrill and Virginia Ellen Smith who came from Eugene for the wedding. All wore arrangements of white camellias.

Mrs. Michelson wore a wood violet afternoon dress with a white covered hat, and Mrs. C. L. Dryden of Estes Park, Colorado, mother of the groom, chose a black satin suit with pink flowered hat. Both wore corsages of pink carnations and lilies-of-the-valley. The bride wore a melon three-piece suit with brown hat and accessories for her wedding trip to San Francisco and the camellias from her corsage were pinned at the shoulder. Mr. and Mrs. Dryden are returning this week-end and will be at home in Klamath Falls. Mrs. Dryden is office secretary at Fremont school and Mr. Dryden is chief station agent with United Airlines here.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Michelson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harmon and Mrs. Ada Lowe, all of Lebanon, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Parkhurst and Mrs. J. Olson, Portland.

Return Home Mr. and Mrs. John Anthony Raffetto Jr. are expected to return home to Klamath Falls this week-end from their wedding trip south.

Mrs. Raffetto is the former Lois Coady. The two were married last Saturday at Sacred Heart Catholic church.

Among out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Mrs. B. Raggio, grandmothers of the bridegroom, Mrs. Ben A. Raggio, his aunt, and daughter, Ethel Ann; Mrs. J. W. Raggio, another aunt, and son, Bill Jr., all of Reno, Nev.; Mrs. John Buck, an aunt of the bridegroom, of Modesto, Calif. and Mrs. J. M. Lloyd, a family friend, of Eugene.

Nine Years Old Guests at Susan Porter's ninth birthday were entertained with movies at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Porter of Huron street, after school Wednesday afternoon. The movies followed the traditionally decorated cake and ice cream.

Susan's guests were Karen Kiger, Sue Thompson, Jolyan Zimmermann, Nancy Drew, Sally Soukup, Frances Cox, Evelyn Deets, Lucy Ann Spaninger, Carolyn Schoenburg, Judy Hadley, Sharon Taylor, Gail Nerstich, Nancy Clark, Jane Larkin, Janice Whytal, Sarah and Jimmy Porter.

Homecoming

Favorite recipes were being fished out of the cook book and there was much cake baking and cookie making going on this week-end as mothers prepared for the return of their sons and daughters from the various schools and colleges which have granted Easter vacations.

Arriving home Thursday by bus from the University of Oregon were Jean Hilton, Ruth Landry, LeRoy Coleman, Yvette Sweet, Stan Smith and Chris McCarrill. Friday's contingent included Bill Hall, Wes Robinson, Barbara Osborn, Maryellen Wright, Dorothy Collier, Joan and Marilyn O'Neill, Sally Mueller, Bud Lucas, Joan Campbell, Malcolm Epley Jr., Fred Foulon and a lot of others.

Mary Ann Mills is expected in this week-end from Stanford and from Maryhurst college at Oswego next week will come Mary Vandenberg, Patricia O'Leary and Barbara Brostherhouse. Maryhurst vacation is from March 24 to 30.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bosterhouse (Audrey Honzel), will arrive from Eugene next week-end. George is studying architecture at the university and Audrey is in the office of The Register-Guard.

From Oregon State college will come a large group of students including Rod Murray, Joy Kent, Margie Clark and Maxine Liskey as well as Chuck Thurman, Mary O'Brien and others; Both Margie and Maxine were recently elected to Omicron Nu, national senior women's home economics honorary.

Noted recently in the Reno Evening Gazette, picture of Dorothy Thomas as one of 10 University of Nevada seniors elected to Phi Kappa Phi, national scholarship honor society. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Thomas of Tullake.

Luncheon Mrs. Lloyd Drew entertained at luncheon Wednesday afternoon at the Pelican cafe for Mrs. George Cornell. Mrs. Cornell arrived in Klamath Falls Saturday after two years spent in Philadelphia, Penn., where her husband attended commercial art school.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornell are visiting this week at the home of Mrs. Cornell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Dean.

The luncheon table was decorated with green and white shamrocks in keeping with the St. Patrick's Day motif. The guest of honor was given a gift from the group.

Covers were laid for Mrs. John C. O'Neill, Mrs. Melvin Miller, Mrs. James Ivory, Mrs. Tom Walters Jr., Mrs. James Hunt, Mrs. Leo McKoon of Merrill and the hostess, Mrs. Drew.
