Men Happy Over Farms

A happy group of new homesteaders have looked over the sites drawn March 15 in the Goplock Bay land opening and have appeared at the U. S. bureau of reclamation to pay their water rentals for a year.

The 21 homesteaders who have appeared to date are happy to a man, A. D. Harvey, in charge of the homestead division, USBR, said today. They have looked over the land as required, paid their water rentals and taken their certificates to file homestead applications with Bert C. Thomas, U. S. land commissioner.

These applications will be sent to the land office in Sacramento, Thomas said.

Veterans who were disappointed in the recent drawing will have another chance when more land is opened for homesteading in the near future.

Mehaffey Death Told

Word has been received in Klamath Falls of the death of Mrs. A. A. Mehaffey, 93 years of age, at the Sunny Hills sanatorium, Walnut Creek, Calif., Thursday morning, March 18. Mrs. Mehaffey had been a patient at the sanatorium for the past four months.

Born January 12, 1855, in Park county, Indiana, her maiden name was Mary Ovanda Hunt. She had made her home in Antioch, Calif., for the past 11 years. Cremation services were held at Chapel of the Chimes in Oakland, Calif., where similar services were held for her late husband, A. A. Mehaffey, who died April 29, 1939. Mrs. Mehaffey had been in a coma for several days and died in her sleep. She is survived by an only child, Lawrence W. Mehaffey, Antioch, Calif., and two grandsons, Larry W. Mehaffey and Donald C. Mehaffey, both of Antioch.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Mehaffey were residents of Klamath Falls for many years. Their son Lawrence was assistant cashier of the First State and Savings bank before World War I. He is the son-in-law of Mrs. Wilbur A. Jones of this city.
