Inspection Station For Grain Vetoed

Grain growers of the Klamath and Tulelake areas, meeting Wednesday afternoon at the city hall, voted against setting up a grain inspection station here. A majority of the growers present voted opinions that buyers are competing for barley crops and should do the job of inspection.

Some felt that having the inspection and grading done here instead of at terminal markets would lessen the competition from buyers and possibly lessen the chance for premium prices.

The proposal was for the establishment of a state grading station here that would set grades on individual shipments of barley and thereby determine the price before the grain was shipped. About 50 growers attended the meeting, presided over by Ralph Hill of Henley, and virtually all voted against the station.

Eisler Sentenced To 2-3-Year Term

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—Gerhard Eisler, alleged "No. 1 communist" in the United States, was sentenced Wednesday to serve one to three years in prison for concealing his communist links when he applied for a permit to leave this country in 1945.

He was released on $20,000 bond pending appeal.

Sentence was imposed by Justice James W. Morris in U. S. district court here where Eisler was convicted last August.

Sentencing had been delayed while the court considered an application for a new trial and the government made moves toward Eisler's deportation to Germany.

Air Force To Up Personnel

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—The air force announced Wednesday it will seek 25,000 more enlisted men. This is a reversal of a policy just a week old. On March 16, the service said it had 312,000 enlisted men and would not accept any more enlistments except as replacements for those leaving the service.

Today's announcement said the aim now is to raise the number to 337,000.

In order to do that, it lifted a ban against recruiting married men. Its officers' strength is just under 48,000, the size allowed by air force appropriations.

election upon which the eyes of the world are presently fixed, 22 parties will have tickets.

In such a mess, it is fairly obvious that the communist combination of parties, if it gets as much as 40 per cent of the total vote, will be able to force some of its men into the government.

REMEMBER this also:
 If the communists are able to force themselves into the new Italian government, they will reach first for the ministry that CONTROLS THE POLICE. They will then proceed to set up a secret police system.

In all these "isms" (which basically are rackets designed to enable a few men at the top to get the bulk of the gravy) the secret police system is the mainspring that runs the clock.

FACED by this prospect, we add more candy to the sack we're promising the Italians if they vote right. We announce in Washington this morning that the United States will pay four and a half million dollars for work Italian war prisoners did in wartime in America.

We don't say WHEN we'll pay over the dough. We leave that to the Italian voter's imagination.

THE present Italian government (which is on our side) goes out this morning for all the votes it can get. It announces that Italians abroad will be given free passage home if they get there by a "certain specified time."

The barb in that hook is the practical certainty that if they get there AFTER April 18 they'll have trouble collecting.

IN Washington, President Truman tells his press conference that the United States is calling off its partition of Palestine policy because it has become apparent that partition can not be enforced WITHOUT AMERICAN TROOPS.

That is to say:
 We started something in Palestine on the spur of the moment. Later, we discovered that what we had started couldn't be finished without fighting. So we are saying, in effect: "Well talk, but we won't fight."

In such a case, what would YOU think IF YOU WERE RUNNING RUSSIA?

AMONG other things, we need a foreign policy that isn't just improvised to meet the needs of the immediate moment (including, sometimes, the need to elect somebody or other here at home).

DIES
 PORTLAND, March 25 (AP)—Barbara Sue Oakes, 1-year-old daughter of Mrs. Virginia Oakes, died in her crib yesterday, apparently from suffocation.

OVS Housing Plan Okayed By Board

A major portion of the state board of education's all-day meeting in Salem Wednesday was devoted to approval of several policies and projects at Oregon Vocational school.

OVS Director Winston D. Purvine revealed today that the state board okayed plans to obtain the Mountain View housing unit from the public housing administration to house OVS students.

An intercollegiate sports program was okayed for OVS and will appear in detail on tomorrow's sports page of The Herald and News.

Among instructors approved by the board are Lawrence French of Klamath Falls, welding; Wallace Uerlings of Klamath Falls, body and fender; Alice Stone of Portland, cooking; Earl Bailey of Portland, silk screening process; John Howard of Portland, business management; John Roman of Astoria, auto electricity and tune-up; Leonard Glogoski of Klamath Falls, auto painting; Ben Hawkins of Salem, machine shop and gunsmithing; John Offel of Klamath Falls, carpentry and woodworking; Roy Green of Klamath Falls, welding; William Newton of Klamath Falls, piano tuning and repair; and Kermit Jones of Oregon City, refrigeration servicing.

The board has approved plans to award a certificate to graduates of the school, signed by the governor, state superintendent of public instruction, state director of vocational education and the school director.

A state advisory committee report, formed from the group's meeting at OVS earlier this month, was okayed in full by the board and included formation of local advisory committees to be set up for each class and to include two employes and two employers.

Purvine said that the board okayed continuation of the present non-profit operation of the campus store which is operated by the school.

Moose Slate Initiation

Guest speaker will be Charles Poole of the Eugene lodge and Governor Art Purser of the Eugene lodge will be here to present trophies won by the local lodge at the state Moose bowling tournament held recently.

The program will get under way with a feed at 6:30, followed by initiation at 8 p. m. All members are urged to attend.

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
 AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

This is the second anniversary of the first meeting of the United Nations security council in America, as you were reminded in this column yesterday by my colleague, Francis W. Carpenter, member of the AP staff at the headquarters of the peace organization.

It is not a day of unmaligned rejoicing and optimism to speak euphemistically for things have gone badly during these two years. Still, Carpenter tells us that while the UN is passing through perhaps its blackest days, no responsible leader or delegate shows any signs of throwing up his hands and quitting.

That is as should be, for disaster lurks around the corner and we shall have war the day that workers for peace give up in despair. Yet, because the affairs of the UN unhappily are so much at sixes and sevens, many observers are wondering whether the time hasn't arrived to put some fresh line of endeavor into operation to bolster the organization, or let us say, complete it.

The old League of Nations failed in the main because it didn't do its duty. Some members continued to play power politics, and there were others like Japan and Italy which had aggression in their hearts and deliberately made war for conquest. Japan's invasion of Manchuria in 1931 established the precedent which inspired Mussolini and Hitler to follow suit, but the League temporized with the Japanese case and finally dismissed the matter by telling the Nipponese they were bad lads.

Our new UN also has aggression-minded nations among its membership and has become a house divided against itself. We have the Russian communist bloc on the one side and the democratic bloc on the other and the differences have become so great that the work of the organization has been largely brought to a standstill despite the fact that the majority lies with the democracies. The stalemate has been achieved by Russia's employment of the veto power in the security council which alone can take action to prevent or punish aggression.

Because of this impossible situation there is increasing demand from many quarters for a revision of the UN charter or, short of that, for the creation of a new organization comprising the entire democratic bloc. This bloc would, of course, include the newly-formed Western European union.

Revision of the charter is called for in a resolution introduced by 16 members of the U. S. house of representatives—eight democrats and eight republicans. This resolution proposes to eliminate the use of the veto on issues of aggression, armament for aggression and admission to membership in the UN. Russia would be invited to participate in the revised organization.

There are those who are afraid of such a step on the grounds that it would widen the breach between the two worlds. Well that need no longer be a cause for hesitation, because the division already is complete. We have a communist world and a democratic world and nothing is going to alter that. What we can do, however, is to strengthen the democratic bloc so that it will be able to withstand communist aggression—for that's where the aggression lies.

Everything else having been tried, this is the moment for a consolidation of the democracies. That would strengthen the hand of peace.

War Widow Still Has Her Home

BEDFORD, Ind., March 25 (AP)—A modest little home north of here is still owned by a World War II widow and her five children even though it was auctioned off at a tax delinquent sale Monday.

When the home came up in the sales, County Auditor Donald Smith explained the circumstances. The auctioneer called for bids and the crowd was silent.

"I'll bid $15," a woman's voice finally said.

Again the crowd was silent.

The auctioneer shouted "Sold," and gave a receipt to the woman who had made the bid—Mrs. Dona Blevins, the war widow who lives in the place.

Women Of The Moose To Sponsor Dance

Members of the Moose lodge and friends are invited to an Easter dance sponsored by the Women of the Moose this Saturday from 10 p. m. to 1 a. m. in the lodge hall.

Proceeds from the affair will go toward sending the Women of the Moose ritualistic team to the community convention in Astoria.

Wilkerson's orchestra will furnish music.

Holy Communion Service Slated

Holy Thursday Communion service will be held at the First Presbyterian church tonight at 7:30 with the rites of baptism, confirmation, and the public welcome of new members. The topic of the Table Talk is "Not Benefactors But Servants." Music for the occasion will be provided by the choir, under the direction of Andrew Loney, Jr., and by Mrs. George McIntyre, organist. The anthem chosen is "Surely He Hath Borne Our Griefs," by Antonio Lotti, and the organ prelude is taken from the Choral, "Our Redeemer and Our Lord" by Alexander Shrinier.

Basin Gets Clear Weather

Spring was battling it out with winter in the Klamath basin this week and on several occasions was forced out of the picture as Old Man Winter raged in fine style.

After several hours of snow yesterday morning, the sun broke through the clouds at noon, but by 4 o'clock a driving storm whipped this section and added another inch of snow to a fairly heavy pack which remains on hillsides above the city. Precipitation—actual water content—was 0.3 inches, according to the weatherman.

The temperature slid to 23 degrees at an early hour this morning and there was a crust of ice on the snow and on open ponds and puddles. Forecast for the next 24 hours is "partly cloudy," but this could mean anything. That's what the weatherman said Tuesday when the Klamath country received its biggest snow of the spring.

On the other hand, the state highway commission warned today that blizzards might be expected in the Cascade mountains tonight and played havoc with Easter vacationists who had planned to take off from the basin to warmer climes. The forecast is for winds of more than 35 miles per hour and for six to 12 inches of snow.

Prison Break Bluff Fails

PORTLAND, March 25 (AP)—A prisoner who tried to break jail with a paper dart and a warhead of dynamite caps was still behind bars today.

He also had a black eye and was in solitary confinement.

Jailer Walter Chatfield at Multnomah county's Rock Butte jail said Harry M. Handron, awaiting trial on three larceny charges, made a disturbance last night and Chatfield decided to move him to solitary. He telephoned to the jail office for keys to be sent up. When Ernest Weyand arrived with them, Handron pulled the dart and warhead from his pocket and ordered, "Open the corridor and let the rest of them out or I'll throw this."

Nearly 100 prisoners, including men charged with the Sweet Home bank robbery and Olds & King store holdup are in cell blocks which would have been opened had Weyand complied.

Instead, Chatfield said, he alarmed the outer vestibule door shut and Weyand rushed for Handron. Chief Jailer Jack Mathews heard the noise and joined in subduing the prisoner.

Basin Youths Win At Show

Incomplete judging returns from the Grand National Junior Livestock Exposition at San Francisco list three Klamath county 4-H club boys and girls among the winners.

Vernon C. Haley of Bonanza was listed among the winners in the 4-H class of Hereford steers from 955 to 1100 pounds. In the Aberdeen Angus class for steers from 955 to 1100 pounds, Kathleen Wilson of Malin was indicated as a winner, and Elliott West, also of Malin was listed among winners in the Aberdeen Angus class for heifers or steers from 805 to 950 pounds.

The steers were sold Wednesday at the auction sale and the club members and their families will return to Klamath Falls Friday.

Poe Valley Rancher Dies

Edward Arbee Roberts, 29-year-old rancher and member of a prominent Poe valley family, died suddenly at the family home late Tuesday afternoon. Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Roberts, had been romping in the snow earlier in the day with younger members of his family and had been in apparent good health. Late in the afternoon he and his brother Donald were carrying a saw into the tool shed, when "Eddie" suddenly dropped to the ground.

Young Roberts was born in Poe valley and lived there his entire lifetime. He is survived by his parents and two brothers, Donald and Warren. Final rites will be held Friday at 1:30 p. m. from the chapel of the Earl Whitlock Funeral home with interment in the family plot in Bedford cemetery, Poe valley.
