Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY

GRATIFYING approval was given yesterday by the state board of education to the program and policies of the administration of the Oregon Vocational school at Klamath Falls. Much of the time at the session of the board at Salem was given to OVS, which is a new institution and where, of course, it has been necessary to "feel the way" to some extent as the program has developed.

EPLEY

After the first period of operation, the school's director, Winston Purvine, was able to go to the meeting yesterday with some concrete suggestions relative to the program of courses and training, housing of students, and recreational activities. All of these matters were thoroughly discussed, and the approval given by the board is a recognition of the soundness of administrative policy as it has developed.

All of this points to the promise of creating at OVS one of the finest technical schools in the West. That is what was hoped by Klamath Falls people and other friends of the enterprise when they made the original proposal for consideration of the use of the former Marine Barracks plant for a vocational education institution.

It is moving along in a most satisfactory manner.

Street Lights In Daytime

RECENTLY, this department has received inquiry from several persons about the burning of street lights in daytime. In view of the reports of a power shortage, the question is timely and logical, and we have passed it along.

The answer, from Copco, is that when tests and globe replacements are being made, it is necessary to energize the lights to make sure they are working. This is done by circuits, so that not all the lights in town burn at once in the daytime.

The alternative would be to make the tests and replacements at night—and apparently, the power shortage is not sufficiently acute to make that necessary.

For The Record

OUR big neighbor on the north, the Oregonian, has gone to town on our spring snowstorm, with pictures and front page play. Local people who are a bit sensitive about Portland opinion of our weather are somewhat concerned, but let us point out that the Oregonian play indicated that the situation was "unusual" and therefore newsworthy.

To the Oregonian, let us point out that its picture caption making comparison with Klamath on Wednesday — sunshine in Portland and snow in Klamath — was all right, but that the usual relative condition of the two places is sunshine in Klamath; fog, rain and low clouds in Portland. If we all understand that, we're willing to drop the matter right there.

Beneficial

SOME highly important values have come from the burst of unexpected snowfall. Our weather box on Page One tells us that precipitation for the stream year is some three inches above last year and well above normal. This means a replenishment of moisture supply in this area. It means added runoff into irrigation water and power supply reservoirs, additional stored-up moisture in the ground to build range and dry-land crops. It will help keep our record-breaking agriculture on high gear the coming season.

Nobody should feel badly about it here. It is great for the country.

Fickle

THAT mug which appears daily at the head of this column has at last proved of some value. My 2-year-old daughter has discovered it, and spends time looking at it and saying "daddy" which otherwise would be devoted to squeezing tooth paste tubes dry, throwing water on the kitchen floor, upsetting vases, disconnecting our telephone service, and scattering cosmetics on the front room rug. Anybody with a 2-year-old daughter knows what I mean.

On several occasions, my little girl has cooed affectionately over the picture and kissed it. I was much pleased and touched by this until, last night, I caught her surreptitiously kissing Dr. Gallup on the same page.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

IN Italy, the communist party supports religion. Italy is peculiarly a Roman Catholic country in the sense that practically all Italians regard themselves as Catholics, even the atheists. In such a country, religion is the national philosophy of life, the central social relationship. It is a civilization. Italians who never set foot in a church are Catholics because without it their way of life would lack meaning. That is admittedly difficult for Americans to understand; here it is possible for the supreme court to outlaw religion—any and all religion—to make atheism a way of life.

So, whereas the whole of Marxian philosophy is based upon a biologic conception of life which rejects God and the supernatural, in Italy, the same party, the same individuals support religion, encourage church marriages, baptisms, confirmations. By this device they encourage the Italians to believe that their communists are simply politicians vying for power; that they do not have a philosophy of life which is utterly different from the Christian philosophy of life. It is a wonderful device.

Clever Attack

OF course, the communists attack the Vatican and the Catholic clergy, but not the religion that they represent. This is clever, too. For by not attacking the religion but only the clergy, they seek to separate the people from their intellectual leaders who happen to be the clergy, just as in Rumania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia, they killed or exiled professors of the universities, school teachers, middle-class leaders—separating their peoples from their leaders. In Poland, they killed most of them. Many in Hungary were exiled to Yakutsk. It is a technique of confusion designed to leave the people almost helpless. For in many countries in Europe, particularly in those where literacy is not too high, the intellectual plays an extraordinarily important role of leadership. By killing off or exiling the anti-communist intellectuals, the Russians open the door for their stooges to act as substitutes.

And now, they have started a new campaign. The Italians are naturally proud of the fact that for over four centuries every Pope has been an Italian. Now the communists in Italy are telling the people that the next Pope is to be an American. There are three of them, Cardinals Stritch, Mooney and Spellman, who are being advertised as prospects for the papal succession. Behind that is the scare that "American imperialism" will force an American Pope on the Italian people. A clever device.

In a word, not only is "American imperialism" a dollar control of a country, according to the communists, but in Italy, it takes on a special form of also controlling the Vatican. This is an example of the way this party operates on a universal scale. In each country it employs whatever techniques serve for the moment. It does not matter whether there is the slightest truth in what they say. Does the truth matter? Does anything matter but the end to be achieved? For that end, they will lie; they will even kill. It is what the communists regard as the "inevitable" end, for which all things must be done.

• • • •

Empty Words

AND that is what Americans must remember. We Americans are irrevocably attached to freedom of the individual, freedom of speech, of thought, of expression in every manner. So when the communists need to cover their corruption, they shriek about freedom. That immediately evokes every sense of fair play and decency in an American. Why should not every American, or, for that matter, every human being, be free to express himself as he chooses? Are we to have thought control? Are we to have censorship of the movies? Are we to refuse to recognize that there is another side to every question?

Let us look at the other side of that picture. A vast international conspiracy, directed centrally by a universal state, designed to achieve a world unity around a separate creed, functioning in every country through disciplined agents, obedient to the will of an elite, operates in the United States as it does in Italy, France, Czechslovakia, China, everywhere.

Are we not to protect ourselves? Is it necessary that we should be destroyed as a people because we dare not protect ourselves?

Paul Whiteman

Paul Whiteman plays a "Memory Tune" on the Paul Whiteman Record club heard over KFLW, Monday through Friday, 12:30 to 1 p. m. Whiteman's memory tune contest is being conducted in behalf of the American Council on Rheumatic Fever. The contest ends Saturday night, March. 27. Listeners are asked to identify the "memory tune" and in 25 words to finish the line, "I like it because it reminds me of . . . . ."

Entries must be postmarked at least 10 days following the closing date of each contest. The contestant is urged to accompany his statement with at least a 10-cent donation to the Council of Rheumatic Fever. Beginning next week, Whiteman will announce the winners on successive days. Prizes are quite elegant, diamond ring, fur coat, television set, grand piano, cabin cruiser and some other stuff. Have you tried?

All you Morgan fans—tonight's the night. Morgan takes over on KFLW lanes from 7:30 to 8. There weren't any advance notices but dyed-in-the-wool fans don't care what Morgan does as long as Morgan's there.

Another Thursday night listener for KFLW fans is "The Clock," 8:30 p. m. Timed just right to jell your dinner into an indigestible mass and assure you of a nice lump in your tummy to take to bed. ABC's publicity agent says this: "Easy money is a tempting lure and Charley and Hazel would rather follow the lure than try to earn a living on their Arizona farm." There's a Mexican sweepstakes ticket involved somewhere along the line. This Hazel can't be our old friend Hazel on one of The Clock horrifies—the gal that was going around with Axel and in order to get rid of her husband sawed off one of the basement stens. He went down like a ton of brick but Hazel, poor gal, died of a heart attack and her husband got well! But you can't keep Hazel down, she's back tonight.

A group of youngsters will disclose their "Private Reasons" for forgetting and remembering during the ABC broadcast of the public interest series, "Child's World" on Thursday at 9 p. m. This should appeal to mothers who always get back the most amazing things when Junior goes to the store. Every time the Head of the House goes into a Grade-A tailspin because the two young 'uns get mixed up in directions, we have an ace in the whole. Remind him of the time, when HE was a little boy, his mother sent him to the store for a loaf of bread and a can of tomatoes. He came back with a false face and a bird whistle.

Around the dial with LW, stop at 7 p. m. to listen in on Ellery and Nikkie Porter who go to the country for some peace and quiet and a chance to work, but down on the farm isn't quite as quiet as anticipated on "Ellery Queen." An unexpected visitor who liked to play with knives adds a little zest. The guest armchair detective tonight is Arnes Moorehead, "Marilly" of ABC's Mayor of the Town.

The girl with the sweet southern drawl that answers KFJI's phone is Fran Adcock who hails from Arkansas close to the Louisiana line. She is receptionist for the station and is married to a former Seabee, Clyde Adcock of Big Basin.

Down at JI they're having fun trying to put over the Teen-Age scrap drive. Bill Wentworth throws in a lot of good sound effects of slam-bang-crash, to bring the scrap theme right to your ears. The station is plugging for the kids who are practically cleaning up the town to get scrap for their center.

A new program which has caught on with housewives is "What's New," heard over JI Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10:15 a. m. Listeners can send in household hints, shorts cuts in housework and vie for a weekly prize. Last week a kitchen utility table went to Mrs. Floyd Kisner, 2329 Oregon, when Allen Abner considered her suggestions as best. Here they are: fit a top from a salt box top onto a quart jar, screw on the ring and use it for soap with a spout—the other—a 25-watt bulb on an extension cord, use the lighted bulb like an egg for darning sox!

Bonanza was snowed in Tuesday night so KUHS seniors Cameron Stewart and Ruthe Huston were before the mike on JI's Quizdom class. Top honors went to Shirley Kay Johnson of Malin. For the third consecutive week, out-of-town seniors have copped the big prizes. First week it was Hugh Wilson Jr. of Tule, and last week, Gillis Hannigan of Chiloquin.

Thursday listening on KFJI: Sacred Heart academy's Easter concert of sacred music, 7:15 to 7:30, under direction of Sister Faustina. Also along the Easter theme, 8:40 to 8:55 p. m., "Drama of The Passion," by the Community Players directed by the Rev. Godfrey Matthews.

"BENEFICIAL" CYCLONES

Cyclones are largely beneficial, not destructive. The cyclone, not to be confused with the deadly tornado, is a broad, slowly rotating mass of air, covering hundreds of square miles, and the mother of our life-sustaining rains.

An electronic printing press, in which ink jumps through space from the cylinder to the paper, is reported.

PRAISE FOR WOODRUFF

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (To the Editor)—On March 22, 1948, news came over the air of the resignation of Mr. Stanley Woodruff, principal of Klamath Union high school. It is a real loss to the high school when a man with such high ideals and principles resigns.

Last year I had the privilege of being a member of the KUHS faculty and was an eye witness to the many times Mr. Woodruff gave of his strength and energy to make KUHS one of the outstanding schools in Oregon. This was done in such a quiet reserved way that often the credit was taken by others rather than by Mr. Woodruff.

To be the principal of a high school the size of Klamath Falls one needs the patience of Job, the strength of Hercules, and the wisdom of Solomon. All these Mr. Woodruff possessed plus a sense of humor and faith in high school students.

The vacancy left by Mr. Woodruff in the faculty of KUHS will be a hard one to fill.

Sincerely
MARGARET LARKIN

Clogged Pipe Floods Street

That part of Main street in front of Kohn's Flower Shop took on the aspect of a first-class geyser area late yesterday afternoon, when a clogged drain pipe and a crack in the sidewalk combined to send a sizeable stream of water high in the air.

Some helpful citizen, evidently thinking a broken water main was causing the trouble, sent a hurry-up call for a Copco crew. Upon arriving and checking the trouble, the crew diagnosed the difficulty as a clogged drain pipe from the roof of the adjoining building.

A piece of the pipe had evidently been broken off and had lodged near the mouth of the drain, causing the water to back up and spurt through a crack in the sidewalk. Pressure was built up by the excess of water on the building's roof, and water was shooting eight or 10 feet in the air, drenching any unwary pedestrians or motorists.

Copco's men promptly remedied the situation with the aid of a short stick.

TOUCHY

JERUSALEM, March 25 (AP) — Jewish girls in Palestine are finding it dangerous these days to have American or British boy friends.

Jewish extremists are pouncing on such girls and shaving their heads.

One Dies In Fall Of Excavation

PORTLAND, March 25 (AP)—One man was killed and another escaped with minor injuries late yesterday when the walls of a 25-foot excavation collapsed.

Both men were buried by the cave-in, but co-workers managed to unearth their heads. Joseph West, 46, crew foreman, was given adrenalin and oxygen in a vain attempt to keep him alive. He was dead when taken to a hospital more than two hours after the mishap.

Joseph Harmeier, Vanport, was pulled from the soft earth and sand more than an hour after the cave-in. He was not seriously hurt.
