Ceremony Read In Portland Church

Grace Memorial church in Portland was the setting for a lovely wedding Saturday afternoon, March 20, when Jean Masten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Masten of Olene, became the bride of John L. Ward, son of Mrs. Mabel Ward and Mr. Newman Ward of Portland.

The double ring rites were read by Rev. John Richardson before an altar banked with palms and baskets of pink gladioli and lilies.

Preceding the ceremony, Charles Martin sang "The Song of Ruth" and "Because."

The bride entered the church, escorted by her father, to the strains of the wedding processionals. She wore the wedding gown worn by her sister, Mrs. Forrest Lowe Jr., at the latter's wedding. Of white faille, the gown was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice and a long, sweeping skirt. A fingertip veil fell from a starched lace cap. For jewelry she wore a single strand of pearls. Her bouquet was a shower arrangement of pink roses and bouvardia.

Mrs. Forrest Lowe Jr. was matron of honor for her sister. Her frock was of yellow taffeta with matching lace mitts and a lace headpiece. She carried a nosegay of pink roses and yellow hyacinth, tied with yellow ribbon streamers.

Shirley Masten and Ina Joy Ward, bridesmaids, wore identical frocks of aqua taffeta with matching mitts and headpieces. Pink roses and bouvardia formed their nosegays.

Best man was John Walker, and ushers were James Mathews and Thomas Fitch.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Zeuthen of Portland. After the bride and groom cut the first slice of their three-tiered wed-

Complimented

Members of the Horizon club, high school group of the Camp Fire Girls, entertained at tea last Saturday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Bert E. Thomas, founder of the Camp Fire organization in Klamath Falls.

Guests included mothers of members, leaders and others interested in Camp Fire work. The affair was held in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church.

Bouquets of spring flowers and pussy willows decorated the tea table and were placed about the room.

Girls who served and assisted were Darlene Price, Fonda Parsons, Kathleen Pugh, Dolores Kidder, Arlene Brallier, Beverly Kohn, Barbara Swanson, Flo Ann Perkins, Marilyn Hemmingsen, Claudette Gleason, Betty Bennett, Marilyn Moore, Jean Selby, Jane Tingly, Nancy Lamb, Mary Jane Howard, Marilyn Johnson, Shermalee Henry and Dewey Lambert.

Assisting the girls with party preparations were Mrs. R. E. Hooker, Mrs. Morgan Johnson, Mrs. M. E. Cooper and Mrs. Martin Swanson.

Piano selections by Horizon club members furnished entertainment during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Henry this week announced the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Louise, to Jack Alan Robbins.

The wedding will be an event of May 2 at St. Paul's Episcopal church.

Both graduates of Klamath Union high school, Miss Henry attended Armstrong's Business college in Berkeley, Calif., and Mr. Robbins saw extensive naval service.

Luncheon Plans

A special meeting to elect officers for the coming year has been called for members of the auxiliary to the Klamath Medical association.

Wives of new doctors in Klamath Falls are particularly invited to the meeting which will follow a no-hostess luncheon on Wednesday, March 31.

Luncheon will be in the Pelican party room at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. For reservations call Mrs. C. V. Rugh, 4531, or Mrs. Marvin Nerse, 4402, by Monday.

College Shoppers Looking For Flats!

Spring shopping for classroom wear as well as campus parties. This was occupying the time left over after long needed sleep requirements were met by the young Klamath maids home for spring holidays.

The girls were looking for black flats and sheer black hose, a new wrinkle which has crept south from the Portland high schools and taken up with a bang by co-eds. The black flats are supplanting the well loved saddle oxfords which have been quite the thing for several years. Worn with white anklets except where angora socks and sweaters match.

Skirts are well below the calf and many a wardrobe has suffered with hems let down just as far as they can possibly go. Just before spring vacation started, one of the girls told me that the entire house had gone for a swap of clothes but our informant, being quite tall, didn't get much out of the vigorous trading going on between closets.

Both ballerina and pencil type skirts are popular but this spring the accordion pleated skirt is finding much favor. Few ankle length formals are shown, most of the girls still holding out for floor length. Gibson girl blouses with three-quarter sleeves are still good and in sweaters, angora is popular but cashmere is the swish of swishes. The girls have cut off last spring's coats. Seems that showing one inch of skirt isn't good, and a dozen or so inches is all right.

There's been quite a bit of interest in snow conditions at Lake O' the Woods where caretaker Eddie Morse sent out an SOS if you want to save all! Two parties went in earlier this week and yesterday Glenn Lorenz Jr., and Jimmy Howard skied in from the foot of the hill to remove snow from the Don Anderson cabin roof. All those coming back reported the area a thing of beauty with three feet of ice and a topping of snow on the lake. A late opening, looks like.

This is the forest primaval! Our 9-week-old black cocker puppy, Daman, out for a romp in the snow last Wednesday afternoon had an encounter with a jack rabbit. After fiercely wiggling his ears at the covering pup, the rabbit hopped off into a field off LeRoy street. Pacific Terrace residents reported seeing a rabbit about the same time.

Paying her first visit in several years, Mrs. Charles E. Brown, arrived here Wednesday night from Blue Lake near Eureka, with her son Phillip Brown. He returned home to the coast but Mrs. Brown will stay a week visiting her daughter and family, Dr. and Mrs. A. O. Roenicke. She has many friends here, having spent a winter in Klamath Falls while Dr. Roenicke was in the South Pacific.

Maryhurst students are enjoying the combination spring and winter vacation. Judge David R. Vandenberg and son Dave drove to Oswego last Monday night and brought home Mary Vandenberg, Patricia O'Leary, and Mary Kelleher of Ellensburg, Wash. and Mary Kay Walker of Olympia, Wash. Mary and Mary Kay are houseguests of Florence Narey, former Maryhurst student who plans to enter nurses training in San Francisco soon. Also home from Maryhurst is Barbara Brosterhouse. All the group were at lunch Friday.

Mrs. Stanley Staiger spent a short time here Thursday en route to her home at Oswego Lake near Portland from Laguna Beach, California, where she had driven south with her mother-in-law, Mrs. William Staiger. Joanne picked up son Bitay who has been here with his grandparents, the E. C. Woodruffs, and went on Thursday evening. Bitay has been very busy with the chickenpox which he brought from Oswego and passed on to cousins Rolland and Timothy Bailey. All are doing nicely.

Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Engelleke returned the early part of the week after a 10-day stay in Seattle where Dr. Engelleke busied himself at a surgical conference at King County hospital, and Mrs. Engelleke saw the shops. En route home they stopped in Portland for the Pacific Coast retriever trials and attended a banquet Saturday night. The trials were held Sunday. It poured buckets all day but the trials were held anyway—on Deer Island near Portland. During the Engellekes' absence, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Lindskog and daughter Nico Ann, were at their home. The Lindskogs returned Monday to their home in Redmond. Mrs. Lindskog and Mrs. Engelleke are sisters.

Among the students home for the holidays this last week were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Waggoner and son Donald who were visiting Bob's. Continued on Page 6

"IN YOUR EASTER BONNET WITH ALL THE FRILLS UPON IT"

Easter bonnets with all their fuss and frills will blossom along the streets of our town Easter Sunday morning. Little girls, along with the older ones, will join the fashion parade to church.

Our spring fashion tribute is to the losses tender years who'll turn out in their best bib and tucker. The little Drew sisters are children of Mr. and Mrs. Greer Drew of 1914 Lowell street. Sue Thompson lives with mother and daddy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Thompson at their home on Pacific Terrace. Just down the street from Thompsons is the Larkin family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Larkin and Jane.

The little Porter girls are the pride and joy of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Porter of 1966 Huron street.

—AND, A HAPPY EASTER TO YOU!

Piano Team Pleases At Final Concert

Despite the bad weather, a capacity crowd thronged to the Pelican theatre Wednesday evening to hear the brilliant piano artists of Vera Appleton and Michael Field. Hailed by critics as "two artists of the keyboard who play and think as one," the young musicians displayed an acute mastery of delicate tone shading and excellent interpretation.

The duo-piano concert was the last of the series of the Klamath Community Concert association, and was enthusiastically received. Among the selections which appealed to the audience, were: "Sobre Dunes" by Aron Knatchbull, "Lieder" by Kreisler and Rachmaninoff, "Vals" by Anton Arensky and the ever-popular "Blue Danube." A keen sense of rhythm and timing was evident in each of the selections which appeared on the program, and the two were called back for three encores by an appreciative audience.

As to the more personal side of this brilliant team, Miss Appleton and Mr. Field are not married, although their lives are closely linked in the musical world. She is the wife of a "young business executive" who enters a heavy domestic schedule from strenuous concert travel. Michael Field keeps a bachelor's apartment in New York and is devoting all of his spare time to a novel which has nothing to do

Betrothal News Is Told At Luncheon

Romantic news was learned Sunday afternoon, March 21, when Mrs. John Henderson Staub of Tulelake announced the betrothal and forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Dorris Weinberg, to Keith McGillivray. Mr. McGillivray is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McGillivray of Klamath Falls.

Announcement was made at a luncheon at the Pelican party room. Small crystal eggs containing tiny bouquets of flowers and the names of the young couple were used to tell guests the news. Easter bunnies and crystal candelabra completed the pretty table setting.

Date for the nuptials has been set for mid-August.

Guests were Mrs. William Sweet, Dale Motley, Mrs. Jack Myers, Mrs. Don Smith, Mrs. George Cornell, Mrs. Van Landrum, Mrs. Melvin Miller, Mrs. Tom Watters Jr., Betty Merrill, Doris Phillips, Mrs. Robert Erlandson, Mrs. John C. O'Neill, Mrs. Bob Waggoner, Mrs. Lawrence Weinberg, Mrs. Harold Geiger and from out-of-town, Mrs. Robert Stuart of Los Angeles, Mrs. Daniel Haners and Julia Gilbert, both of Berkeley, Calif.

Miss Weinberg is doing graduate work at the University of California in Berkeley and will get her masters degree this summer. She is affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority.

Mr. McGillivray was graduated last spring from the University of Oregon at Eugene and this fall will begin studies at dental college in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Stewart and Angus and Sara left today for Brookings for a week-end visit.

Wedding Bells At First Methodist

Irma Ruth McBride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee McBride of Klamath Falls, became Mrs. Richard Eugene Lowe in nuptials read at the First Methodist church Saturday evening, March 20. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Lowe, also of this city.

Rev. Victor Phillips read the ceremony before 130 friends and relatives of the young couple who gathered at 8 o'clock.

Palms, fern and baskets of pink carnations and white stock with many lighted tapers formed the pretty spring setting for the vows.

Mrs. John O'Connor played incidental music as guests assembled. Tapers were lighted by Yvette Sweet and Jean Hilton, who wore pink formal gowns.

Connie Hunt sang "Until" and "I Love Thee," accompanied by Mrs. O'Connor just before the ceremony.

The attractive bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of white satin with a fitted bodice and sleeves and a net yoke. An overskirt of net formed a long court train. For jewelry, Irma wore a strand of pearls and a small, dainty gold bar pin, a family heirloom belonging to her mother.

A fingertip veil of illusion net fell from a sweetheart cap of lace. Her traditional arm bouquet was of white carnations and lilies-of-the-valley tied with white satin streamers.

Maid of honor was Lynden Kint, who was attired in a gown of pink with matching long mitts. Her colonial bouquet was formed of white and yellow carnations and lilies-of-the-valley.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McBride wore an afternoon dress of gray crepe and a navy blue hat with pink trim. Mrs. Lowe, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue suit with matching hat.

Best man was Robert Lowe, brother of the bridegroom, and ushers were Albert Peterstetter and Robert Meade of Ashland.

The newlyweds and their parents received in the church parlors where their pretty wedding cake was served by Mrs. O. E. Thompson. At the punch bowl was Mrs. L. M. McBride, sister-in-law of the bride. In charge of the guest book was Ruth Landry.

For a wedding trip to San Francisco, the bride wore a suit of brown and beige with brown accessories. At the chapel was pinned a corsage from her bouquet.

In two weeks, the new Mr. and Mrs. Lowe will be at home in Klamath Falls.

Among out-of-town guests were Mrs. Ray Nelson of Mt. Shasta, the board of directors with and Mr. and Mrs. Gus Tlich of Tulelake, Calif.
