

Body Beautiful Contest Must Go, Says Big Brass

FORT LEWIS, March 31 (AP)—Beauty-lovers everywhere will remember the search for the GI body beautiful recently launched at this peacetime army post. The idea caught on like a flypaper under-stitch.

In nothing flat, the gym was jumping. Barbells banged. Pipe-armed corporals clung and grunted on the chin-up bars. Massive sergeants did pushups with gusto (A.T.'s). The air was filled with torn pinocchio decks and phone books, shredded by men who once had to use both hands to squeeze toothpaste out of a tube.

Lone craps-players sat sad-eyed in the barracks shooting dice with the mice—all the men were too busy building muscle to give any thought to the bones.

Then the breeze that blighted the body beautiful blew in from San Francisco.

Tracing Wheel Back Again

The time-saver tracing wheel like grandmother used is back on the market with the new look.

These handy gadgets have been scarce for years because they are made of steel.

Dressmakers' cartoon to be used with the wheel is also available now. Called Webster's tracing cartoon, it may be bought in book stores in red, orange, white and blue, or at department stores in dark blue and white.

The wheel-and-carbon method for marking darts, buttonholes, pockets and so forth is accurate and time saving. When cutting out a garment, (wrong sides folded) use two pieces of tracing carbon, one on the top layer of the fabric—he hoisted a flagon of ale with a flabby arm and forced it down—a gesture of utter despair.

under the pattern of course—and a second piece under the lower layer of fabric.

There is also a new button coverer on the market for home sew-era. The coverer is primarily for cottons but can be used for wool if parts are put together with less force. A different set is needed for each button size.
