Publisher Beaten Up By Hoodlums

JOLIET, Ill., April 8 (AP)—A former state legislator, publisher of a newspaper with outspoken political views, was reported near death today from a vicious beating.

William R. McCabe, 65, one-time Will county state's attorney, was found unconscious last night on a road near his farm home two miles east of Lockport. His skull was fractured. Both legs and one arm were broken.

"Well, they finally got me," were McCabe's first words on regaining consciousness.

He did not elaborate on who "they" might be. Miss Amelia Zelko, his secretary for 18 years and first person to speak with the injured man, said he had been fighting editorially what he considered a corrupt political set up in the county since 1936.

Frank J. Chmelik said he found what appeared to be bullet holes in both of McCabe's legs.

Police said McCabe told this story:

He left his farm home to meet friends at a hotel. A short distance down the road his car was forced to a halt by another automobile containing three men.

McCabe, publisher of the weekly "Spectator," is a candidate for a committee of Joliet's 46th precinct. He is seeking to unseat the incumbent, Alfred E. Schupp, long a political foe.

Greyhound To Up Bus Runs

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8 — Increased bus service for Klamath Falls is revealed by publication of new schedules, effective April 8, by Pacific Greyhound over lines recently taken over by that company from O. C. & N. Stages and Inland Stages. Two through schedules daily are now provided by Greyhound between Klamath Falls and Los Angeles via Alturas, Susanville, Reno, Bridgeport and Bishop. There are also two return trips daily over this scenic route, and this is in addition to Greyhound's present service of five round trips between Klamath Falls and Los Angeles via the Pacific highway.

By combining these two independent lines, Greyhound provides another through route between Los Angeles and Portland via Klamath Falls. This new route along the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada now gives travelers a choice of three different routes between Los Angeles and Portland; the other two being along the coast and inland through California's central valleys and over the Pacific highway, one branch of the latter route going via Klamath Falls and the Willamette highway.

UN Building Loan Asked

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—President Truman Wednesday asked congress to approve a loan of $65,000,000 to build permanent United Nations headquarters in New York City.

Mr. Truman said the people of all nations are looking to the UN for their best hope for freedom from the fear of war.

The loan is to be repaid over a period of 32 years in annual installments from the regular budget of the United Nations. It would bear no interest.

Congress in December, 1945, adopted the resolution inviting the United Nations to establish its site in the United States.

Theft Sentence Due Thursday

PORTLAND, April 8 (AP)—Richard M. Moore, 42, will be sentenced here today for his part in the robbery of the Lipman, Wolfe & Co. department store last July.

A circuit court jury convicted him yesterday of assault and armed robbery. In the holdup, $11,000 in cash and $24,000 in checks were taken from the store.

Moore was captured later following a similar holdup of the Olds, Wortman & King department store.

Donald Everett Bailey, 37, is held here for trial on a charge identical to Moore's. Police said a third man was involved in the robberies, but committed suicide before arrest in California.

Out-Of-Town Tax Legality Probed

ST. HELENS, April 8 (AP)—Legality of a city tax on out-of-town businesses is questioned in a suit filed here by the United States Bakery of Portland.

The summons, served on Mayor Glenn A. Leemon, alleges that the city's charter does not give it the right to tax or license out-of-town businesses operating here.

The license system was adopted recently. Firms from other cities which do business here are required to pay a higher fee than resident businesses.

Skunk On Loose In Portland

PORTLAND, April 8 (AP)—A skunk was on the loose somewhere in Portland Wednesday.

Named Genevieve, it was the pet of Mrs. Verma Raichel until escape from her house yesterday.

Mrs. Raichel assured that Genevieve was deodorized, and appealed for help in capturing her. But uninhibited skunks have been known to wander into Portland too, and apparently no one is willing to take a chance on Genevieve.

Hospitality Still Lives On Here

BALTIMORE, April 8 (AP)—Mrs. Elsie Young was a little hesitant to invite her unexpected caller in, since he was a horse.

The animal had walked down a flight of stairs, dragging his wagon behind him, to the door of her basement apartment.

She went into a quick huddle with the horse's owner, Robert Cloude, and two policemen. They decided to do the courteous thing and invite the horse in.

She opened both the front and rear doors and the animal was unhitched. With the air of one who had been there before, he walked through the house and out into the back yard.

Farm Bureau Hears Milk Quota Plea

The necessity for every dairyman to have a milk quota was explained by Wilbur Reeling, dairy chairman of the Klamath County Farm Bureau, at a board of directors meeting Monday at the Winema.

Among crop reports given was an interesting comparison of government goals with planting intentions of farmers and the possible surpluses and shortages that could result in spite of government controls.

State authorities are really concerned over the foot and mouth disease. Legislative Chairman E. A. Geary said, and over the movement of cattle because of drought into Oregon with its possibility of spreading the disease. Bureau President Lee Holiday and William Kittredge, prominent rancher, met with the governor and the board of control at Salem recently to discuss the seriousness of the situation. As a result, $22,500 in additional funds is being allowed for more inspectors and more rigid control, Geary reported. He also brought up legislation affecting agriculture now before congress.

A resolution of interest to cattlemen was one presented by a committee composed of Earl Kerns and Jim Elings from the Klamath Falls farm center of which Arthur Brettenstein is president.

This resolution recommends that federal government regulations governing the interstate livestock movement be amended so as to require "the thorough cleaning and disinfecting of all railroad cars and commercial trucks used in the interstate shipment of livestock before the loading of any livestock for such movement."

Frank Brown, chairman of the bureau roads committee, reported on progress made with the county court and the chamber of commerce in work on county road problems. Brown was advised on the vote taken by members at their center meetings on such matters as increased gas tax and registration fees and bonds for road building.

Walt Jendrzewski discussed the farm labor situation to obtain information for Henry Semon who is attending a committee meeting at Salem April 9, to work on this. He also explained the requirements for support prices to potato growers and procedures necessary to apply the marketing agreement to potatoes.

According to reports of center presidents, the snowstorm affected attendance at several meetings during the past month but others were exceptionally well attended. There were several resolutions brought up by center delegates for discussion and action at other centers before final action at the next county meeting on May 3.

Depression Seen Coming

LOS ANGELES, April 8 (AP)—The master of the national grange says the nation is headed for the biggest depression ever.

Addressing a group of insurance men, Albert S. Goss, of Washington, D. C., declared yesterday: "We are piling up a new abnormal food surplus and as soon as we stop furnishing tremendous credits to Europe we will have another collapse of our economy."

"Instead of a depression of the scope of 1929 and thereafter, we will have one so tremendous that it could possibly plunge the world into one of its darkest periods. Communism could flood over the world at that time."

The solution, as Goss sees it: Put Europe back on its feet, industrially, as well as agriculturally, and establish stable prices on the world market.

Youth Shot During Scuffle

SPOKANE, April 8 (AP)—A 17-year-old boy was shot through the shoulder by a detective Tuesday night in an alley scuffle, police said today.

Detective Roy Ginnold said he entered a side street to investigate a report that three boys were dragging a young girl down the alley. The youth sprang out and hit him with a timber, Ginnold said. The detective said he fired as the boy threatened another blow.

The girl was unharmed, police said. Two other boys aged 14 and 16 were turned over to juvenile authorities later.

Ashley Out, But Raises Wage Issue

record, Howe is believed to have been offered $6000 a year in verbal agreement.

Ashley asked members of the school board for a list of particulars in which he might have failed in the duties of the job, but the board declined.

Leroy Giesinger, Clatsop county member, remarked that Ashley "hadn't been getting along with certain teachers" and that the school system was in "no position to have anyone get high-handed with the teachers" but did not elaborate.

Harry Wilson, Malin member of the board, told Ashley: "We just wanted to make a change for the best interests of the system."

Ashley protested that the move was done in secrecy and that he hadn't been fairly dealt with, but was assured by the board that he wasn't being fired from the school system and that he was free to stay on as a teacher.

Regarding the pay angle, Wilson asked: "Do you think it's fair for you to hold us to paying the superintendent's salary? That would make you being paid a thousand dollars more than any other teacher."

Ashley replied that he did think it was fair in view of the circumstances under which his resignation was asked.

Then Wilson remarked that "the board didn't appoint you, Fred Peterson ran the board for years and he appointed his successor."

Peterson was superintendent for many years and Ashley had been clerk under him until Peterson resigned two years ago, when Ashley took over.

Any decision of Ashley's future in the county school system was left hanging by the board until the salary claim could be settled, and an offer of the job was sent to Howe. He accepted today.

UMT Blasted By Teacher

SPOKANE, April 8 (AP)—Proposed universal military training was criticized here yesterday as a jeopardy to American freedom.

William E. Goslin, superintendent of schools in Minneapolis, told the opening session of the 46th annual Inland Empire Education association convention that universal military training expenditures would total "twice as much" as to provide "decent" educational facilities.

"Any nation that will tolerate a continued deterioration of its public school system, such as we have witnessed during the last decade, and at the same time seriously consider a program of universal military training, is about to take the first step to end the longest term of freedom and prosperity enjoyed by any nation in history," he said.
