

Relay Event Is Pel Test

Tracksters In For Shakeup

In the Little Hayward relays, annual Southern Oregon conference cinder shakedown coming at Medford Saturday afternoon, the Klamath Falls Pelicans and Medford Black Tornado are seeded at the top with the Ashland Grizzlies a strong contender. Grants Pass apparently is not considered a track and field menace this semester.

The Little Haywards are patterned after the state-wide Hayward relays which will be run off April 16-17 at the University of Oregon. The Pel—a 26-man squad—will compete at Eugene also.

There are three types of events in the relay class—field, running and shuttle hurdle, plus individual events. The latter includes pole vault, discus and javelin.

Individual Events
Vault—John Stone.
Discus—Tom Shubert or Jack Nicol.
Javelin—Lester Foster or Bob Dodson.

Field Relay Events
Shot—Jerry Shubert, Len Heston and Dick Young.
High jump—Gary Dawes, John Stone and Pat Williams.
Broad jump—Tom Edwards, Bob Dodson and either Gary Dawes or Jim Flora.

Running Relays
440-yard—Edwards to Dodson to Flora to Jerry Shubert.
880-yard—Stone to Jerry Shubert to Pat Baker to Doug Baker.
1.6-mile relay—Stone to Edwards to Dick Jackstadt to Barker.
Two-mile relay—Charles Brightman to Jack Meiler to Harry Clawson to Cy Newman.
Distance medley—Jackstadt (440 yds.) to Maurice Dorman (880 yds.) to Tom Thornton (three-quarter mile) to Jim Thornton (mile).

Shuttle Hurdle Relay
Shuttle—Gordon Fletcher to Virgil Nelson to Roy Lundgren.
That latter event included five low hurdles (108 yards) per man.

Coach Paul Deller remarked that his track team has yet to make a personal appearance in Klamath Falls, pointing out that all the early competition is scheduled for the Rogue river valley because of the uncertain weather here. The first home event will come April 21 when the Grants Pass team is here for a dual engagement.

SOX MIGHT LOSE TED FOR WEEKS

BOSTON, April 9 (AP)—New England's hopes for an American league pennant today rode toward Boston with Ted Williams, homeward bound from New Orleans in a train berth for a possible appendectomy.

The slugging Red Sox outfielder who missed eleven successive spring training exhibition games because of a back injury and was held out of a 12th because of a cold, is being accompanied north by Paul Schreiber, coach and batting practice pitcher.

They are due here Saturday afternoon and will be met by Dr. Ralph McCarthy, Red Sox physician, who will examine Ted to determine whether an operation is necessary.

After a conference with a New Orleans physician Red Sox officials decided to send "the kid" home on a train so that he could relax in bed.

Should an operation be necessary it is estimated that Williams and his potent bat would be lost to the strengthened Sox for three to six weeks. His loss would greatly weaken the Boston attack.

The famous Founders' tree, giant California redwood and the tallest living thing on earth, measures some 364 feet above the ground. — Sports Afield.
