Johnson Free On Bail

Bail requirements for Dean Johnson, charged with larceny, were reduced from $3500 cash to $1500 cash Thursday and the 25-year-old former Klamath Concrete Pipe company bookkeeper was released from the county jail.

E. E. Driscoll, Johnson's attorney, posted the bail. The amount was reduced on recommendation of Deputy District Attorney J. H. Napier.

Johnson is accused of misappropriating $76.97 belonging to the pipe company while he was employed there last October. He has asked for a preliminary hearing in justice court.

Nutrition Appraisal Exams Set

Nutrition appraisal examinations of Klamath county high school students, will be held Monday, April 19, Dr. Seth M. Kerron, county health officer, said today.

Students 14, 15 and 16 years of age, born and reared in this county, will be examined at the Klamath county health department, 1949 Main street.

Students in all the city and county junior and senior high schools and the Sacred Heart academy are participating with the consent of their parents. Reports will be sent to the parents, family physician and county health officer.

One of four Klamath county is one of the four counties being studied in Oregon, the others are Clatsop, Coos and Deschutes. Oregon is the first state to take part in the survey and will be followed by other states in the western region.

This nationwide nutrition survey is the result of the research and marketing art of 1946 and is being conducted jointly by the U. S. public health service and the bureau of human nutrition of the U. S. department of agriculture.

The state and county health and nutrition agencies are directing the work in Oregon with advisory service of the state and county medical and dental societies. In each county the work is under the immediate direction of the county health officer.

The examining team is headed by Dr. Clara Starvick, nutrition scientist from Oregon State college, and

Dr. Sheldon Dray, assistant surgeon, U. S. public health service, with assistance of two biochemists, a bacteriologist, a dentist, a dental X-ray technician, two public health nurses and others.

A completely equipped mobile unit will be brought here.

Any student who meets the requirements, as listed, may participate in the survey by consulting the school principal.

Templar Death Learned Here

Word of the sudden death of Mrs. Earl J. (Dorothy) Templar at her home in Brookings early Wednesday morning, was received here by relatives late in the afternoon. Mrs. Templar, 45, died at the Templar hotel which she and her husband operated in the Curry county town.

The Templar family lived here for many years and just three years ago moved to Brookings. Mrs. Templar served two years ago as department president of the American Legion auxiliary, state of Oregon, and was long active in Legion affairs here. She was also active in Eastern Star circles and was worthy matron of Aloha chapter here in 1940 and also a member of Aloha chapter, Past Matrons club.

At the time of her death, Mrs. Templar was worthy matron of the Brookings chapter of OES. Her mother, the late Mrs. Cora Sanderson, served as worthy matron of Aloha chapter in 1911.

Mrs. Templar is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ernel (Margaret) Hosley of San Jose, Calif., and Mrs. Archie (Dorothy) Diment of Eugene. Both were in Brookings today. Four grandchildren also survive.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Otterbein of Klamath Falls left Thursday for Brookings to attend final rites.
