

Vows Exchanged Sunday Afternoon

Jean Russell Hauger chose white lilacs and a single white orchid for her lovely bridal bouquet when she exchanged vows Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock with Stanley Van Norman Jones of San Francisco. Jean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Hauger of this city and the wedding took place at their home, 1540 Pacific Terrace. Mr. Jones is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lucas Jones of Denver, Colorado.

The ceremony was read by the Rev. David Barnett of the First Presbyterian church before a fire-place banked with white lilacs and huckleberry and tall white candles. White lilacs, carnations and candles covered the mantel.

Mrs. Don J. Zumwalt played incidental music before the wedding party entered the living room, and she also played the wedding marches.

Jean was given in marriage by her father. She wore a lovely gown of heavy white lace fashioned with brief sleeves, a deep neck yoke above the bateau neckline of her frock. Lace mitts and a halo of braided white net with an elbow length veil completed her costume. She wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

The bride's attendant was her sister, June Hauger, who came from Corvallis for the wedding. June wore a frosted blue marquisette gown, similar to the bride's, with blue mitts. She carried a corsage of baby pink roses.

The little flower girl was the bride's niece, Sandra Kay Borchert of Coos Bay. She wore a pale yellow dotted swiss floor length skirt and carried a French bouquet of forget-me-nots.

The best man was the groom's father, Mr. Arthur Lucas Jones and the ushers were William Borchert and Don Kirkpatrick. Mrs. William Borchert, (Kay Dunbar), and Bonnie Hauger of Seattle, greeted guests at the door.

Following the ceremony the bride and groom cut their beautiful wedding cake wreathed by a circle of lilacs of the valley, pink roses and white hyacinths. Mrs. W. O. McMillan served the cake. Miss Marie McMillan presided at the coffee service and Mrs. R. C. Woodruff and Dr. Buford Hargus were at the champagne punch bowl. Assisting about the rooms was Mrs. Alfred J. Henneffer of Tacoma, who flew in Sunday morning from Washington for the wedding. She is the former Betty Hauger.

The bride's mother wore a flowered print afternoon frock with a purple orchid, and Mrs. Jones, mother of the groom, wore a grey striped afternoon gown with an orchid.

As the bride tossed her bouquet, it fell into the hands of Bonnie Hauger who is herself to be a bride in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for a wedding trip which will take them to Southern California and they will then be at home at 132 Grizzly drive in San Francisco. For traveling the bride wore a beige suit with an orange top coat, and a beige hat with an orange quill. The orchid from her bouquet was pinned to her jacket.

The bride is a well known member of the younger set here and for several years has held an interesting position with Ransohoff's in San Francisco. Mr. Jones is in business in the bay city.

Guests at the wedding included 40 old friends of the bride's family.

Yvette Sweet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Sweet of 1340 Wilcox, was initiated last week in Alpha Gamma Delta sorority at the University of Oregon. She was pledged earlier in the year.

Voice Recital

An interesting song recital was enjoyed last Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church, when a delightful and varied program was given by three attractive young singers, Colleen Creswell, Marie Casjens and John Crosby. The songs were chosen from the finest in music literature and were artistically and intelligently interpreted with a background of fine piano accompaniment as played by Mrs. George McIntyre.

Mrs. McIntyre presented the three voice students. The audience was impressed with the richness of tone quality, clearness of diction and fine interpretation as divulged by the three singing students.

Noticeable in Colleen Creswell's singing were her wide range and the versatility she showed in handling equally well the quiet pianissimo work in the old Irish air, "Bendemeer's Stream" and the brilliance of the "Prelude" from Ronald's "A Cycle of Life."

John Crosby gave a remarkable performance in view of the fact of his brief study. His full, vibrant baritone was especially effective in Schubert's dramatic "Omnipotence" and in Flegler's beautiful song, "The Horn."

Mrs. Casjens, singing of the Mendelssohn contralto aria, "O Rest in the Lord" showed the fine maturity of interpretation with which she always sings. She and John Crosby ended the program with two duets in the lighter vein, Cole Porter's "In the Still of the Night" and Kreisler's "Stars in My Eyes" both of which were well accepted by the audience.

Elks Party

The younger set danced Wednesday evening in the Elks ballroom when the Elks entertained Klamath county high school students with their annual spring party. Baldy's band played and there was a Coke bar upstairs with refreshments served in the lodge dining room after the dance.

John Schubert was chairman, assisted by a student committee and also a group of Elks.

The party was judged so successful that plans are now being talked for a late fall formal for the youngsters.

Luncheon

Mrs. N. H. Bogue entertained at her home on Pacific Terrace at luncheon Thursday and the affair turned out to be a mother-daughter party.

Guests were Mrs. Charles Thomas and Mrs. Walter Lassett, Mrs. Rose M. Poole and Mrs. Prentice Yeomans, Mrs. Charles Hansen and Mrs. Nell F. Black, Mrs. Fred Schallack, Mrs. Twyla Ferguson, and Mrs. Bogue's daughter, Mrs. George H. Clark.

White Flowers On St. Paul's Altar

White flowers decked the altar of St. Paul's Episcopal church Saturday evening, April 17, when Margie Bell Johnson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Johnson of 572 Conger, became the bride of Mr. Thomas J. Mahoney Jr., of Portland, son of Mrs. Thomas J. Mahoney and the late Mr. Mahoney.

The ceremony was read by the Rev. Frederick C. Wissenbach at half-past 7 o'clock in the presence of families of the young couple and their many friends.

Snapsdragons and carnations, with many candles were used in the church, with pew bouquets of white snapsdragons tied with satin ribbons.

Mrs. Samuel Mushen played incidental organ music as Peggy Clark of Berkeley, cousin of the bride, lighted the candles. Jewell Howard sang "O Promise Me" just before the bride's party entered the church to the strains of the traditional wedding march.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of net with lace bodice and skirt insets. Her net veil was caught by a coronet of orange blossoms and fell in a sweeping cascade to the hem of her skirt. She carried a white prayer book and a cluster of stephanotis tied with white satin ribbons.

Mrs. Paul Aher of Portland was the bride's only attendant. She wore a pale green marquisette gown with a matching hat and her arm bouquet was of pink roses. The best man was John Hall, close friend of the groom.

Ushers were Fred C. Johnson, brother of the bride, and Al Flegel of Roseburg.

Following the ceremony a reception was arranged at the Pelican party room where the young couple greeted their friends and cut their wedding cake which graced the bride's table. An arrangement of pink and white gladioli was used on the table. Mrs. John C. Boyle of Medford served the bride's cake and she was assisted by Mrs. Harlan P. Bosworth Jr. of Medford. Mrs. Leslie Rogers presided at the punch bowl.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Johnson wore a moss green silk with a small brown hat and corsage of talkman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney left shortly after the reception for a wedding trip which took them to the Oregon coast and south to San Francisco. For traveling the bride wore an old rose wool dressmaker suit with black accessories. They will be at home in Portland this next week.

The bride is a graduate of Klamath Union high school and of Oregon State college and is a member of an old Klamath county family. She and her husband met in Portland where both are in insurance offices there. Mr. Mahoney is a graduate of the University of Oregon.
