Two Burglars Are Caught Breaking In

The county jail Saturday held two confessed burglars, both caught in the act of breaking into business houses Friday night.

Leo Edward Masebas, 28, resident of the Klamath Annex, dropped through a skylight into an apartment behind the Red Rooster cafe on Klamath about 11:30 p. m. and was promptly taken into tow by Lionel Pinola, cook at the cafe.

Mrs. Don Simpson and her 7-month-old baby were asleep in the apartment when Mrs. Simpson was awakened by a noise on the roof. She went into the cafe to get Pinola, who returned to the apartment in time to find Masebas on the bedroom floor.

The man had removed a pane in the skylight and dropped through, missing the bassinette where the baby was sleeping by inches.

Masebas told officers he was "looking for a place to sleep" but later admitted he had intended to burglarize the restaurant.

Don Simpson, operator of the Red Rooster, signed the break-in complaint against Masebas.

Earlier Friday night Leroy Wahl, 36, of Tulelake, was discovered trying to break in the front door of the Garrison Equipment on S. 6th. Art Treibwasser, driving by, spotted Wahl breaking the door glass, stopped and walked up to Wahl.

About that time, Ray Garrison, operator of the company, came by and he and Treibwasser held Wahl for police.

They said the man admitted to them he was trying to rob the office.

Throng Cheers Quartets

A full house rolled with repeated applause Friday night at the "parade" of quartets staged by Klamath chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc. The Pelican theatre was jammed for the affair, which was generally acclaimed as an entertainment highlight of the year here.

Charles Merrill, national president of the barber shop organization, and a Reno lawyer, was master of ceremonies. The program was arranged by John Houston, Klamath chapter president, who led the Klamath barber shop chorus in a series of numbers that started each half of the program.

Quartets from Reno, San Francisco, the East Bay, Ashland, Salem, Oswego, Eugene and Port Angeles, Wash. were heard, along with the Eagle four and the House Brothers of Bonanza, the latter two from the Klamath chapter. As the evening progressed the audience became increasingly appreciative, and at the end was reluctant to permit the affair to close.

Klamath chapter presented some special entertainment highlights, including two skits featuring Olney P. 1 as a Swedish g'1 and Bill Bullard as an Irish lassie. The Klamath Haywire orchestra was featured in both halves of the program, with Piccolo Player Fred Houston in charge.

After the program, the visitors and participants were entertained at a reception at the Willard hotel banquet room.—ME.

Extravaganza Big Success

The usual packed house greeted the annual all-city grade school extravaganza Friday night in KUHHS auditorium and each of the seven schools had a rooting section which made it virtual, impossible to tell which of the separate performances pleased most.

Riverside opened the program with a Western sequence, followed by Corcoran's theme which was also on the Western plan. Roosevelt presented "Snow White" and Pelican's all-song and vaudeville program was "Sweetheart of Song." Fremont's chorus sang "Songs Around the Campfire" with Mills school's nautical program followed by Fairview's scene in an artist's studio.

Much credit goes to the music directors and the training done by others in the school system. Mrs. Patricia Hunt was general director of the highly successful show which brought hundreds of parents and youngsters to the auditorium.

Gunplay Flares On School Lot

GRANTS PASS, April 26 (P)—Gun play in the midst of a dozen children on the Kerby school grounds in which one wild shot was fired resulted in the arrest Friday by state police of David Leroy Carl, 66, living near the school. A warrant charging Carl with assault with a deadly weapon was issued today by District Attorney W. F. Johnson.

Sergeant C. R. Borgman of the state police stated that Carl pulled a revolver on Glen Young, 34, who was playing baseball with the children. Young struck the gun barrel as one slug buried itself in the ground. Young said he wrestled the weapon from Carl and slugged him into insensibility with it.

The handle of the weapon was shattered.

A past misunderstanding between the two men was the motive, Borgman said.

Iowa Tornado Kills Five

IONIA, Ia., April 26 (P)—A tornado "that sounded like a train" struck this little Northeast Iowa community Friday, killing five persons and injuring 10 others.

The twister, which flattened about one-fourth of Ionia, (300 population) caused damage estimated by Mayor C. De Wild at between $150,000 and $200,000. Two churches, a store and more than a half dozen homes were leveled by the tornadoic winds.

From here the tornado leaped 20 miles to Elma, then another 15 miles to Cresco, destroying buildings on several farms.

Marriage Proves Too Much, Quick

DENVER, April 26 (P)—A 73-year-old Denver man found in three hours of marriage that he was "initiated into a turmoil wholly beyond endurance."

George R. Gibbs petitioned Denver district court Friday for annulment of his marriage to Alice M. Gibbs of San Bernardino, Calif., February 10. In his complaint he said he found his wife quarrelsome and domineering. Three hours after the ceremony, he said, he caught a train for Denver.

VICTORY

WASHINGTON, April 26 (P)—The oleo forces won a test against the butter bloc in the house today. This makes it virtually certain the house will pass legislation to end all federal taxes on oleomargarine.

E. Baughman To Manage KF Theatres

Earl Baughman has been appointed district manager of the Klamath Falls theatres. It was announced by Lloyd Lamb, general manager of the George Mann theatre group. Baughman held the same position here before entering the service in 1943.

He took over the job Sunday. Walter Eschbeck, former manager, has resigned his connection with the theatres to take over business interests elsewhere.

Baughman was manager here through 1942 and entered the coast guard in May of 1943. His principal assignment during three years service was personnel work.

He rejoined the theatre company after the war and served as district manager at Eureka, Calif., until coming here now.

"I've hoped to get back to Klamath Falls since getting out of the service. It's good to be here. I enjoyed my work in Klamath more than any other place," Baughman said.

Mrs. Baughman will join him as soon as he locates a home.

Copco Files Damage Suit

An equity suit for damages and to enjoin the Rogers Construction company from interfering with a power and water facilities belonging to The California Oregon Power company along the route on the north entrance to Klamath Falls, now under construction, has been filed in circuit court.

Copco seeks $100 actual damages for facilities already destroyed by the construction work, and a $10,000 punitive damages, claiming that the construction firm threatens to damage more of its facilities.

The threatened area is on Lowell, Dolores, LeRoy, Fremont, Manzanita, Portland, Melrose, Earle, Esplanade and Alameda streets, the suit contends.

The construction firm started work on the $261,108 north entrance highway project this week.

Copco asks that the Rogers company be enjoined from further molesting its water and power facilities and preventing the power company from serving the public.

R. B. Maxwell of Farrens and Maxwell law firm, represents the power company.

Sutherland Takes Yakima Post

Dick Sutherland, coach of The Dalles Indian football team which won the state championship last fall, will coach next year at Yakima, Wash.

That announcement over the week-end ended talk that Sutherland might come to Klamath Falls to succeed Ed Ryan. He had reportedly considered such a move.

The school boards may discuss the basketball and football coaching situations at meetings tonight.

Petrified Skeleton Turned Up

MALIN, April 26—Petrified bones believed to be from a human skeleton were located 10 feet beneath the earth's surface Friday.

The discovery was made in the course of excavation for a sewer line for the new Malin park. U. D. Walker made the discovery and reported to M. M. Stastny of the park board.

A large piece believed to be a leg bone was uncovered. It was buried in sandstone.

No further attempt at excavation was made at the point, and the area was covered up before Stastny learned of the find. It will be reported to archaeologists of the University of Oregon.

The bones were obviously prehistoric and their depth in the soil must place their origin back many centuries, Stastny said.

Ankeny Trial Set For Tuesday

Trial of Lewis H. Ankeny, indicted for larceny by bailer, has been moved back until Tuesday. Deputy Prosecutor J. H. Napier said Saturday. Originally the trial had been called for Monday.

Last year Ankeny was acquitted of a charge of embezzlement, both counts growing out of the conduct of his stock brokerage business.

Attorney U. S. Balentine will act as chief prosecutor for the case, substituting for District Attorney Clarence A. Humble. Ben Anderson of Portland represents Ankeny.

Crest Street Work Slated

Crest street at the new Gems baseball park is being widened 10 feet by the county road department in preparation for traffic to the baseball stadium this summer.

The east fence of the fairgrounds has been torn down and will be moved 10 feet, the present ditch along the street will be filled in and the street widened from its present 20 feet to 30.

In replacing the fairgrounds fence, new posts will be used. The old ones were virtually rotted out. The county's improvement of Crest street will only extend from 8. 6th back to the end of the fairgrounds property for the present, but a future plan is to revamp the entrance of Crest on Shasta way.

Eventually, Engineer Wally Heeter said, Crest street should be surfaced just the fairgrounds and baseball park.
