PTA Members Level Blast At 'Objectionable' Radio Shows

By LOIS STEWART

Parental cooperation in black-listing objectionable radio programs and the products they advertise will be sought at the closing business session this afternoon of the 35th annual Congress of Parents and Teachers.

This was the recommendation of the board of managers to the convention in adopting the report of Mrs. Arthur N. Green of Portland state radio chairman. Mrs. Green's report and the recommendation for black-listing certain programs, were based on her findings in a survey conducted during the past year among Parent-Teacher associations throughout the state.

Mrs. Green's report will also include recommended programs for child and adult listening.

Crime Programs

According to the 3332 replies received to the questionnaire, fully three-fourths of them condemn as "most objectionable" programs dealing with violence, crime and death and with the dubious honor of being "the most disliked" going to "Inner Sanctum" mysteries and second place to "The Whistler."

Approved programs of an educational nature included, "Information Please," "Chicago Round Table," "Town Meeting of the Air," and such children's programs as "Dagwood and Blondie."

Mrs. Green asked that the final action of the convention be reported to the federal communications commission, local radio stations and to the sponsors of the objectionable as well as the approved programs.

Work of the 35th congress continued at OVS yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Jennelle Moorhead of Eugene presiding. A school of information, "Tools to Build Better Locals" was of interest to the delegation which is showing keen interest in all sessions of the congress.

Mrs. J. J. Garland, vice president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, spoke last night at KUHS auditorium on the convention theme, "The World at Our Doorstep." She said:

"I wonder if it is too much to suggest that all adults, whether they have children or not, stand in the position of parents to the younger generation.

"It is the responsibility of adults to conduct themselves so as to give children an example of decent living, of high principles, moral courage, clean minds, service to their fellow men, a reverence for God.

"Is this too much? Society needs a pattern of order as never before. That pattern must begin in the home, with each member in it, lack of self discipline on the part of adults is very evident in many places. They strive violently to do what they want to do, when they want to do it, when the ancient pattern has been one of moral responsibility to do the thing which has to be done—whether you want to or not."

The evening session was concluded by the showing of the film, "Human Growth," which has been financed by the E. C. Brown Trust fund with the technical assistance of the University of Oregon.

This film was approved by the board of managers in January as a visual aid in classroom instruction where there had been adequate pupil preparation in the schoolroom in appropriate subject area such as health education, biology and other fields.

The question and answer period conducted by Dr. Adolph Weinzirl of the division of social hygiene education, University of Oregon medical school, was spirited and the trend of thought evolved around the age students should be permitted to see the film.

It was the consensus of opinion that the film should be shown to a younger age level than originally planned. The picture has not been shown in classrooms but to individual PTA units and councils.

This morning's session opened with the president's breakfast and conference at the Willard hotel with Mrs. H. H. Hargreaves, state president, presiding. Mrs. Garland spoke again to the group as did several others, Mrs. H. H. George, Portland, parliamentarian, and Mrs. A. H. Publ, vice president of region 8.

The congress convened at OVS at 10 a. m. with Dr. Ralph Eckert, consultant in parent education, bureau of adult education of the California department of education, the principal speaker.

According to Dr. Eckert, a program of sex education should be integrated throughout the pre-school and elementary years. At the pre-school level, parents should be helped to understand the importance of developing wholesome attitudes. To do this, they must themselves have wholesome attitudes, adequate information and specific help in exactly what to tell and how so that they may break through psychological blocks which are commonly present because of the manner in which the parents themselves received their knowledge.

Dr. Eckert placed emphasis on family life in high school, discussed courses in family relations in state colleges and said that every community should support a family service agency.

"All of this background should help the individual who leaves school not to think he has all the answers but to have an appreciation of the value of such psychological help as is available through books, group discussions and individual guidance facilities," he said.

A safety luncheon in the OVS banquet hall was presided over by Mrs. Hargreaves and Mrs. Hugh Haddock, vice president of region 4 Klamath Falls. The panel discussion was on "Safety at Our Doorstep," with Mrs. R. H. Walter, state safety chairman, as moderator. Participants were James R. Banks, director, traffic safety division, department of state, Salem; "Traffic and Bicycle Safety," Paul G. Warren, driver consultant, office of the secretary of state; "Driver Education and Driver Training," Sidney King, director of safety department, Oregon State Motor association, and a summary by Robert A. Pike, field representative national safety council.

The afternoon session took up at 3 p. m. in the OVS theatre and tonight's banquet at the school will feature an address by Mrs. Garland, "Assignment Tomorrow."

Field To Be Named For Chessman

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Sullivan has notified Senator Cordon (R-Ore.) that he will approve naming the athletic field at Tongue Point naval station after the late Merle R. Chessman, who was publisher of the Astoria (Ore.) Astorian Budget.

Oregonians have proposed making the field a memorial to Chessman, who was one of the advocates of the establishment of the Tongue Point base.

Britain To Quit Palestine

LONDON, April 29 (AP)—Britain emphatically reaffirmed Wednesday her determination to withdraw from Palestine by May 15, officially from the United States.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin made the reaffirmation in a short blunt statement to the house of commons.

He recalled that on October 16 Colonel Secretary Arthur Creech Jones had told the general assembly of the United Nations that, under certain conditions, Britain would be prepared to continue the administration of Palestine until independence was achieved if the Jews and the Arabs settled their differences.

"But there has been no agreement between the Jews and the Arabs," Bevin said. "And, moreover, withdrawal of British administrative personnel has begun and is proceeding rapidly, and we cannot reverse the process at this late hour."

Bevin was asked if negotiations are under way in the United States "to require the presence of British troops in Palestine after August 1."

"British soldiers are to be withdrawn by that date under government plans."

"There are no such negotiations," Bevin replied. "The only negotiations going on are those in the United Nations."

Lorenz To Go To SA Confab

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Lorenz of Klamath Falls will sail for New York May 5 on the SS Uruguay for Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, where Lorenz will attend the convention of Rotary International as a delegate of the Klamath Rotary club.

Lorenz, who was active in the purchase of the Klamath Heating company by local people, wrote his office here that en route to New York he has visited several similar central heating plants.

After the convention at Rio, the Klamath couple plan to visit Buenos Aires, Santiago, and Lima, by plane. They will then fly north through Central America, and will visit Mexico City. They will come home by way of Los Angeles, a bout two months after the start of the long journey.

Boeing Unit Strike Talks Postponed

SEATTLE, April 29 (AP)—Top level discussions were still pending Wednesday in the week-old Boeing strike as strikers increased efforts to halt remaining work in the plant.

Five officers of the International Association of Machinists yesterday postponed a planned meeting with Boeing officials. They said they wanted to confer first with heads of the affiliated aeronautical mechanics union, which has 15,000 on strike at the Boeing plant.

However, they scheduled a press conference for late today to make undisclosed announcements.

Harold J. Gibson, president of the local union, reported new moves meanwhile by the union to halt engineering and office work still continuing at the p. m.

Passes Cancelled

The union pulled out its 30 plant maintenance men. It also cancelled passes to AFL operating engineers who take care of the heating of the plant.

Gibson said also that pickets have succeeded in stopping some railroad engines from bringing supplies to Boeing. And he reported that the union has appealed to other Seattle unions to respect its picket lines.

The five-man panel of IAM officers who met yesterday with the local union includes Al Hayes, Washington, D. C. and Roy Brown, Los Angeles, general vice presidents, and Joseph McGreen, Salt Lake City, and C. L. Bentley and Gary Cotton, both Seattle, international representatives.

Company officials yesterday called 500 factory and maintenance workers back for "emergency" work.

Oregon Building Sale Reported

PORTLAND, April 29 (AP)—The eight-story Oregon building has been purchased from the Oak Street Association, Inc., by Thomas Autzen, plywood manufacturer here.

The transaction is the largest of the year. Price was not disclosed. Autzen made the purchase by buying all the stock in the investment corporation. The stock was valued at about $800,000.

FAVOR

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—President Truman said today he is still in favor of statehood for Hawaii.

He told a news conference he had discussed pending legislation with Senator Cordon (R-Ore.).

Exhibits Up At Ankeny Trial Slate

Some 20 exhibits, most of them bank records of accounts maintained by Lewis H. Ankeny and the Lewis Ankeny Stockbrokerage company, were admitted in evidence at the trial of the former broker Wednesday morning, but very little direct testimony other than that of the complaining witness, Gus Anderson, has been heard.

Ankeny is under indictment for larceny by baillee, accused of misappropriating $167,637 given him by Anderson to purchase 35 shares of Marshall Field stock in the summer of 1946.

Anderson testified he met Ankeny on the local golf course and was persuaded to invest in Marshall Field and other stocks. Before the stocks were delivered, the Ankeny company folded and was eventually forced into involuntary bankruptcy.

The company's creditors attached the remaining assets, including accounts in both local banks, and Anderson received $737 back from the bankrupt estate.

Included in many exhibits being entered by the prosecution today are copies and originals of bank records of the bank accounts. Glen D. Jones of the First National bank and Robert J. O'Sullivan of U. S. National brought in the records.

Each exhibit was objected to as immaterial by Defense Attorney Ben Anderson and each objection was overruled by Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg.

In his opening statement to the jury, Attorney Anderson indicated that he would try to lay the blame for the failure of the Ankeny company at the door of the Suro company of San Francisco which, he said, had loaded Ankeny with a Philippine mining stock that his bottom then had taken his good stocks to pay off for the mining stock.

That Anderson said, made Ankeny unable to make good on his commitments to Gus Anderson and other creditors here.

Jews Capture Jaffa Today

TEL AVIV, Palestine, April 29 (AP)—A Hebrew flag went up over the Hassan Beg mosque Wednesday, signaling the capture of the entire Mandsheh border zone of all-Arab Jaffa by fighters of Irgun Zvai Leumi.

There was no confirmation here of the Palestine government's announcement in Jerusalem that RAF fighter planes and British army units had gone into action to break up the Jewish attack on Jaffa. The British district governor said last night, however, the British would not tolerate Jewish capture of Jaffa.

The Jewish underground announced the victory with loud speaker trucks in Jewish Tel Aviv. Crowds poured into Allenby road for a sight of the blue and white flag over the Moslem mosque and cheered truckloads of khaki-clad Irgun fighters, some of them wearing captured Arab fezzes.
