Ray Perry Hits Home Run

REDDING, May 5 (Special)—The Klamath Gems had difficulty finding the right pitcher last night and before Lefty Bob Blengino came to the slab in the second inning the Reddies had scored 10 runs. Right-hander Harry Christensen went the distance for the Browns with average success except in the fifth inning. Score was 10-6.

Crowning blow of the game was Manager Ray Perry's 340-foot homer over the left field wall with the bags saturated in the second inning. The smash came off Art Meyer after Meyer had walked three straight men. It was Perry's fourth homer of the short season.

A combination of four hits, an error and a walk gave the Browns five runs off starter Bill Schoettgen in the first frame, the prime hit being Don Carreira's double with the bags loaded. He was thrown out trying to stretch it to a triple. Schoettgen was the losing pitcher.

Blengino thoroughly hand-picked the Browns after the second frame, giving up five hits, no runs and fanning eight. Dick Small contributed a triple and Vince Bianchini three singles to the Gem offense.

The two teams met here again tonight.

Dodgers Rampage At Oroville Park

Tail scores predominated in the Far West circuit last night—the league is getting to be a hitter's paradise. At Oroville the Medford Dodgers slammed out a 19-13 triumph over the Red Sox in a game marked by 13 errors and 24 hits.

The palm for slugging went to the Marysville Braves and third baseman Gary Waldron. Waldron clouted a 360-foot double to deep center with men on first and third to drive in the winning run of a 12-11 score over the Pittsburg Diamonds.

That game went 13 innings and four hours.

At Santa Rosa, the Willows Cardinals lost their fifth straight game by 10-9, the victory for the Pirates marked by Shortstop Don Wagner's third homer of the season.

Frisky Dog Leads To Bridge Fall

ROME, Wis., May 5 (AP)—A frisky dog out of the road leading to this southeastern Wisconsin community Monday.

The pup was trotting across the bridge over the Bark river, when Frank Beaver, 49, drove along in his car. Beaver spotted the dog, braked his car and swerved into a steer girder.

The west end of the span plunged into the water, with Beaver's car atop it. It was slightly shaken up. The dog scrambled to safety.

The bridge, the only link to the northeast out of Rome, served the only road to the town of less than 200 population.

Weather Moves Duck Tilts To Lewiston

LEWISTON, Ida., May 5 (AP)—Oregon and Washington State were neck and neck today for the northern division coast conference baseball lead after dividing yesterday's twin bill.

Washington State took the nine-inning opener 1-0 but dropped the seven-inning nipscap 3-1.

Both of the tilts, shifted to Lewiston, Idaho, because of the weather, were pitching battles. Washington State got only three hits off Oregon's Lokand in the opener, but combined Chuck Brayton's double with a Duck error to score the only run in the seventh inning. Ward Rocky gave up seven hits for WSC.

Both teams picked up four hits in

Angels Keep Pace By Taking Twinks 4-3 In 10 Innings

By The Associated Press

San Francisco and Los Angeles remained in a virtual tie today for first place in the Pacific Coast Baseball league standing after winning last night's series opener.

The Angels won their hard way 4-3 in 10 innings. Pinks Woods of Hollywood held them to one hit for eight innings and might have won his game but for a ninth-inning error by Carl Cox. Mickey Burnett then blasted a single that scored two runs and Woods was derrieked after giving up only two hits.

Gordon Maltzberger took up the hurling burden and fanned Don Dallessandro and Eddie Sauer, two dangerous hitters. But Jim Tabor, former Red Sox third baseman, socked a home run in the tenth. To protect the Angels' 4 to 3 edge, Relief Hurler Lee Anthony fanned the side. Al Libke, Gene Handley and Lou Kahn, to the cheers of many of the 10,126 fans at Hollywood's Gilmore field.

RAINERS LICKED

Jack Graham, San Diego's mighty clouter, soaked in three runs as the Padres whipped the Seattle Rainiers at Seattle 7 to 2. Tom Seats pitched a steady and effective game, giving up seven hits while his mates collected 14 from the offerings of Johnny Gorsica and Jimmy Hedecock.

Lefty Lou Toth pitched Sacramento to a 7 to 3 victory over Oakland. Manager Casey Stengel's lads, who can't seem to win the opening games of a series, dropped the sixth straight game opener. It was a fairly tight ball game until the eighth with the Sacs leading, 4 to 3. Then Rip Russell and Ernie Lombardi poled successive home runs.

Vince Dibiasi of Portland and lanky Cliff Melton of San Francisco hooked up in a tight pitching duel in San Francisco and the Sacs took a 3 to 0 decision. Dibiasi allowed only six hits but Melton granted four. It was Melton's fourth win in succession and enabled San Francisco to maintain its slender lead.

Stahley Can Go To Toledo

SEATTLE, May 5 (AP)—Neil Stahley, backfield coach at the University of Washington, can have a head coaching post if he wants it.

Stahley confirmed reports yesterday that he has been offered a top post at Toledo (Ohio) university. He would not say if he accepted or rejected the offer.

At Toledo, Athletic Director Dave Connelly said it was the second effort the school has made to get Stahley as head coach. He rejected the post before signing with Washington.

Stahley was head coach at George Washington university before joining forces with Washington's new head coach, Howie Odell.

Szasz Scheduled For Mat Return

Al Szasz, the startled looking Hungarian from St. Louis, is returning to the local mat to open Friday night's armory muscle card. Szasz has been away several months but last summer was an honored performer on the circuit.

Opponent for Szasz will be doughty old Buck Weaver, and the match is called for four rounds.

It will pave the way for the two-way main event, which has Pete Belcastro and Frankie Stojack in five heats and Georges Dusetti against Glenn Knox, no time limit finish match.

Hawaii Rallying To Send Coach To Olympics

BY DOUG LOVELACE

HONOLULU, May 5 (AP)—Twenty years ago a bright-eyed young man with a freshly-inked university of Hawaii teacher certificate showed up at the sugar plantation village of Puunene of Maui island.

Keep the kids busy, he was told. Give them something to do. They like to swim.

Solei Sakamoto, Hawaii-born Japanese, considered himself just a paddler. So he set out to teach himself to swim well. The man whose teams in later years won four national AAU titles practiced long hours just inside the roaring Pacific surf.

Then he took the youngsters into plantation ditches and taught what he had learned. Before long, Sakamoto's kids were rated tops among island swimmers. In Hawaii, that put them just about in a class with fish.

Sakamoto talked with hardy plantation hands, to learn the sources of the stamina. He studied animals, seeking the answer to muscular movement without energy waste. He built his own swimming pattern.

One day a chunky, brown-skinned Hawaiian lad from Honolulu showed up in Puunene. He wanted to become a champion swimmer. The boy was Bill Smith Jr.

Sakamoto knew how to turn a boy of heart and brawn into a champion. Keo Nakama and Halo Hise were two of his luminaries. But Bill Smith's star burned brightest of all.

Smith continued a brilliant career at Ohio State, where another great coach, Mike Peppe, regarded Sakamoto-trained tankmen so highly he never interfered with their styles. Smith broke virtually every freestyle middle distance American and world record.

Smith came back to Hawaii a few weeks ago to train under Sakamoto for the Olympic tryouts. It was a great tribute to his old coach.

Sakamoto, too, harbored Olympic ambitions. He knew his record would stand with any. In their first four shots at the national AAU outdoor meets, Sakamoto teams won the title. That was in 1939, 1940, 1941 and 1946. Hawaii stayed away from the meet during the war.

Despite this record, Sakamoto realized several mainland coaches were better known and better situated to win the Olympic nod. He hoped there would be a place for him.

Sande Ruled Off Tracks Sixty Days

NEW YORK, May 5 (AP)—Earl Sande, the "handy guy" of the saddle who made riding history a generation ago and later turned race horse owner and trainer, has been ruled off the nation's major tracks for 60 days.

The Jockey club stewards handed out the suspension yesterday, 24 hours after the balding, 40-year-old former jockey had been arraigned on a federal charge of illegally possessing narcotics.

The Jockey club issued a statement that the presence of a drug was found in a saliva test of Big Stage, a Sande-owned horse and a Kentucky Derby nominee which won the third race at Jamaica April 21 at odds of $12.40 to $2.

The onetime famous rider, who brought three winners home in the Kentucky Derby, now faces grand jury action.

Conviction on this charge calls for a penalty of two to five years in prison.

Jones Is Leader Of PCL Hurling

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5 (AP)—Oakland's pudgy southpaw hurler, Earl Jones, and right-hander Gene Thompson of San Diego led Pacific Coast Baseball league pitchers through games of last Sunday. Each had three wins and no defeats.

Seven other hurlers also had perfect records.

Dick Barrett, Seattle veteran, topped the league among pitchers in five or more games with five wins and one defeat.

Other Seattle and Portland pitchers above the 500 mark include: Besse, Seattle, 3-1; Pillette, Portland, 2-1; Di Biasi and Helsel, both Portland, each 3-2; and Karpel, Seattle, 1-1.

Owls Narrow Field

OVS, May 5—Oregon Vocational school has 14 strong applicants for head football coach but the race is narrowing down to two men, Director Winston Purvine said today. Stan Kostka and Dale Daugherty are the two most likely candidates and a final selection should be made next week-end. Both are ready to sign a contract now.

In going into football on a full collegiate scale, the Owls will have a schedule of probably nine games, at least three of them to be played here in Klamath Falls on Modoc field.

Dale Daugherty is now football coach at Lincoln high in Portland and has 14 years of experience in the coaching field. He played his college game at Bradley Tech, Peoria, Ill., the same school attended by Paul McCall, new Pelican basketball coach at Klamath Union high, and gained prominence as a high school coach at St. Cloud, Minn.

Daugherty came to Oregon last year after five years at St. Cloud, during which his teams won 36 of 40 games. At Lincoln he stepped into a place that hadn't won a football game since 1941 and actually piloted the Railspitters to what for them is considered a triumphant season—they beat Benson and held Commerce to a mere 6-0.

His basic approach is from the single wing with T formation plays added, much the same type of football played at KUDB, from where much of the OVS talent is expected to come.

Stan Kostka has a stronger football name than Daugherty, but his record as a coach is weaker. Kostka first appeared on the University of Oregon campus in the early 30's when Clarence W. (Pop) Speaks came on as coach. He played his freshman and sophomore year as a Webfoot, then returned to the University of Minnesota for two more years of football. As a fullback, Kostka was picked on some all-American selections after the 1934 season.

After college he played professional ball, then coached at a Minnesota high school and in 1941 went to North Dakota State. That year he was called into the navy and returned to North Dakota State for the 1946 season.

That year Kostka followed the Minnesota style of power football and had a good season. But last year he switched over to T formation and couldn't handle it.

Purvine said investigation of both seemed to show that Daugherty had a trifle more ability in handling men although most of his work had been at the high school level.

In addition to dickering for a coach, OVS now is calling for bids on football equipment for its coming season. The school has to start the team-building program from the ground up, not having a single uniform or "even a whistle."

Bennett Chills Talbot In Four

ROSEBURG, Ore., May 5 (AP)—Dallas Bennett, Roseburg policeman and former runner-up for the Pacific Northwest light heavyweight crown, scored a fourth-round knockout over Leo Talbot of Portland in the headline of a brief boxing card here last night.

Two other Portland scrappers were also beaten by knockouts. Billy Dove, featherweight, was flattened in the first round by Babe Fenton of Roseburg, and Bob Garcia, welterweight, was disposed of in the second round by Ray Brewster of Sutherlin.

Victim of another second-round knockout was Tony Reeves, Lower California welterweight, at the hands of Dick Wolfe of Klamath Falls. Al Cliff, Portland negro middleweight, decided Buddy Ryan of Vancouver in a four-rounder.

SEATTLE, May 5 (AP)—Buford Ransom, 151, Seattle, exploded a right hand full in the face of the veteran Shiek Rangel, 153, of Fresno, last night to take a one-round knockout win in the scheduled 10-round main event. It was the Seattle fighters' 12th knockout in 15 starts. Preliminaries: Eddie Cotton, 161, Seattle, knocked out George Cole, 153, Vancouver, B. C. 1; Bernie Olson, 161, Everett, and Dick Abney, 170, Portland, drew 6; Dean Abney, 148, drew 4; Blacky Vanderveer, 133, Yakima, knocked out Billy Smith, 134, Bellingham, 1; Tom McNamara, 142, Seattle, TKO'd Mel Barnhardt, 151, Tacoma, 2.

SEATTLE, May 5 (AP)—Buford Ransom, 151, Seattle, knocked out Shiek Rangel, 153, Fresno, Calif., 1. BUFFALO — Lee Savold, 190, Paterson, N. J., knocked out Buddy Wilker, 200, Rochester, 1.

LOS ANGELES — Mario Trigo, 132, Monterey, Mexico, outpointed Bobby Jackson, 134, Los Angeles, 10. SEATTLE — Buford Ransom, 151, Seattle, knocked out Shiek Rangel, 153, Fresno, Calif., 1.
