Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY CRITICAL situation has arisen in the relationships of Klamath county and the Shasta-Cascade Wonderland association.

Irked at what appeared to be a jurisdictional invasion by the association office, the community advertising committee of the chamber of commerce and members of the Shasta-Cascade council for Klamath county have suggested that the chamber, at least, withdraw from support of the Shasta-Cascade association this year.

As this is written chamber directors have not yet acted, preferring to confer with Lake county people first. Lake and Klamath are the Oregon counties in the association, and there are six California counties.

The jurisdictional question had to do with solicitation of members. The local group planned a campaign for memberships, but discovered that the headquarters office in Redding had written potential members asking them to join up.

Little Interest WHILE this is given as the immediate cause of the trouble, the real difficulty lies deeper than that. There has been a definite decline in interest in the Shasta-Cascade Wonderland association here in recent years.

Shasta-Cascade is primarily a tourist promotion organization, although it seeks to perform other functions as well and generally to help develop the area economically.

One thing is clear: We either ought to get out of the association, or we ought to go into it wholeheartedly and enthusiastically.

Put Up Or Shut Up AND so, the chamber of commerce, the business groups that cater to tourist travel, and the community at large which certainly benefits indirectly from tourist travel, come to the point where they must make up their minds about the Shasta-Cascade Wonderland association.

The Shasta-Cascade association covers the area where those relationships should exist. But the circumstance of our participation in it in recent years hasn't accomplished much along that line, if anything.

tract is begun early, growth and development can be re-established.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS QUESTION: What ointment is recommended for psoriasis?

ANSWER: There is no single ointment for this skin disease. It is frequently necessary to try more than one preparation on the skin and perhaps internally.

METEORS AND METEORS Although 7,000,000,000 meteors enter the earth's atmosphere yearly, only a few thousand get through without being burned up by friction.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS states:

"COLUMBUS, April 16—Paul Robeson, colored operatic singer, told a colored editor here yesterday it was none of his 'damn business' whether he was a communist."

"In a news conference... Mr. Robeson gave the reply to a question by George Lawrence, managing editor of the Ohio State News, colored weekly here.

"The last person in the world I would expect to ask that question," Mr. Robeson added, "would be a negro and a representative of the negro press. This is no longer a matter of communism; it's a matter of civil rights. Draw your own conclusions."

Paul Robeson's error is that a man who projects himself into the public life of this country can have no secrets. His affairs are the public's business.

Innocence Not One-Sided HIS authorized account of his life, Paul Robeson gives considerable data concerning his academic career, which is notable: A.B. and honorary M.A. Rutgers; L.L.B. Columbia; L.H.D. Hamilton, Moorhouse, Howard.

Whether he is or is not a member of the communist party, he will not say. But he has been acting in public as though he were a member, and if this is innocence, it is of a kind that is wholly one-sided.

Fifth Column AS communists are now unpopular, some of these men and women are unwilling to make themselves totally unacceptable.

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

This column yesterday tried to analyze President Truman's view that the current year "may well determine the world's future," and pointed out that the number one issue of the period is whether the cold war will develop into a shooting war or whether it can be kept within bounds.

Britain's outspoken foreign secretary, Ernest Bevin, now enters the discussion with the statement that "the chaotic separation of the western (European) powers, if allowed to continue, would leave them open as a prey."

Alliance Frayed Bevin was addressing the house of commons and was dealing with the proposed expansion of the new five-power alliance among Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg into an economic and military union of all Western Europe.

I believe that represents the concentration of close observers. Indeed, note other than General Eisenhower subscribed to this view in a press conference. He was asked whether he thought the United States was closer to war with Russia than a year ago, and replied that "No great country, including Russia, would deliberately provoke war at this time."

Europe Tense Unfortunately Europe is so tense that it might react much more quickly to "some stupid act" than it would under normal conditions.

CHEAP LAND Most of the land now occupied by the St. Paul and the Fort Snelling reservation was purchased from the Sioux Indians for 60 gallons of whiskey and a few presents, to which congress later added $2000 cash, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Professor Gets A Chance To Return A 'Compliment'

BOSTON, April 30 (AP)—A 33-year-old Suffolk university instructor who a few weeks ago tried to borrow $500 at a Boston bank—and was refused as a poor risk—has sold the movie rights to a novel for $50,000.

Thomas Savage said he received the check Thursday from Columbia Pictures for rights to his "Lena Tansoni."

"I intend to go on living the same as before," he said. "The money will go into a trust for my wife and two children."

Savage's philosophy: "I hope to teach my students that the more education a man has, the less money he needs. Only inadequate men need money."

The young teacher explained he went to the bank for a loan to pay household expenses.

"We had just moved here," he said. "I wanted to buy some furniture. The bank, he said, hemmed and hawed—and politely turned him down, even after he told them of the novel.

The bank was one of the first to telephone congratulations on his good fortune.

"They wanted me to put the money as a trust in their bank," he explained.

"I turned them down—politely."

The Doctor Says— Extracts Used On Thyroids

The thyroid is a gland which lies at the front of the neck just above the breast bone. When it is enlarged, the condition is spoken of as goiter. When it is not only enlarged but the cells of the gland are secreting abnormally, a disease is produced known as toxic goiter.
