

Footstool Exhibit One Of Homemakers Festival Displays

Mrs. Ralph Benoit, member of the Altamont home extension unit and chairman in charge of the footstool exhibit at the Homemakers Festival held at the First Methodist church last Friday, admires some of the work accomplished by unit members throughout the county.

Homemakers Hold Meet Here Friday

By RUTH KING
Highlights of the annual Klamath county Homemakers' festival held last Friday in the First Methodist church were the addresses by Mrs. Mabel Mack, assistant state home demonstration leader, Oregon State college, and Dr. Elmo N. Stevenson, president, Southern Oregon college, Ashland.

Both spoke during the afternoon session. Mrs. Mack used as her subject, "Catching Up," emphasizing the need for women to extend their interests beyond the horizon of home, to include community, national and international objectives.

Five-Point Goal
She presented a five-point goal for American homemakers during the coming year, covering a study of the world food situation in relationship to world peace, support of the United Nations, promotion of a health program including housing, nutrition and medical service, safety in homes and on the highways, and the education of more young women for home extension work.

There are now three and one-half million women in the United States participating in homemaking activities in home extension units and the need for leaders is increasing rapidly.

Oregon now offers home extension courses to 27 counties and the goal is 30 in the next year. Dr. Stevenson spoke on "Utilizing the Nature of Your Children in Moulding Them Into the Citizens of Tomorrow."

Divert Youth
By diverting the natural drive of youth into the proper channels, individuals can be developed who will conform to a changing world, he said.

Today's children, living under the stress and strain of world unrest, too often are left to follow their natural urges that lead into delinquency. In closing he stated "that we can mould desirable citizens of tomorrow, if today we take cognizance of the terrific drive of youth and use it constructively."

Nearly 600 homemakers who have completed another year of striving to make their homes a better place in which to live registered during the morning and viewed exhibits entered by 15 Klamath county home extension units, the homemakers' camp and the Klamath county library.

ated by the Cascade Home Furnishing, to the Shasta-Homedale unit. Second place went to Fairhaven, winner of first place last year. Third went to the Klamath Falls unit.

During the half hour broadcast at 11:30 a. m. over KPLW visitors and award winners were interviewed by Don Neal.

Newcastle Disease Spread Worries State Poultrymen

By PAUL W. HARVEY JR.
SALEM, May 6 (AP)—Oregon poultrymen are worried about the spread of Newcastle disease, which has been brought here from other states during the past year. The first case was discovered a year ago. Since then there have been 10 more cases. The disease now is well established in the East and Midwest, and in California. State agriculture experts are doing everything possible to prevent its spread, as a severe epidemic might ruin many flocks of chickens and turkeys.

Unemployment Benefits Drop

SALEM, May 6 (AP)—State unemployment benefits during April were 23 per cent less than in March, but were about the same as in April, 1947, the unemployment compensation commission said Wednesday. The April benefits totaled $731,926 for workers covered by the state law, and $613,950 for unemployed war veterans. Benefits paid in the first four months of 1948 totaled $6,584,033, or 3 per cent less than in the first four months of last year. Of the workers getting benefits in April, 23 per cent were jobless loggers and lumber workers. The Portland area accounted for almost half of the unemployed.

Dr. E. M. Dickinson, a veterinarian at Oregon State college, warns poultry owners to buy from other states only after investigating the source flock. The disease affects a bird's breathing apparatus, and is very contagious. The death rate is about 25 per cent. It causes a sudden drop in egg production, and eggs laid during an outbreak may have soft or deformed shells.
