Cascade

Mr. and Mrs. James Vaughn and son, Walter, are spending a few days in Portland doing some much needed shopping and enjoying a show or two. Vaughn is section foreman for the Southern Pacific at Cascade Summit and Walter is a third year student at Klamath Union high school.

The J. E. Badleys of Odell Summit lodge guested Portlanders Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Cholick, president of Western Training Service, and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cholick, president WTS Press. The latter were accompanied by their son Jerry. Gift to the hosts was pure buckwheat honey—jars and jars of it from the Cholick farm.

Bill Akers of Odell Summit lodge is doing some pre-season celebrating in Eugene and seeing the tooth doctor at the same time.

New items for customer comfort are the individual wax cartons for serving milk at the table, and free shopping bags for large grocery orders, courtesy of Odell Summit lodge. Also the brand new pine tree drapes and spreads for the rooms, giving the real outdoors atmosphere to the rooms.

Twins Bill and Clyde are miffed at Mother Fay Badley account they made her a scrumptious May basket and she stayed at Cascade Summit for May Day while they had to remain in Portland with their nurse. Bill called his mother up long distance to describe it and inform her of his feelings.

PURCHASE
WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The agriculture department Tuesday bought 10,880,000 pounds of flour—equal to about 2,358,325 bushels of wheat—for shortage areas abroad.
