SUNDAY, MAY THE NINTH, is Mother's Day. We pay tribute on this page to several well-known Klamath Falls mothers and all, by the way, are also grandmothers. Mrs. Jacob Heid is the mother of Mrs. Carleton Hornbrook, 819 Pacific Terrace. Mrs. Nancy Jane Osborn is the mother of Dr. Dean H. Osborn of 2104 Lawrence street. Mrs. N. H. Bogue of Pacific Terrace is shown here with her granddaughter, Nancy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Clark, 2021 Lavy, and Mrs. Sydney Evans, well-known Klamath matron, is also pictured with her granddaughter, Loralou Rolph, daughter of Mrs. Evans Rolph and Laurence A. Rolph of Klamath Falls. —Keith Cook Pictures.

Rites Solemnized In Valley City

In a ceremony read last Sunday afternoon, May 2, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Butler of Grants Pass, Mrs. Eileen Hicks became the bride of Charles P. Van Doren.

Both are well known Klamath Falls residents and will make their home in this city.

The bride wore a grey gabardine suit with a small red flower trimmed hat and red accessories and her corsage was of white gardenias and roses. Mrs. John W. Van Doren was her attendant and she wore a black spring suit with Kelly green hat and accessories with a corsage of tallman roses.

Mr. John W. Van Doren was his brother's best man.

Incidental music was played as the bride and her attendant entered the room. Vows were exchanged before a bank of white and pink gladioli, white stock and palms. Tall white candles were lighted just before the ceremony.

The Rev. J. A. Marquam of Bethany Presbyterian church read the service.

The bride's mother wore a black afternoon gown with rose corsage.

Immediately after the ceremony there was a wedding dinner served at Club Sequin for the wedding party and members of the family. Dinner guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Van Doren, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Van Doren, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hicks and Jerry Hicks of Ashland,

Dancing Party

A delightful affair which highlights the week for the younger set has been arranged for tonight, Saturday, when Denise Kenyon and Pat Kittredge entertain at a dancing party. Hours will be from 7:30 to 9:30 at the Willard hotel.

Assisting the parents of the two, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kittredge and Mr. and Mrs. Don Kenyon, will be Mr. and Mrs. DeLoe Mills.

Invited are Alice Geary, Diane Odenburg, Geraldine Lee, Patay Lehto, James Larson, Janna Langlet, Jean Adams, Marlene Osenik, Shirley Keese, Sharon Miles, Loralou Rolph, Gertrude Bramlett, Caroline Riley, Dorothy Lowell, Ruby Gehring and Emily Elliot.

Informal Tea

An informal tea was arranged last Saturday afternoon when Mrs. W. R. Boyd of 1954 Auburn invited a group of 18 in to meet her sister, Mrs. Sanford Smith of Nutley, N. J. Mrs. Smith spent three weeks here at the Boyd residence and left Friday for her home by way of Eugene and Portland from there she will fly to New Jersey.

Ardis Stephanie of Portland and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McMullen, also of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Doren will be at home here on Owens street.

Janet Is Three

Little Janet Seavey, who observed her third milestone on Saturday, was honored by her mother, Mrs. Charles Seavey, at the family home, 1930 Manzanita.

Janet's guests played games and then were served the traditionally lighted birthday cake. Guests were Patty Burleigh, Susan Kimball, Barbara Evans, Linda Spangler, Irene Hurley, Joan Seavey, Tommy and Bill Ray, Duane Cook, Paula Cook, and a group of mothers including Mrs. Troy Cook, Mrs. Glen Evans, Mrs. Robert Burleigh and Mrs. William Serruya.

MRS. NANCY JANE OSBORN

OSC Festivities Attract Mothers

Roses and orchids, violets and potted plants were steaming Mother's way this week-end as the annual Mother's Day observance presents itself tomorrow, Sunday, May the ninth.

At the University of Oregon and at Oregon State college, campus affairs were being arranged for the pleasure of mothers of men and women students.

Going to Corvallis for OSC festivities this week-end were Mr. and Mrs. R. Heber Radcliffe, who will be guests of their son, Billy. They will also stop in Eugene to see their daughter Helen and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graf.

Mrs. Glenn Kent left for Corvallis Saturday morning to spend the week-end with her daughter Joy, and she was accompanied by Mrs. Dave Liskey and daughter Totstie, who will visit Maxine Liskey on the campus. Mrs. Kent plans a trip to Portland before returning home.

Here to spend Mother's Day week-end are Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Gallagher and two sons, Michael Francis and Robert Anthony, who drove in Saturday at noon from The Dalles. They are with Bob's mother, Mrs. Francis R. Olds, 446 Riverside, and also with Mrs. Olds' mother, Mrs. James McClure of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Blockinger of Chiloquin drove north to Tacoma, Wash. to spend the week-end with daughter Sally who is a student at Annie Wright seminary. Sally is a senior student and a member of the traditional May Day fete court which is one of the loveliest festivities of the year at Annie Wright.

Mrs. William Creswell and daughter Colleen of the Merrill road were en route to OSC for Mother's Day week-end to spend the time with Jim Creswell.

Mrs. Calvin Peyton will also be on the OSC campus this week-end, guest of her son Harold, third-year student.

Rodney Murray spent last week-end at home here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Murray of Pacific Terrace, and this past week Mrs. Murray has been in San Francisco for a visit.

Quite the nicest Mother's Day present came at 6:30 p. m. last Tuesday when a call placed by Major Embert Fossum at Seoul, Korea, at 10:30 a. m. Monday, reached his mother, Mrs. John Fossum of 303 Pine street, as a wonderful surprise. Mrs. Fossum talked with both her son and daughter-in-law Ruth but missed a conversation with their young daughter Martha, who was busy in school.

Ruth said the weather was beautiful with rhododendron, azalea and cherry blooms in full bloom. All are well and expect to sail from Seoul in October. The conversation, according to Mrs. Fossum, was as clear as visiting with someone in town over the local wires.

Mrs. Mamie Giacomini of Merrill received a thrilling Mother's Day gift from her daughter, Mrs. Walter Kelly, who is living in Salzburg, Austria with her husband, Captain Walter Kelly and daughter Joan. The present was a honest-to-goodness hand carved, real cuckoo clock, complete with cuckoo and all. Tucked in the box was a wax apple and inside the apple was—Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs—all beautifully fashioned. The Kellys expect to sail for these blessed United States in July.

Mrs. James Patterson of 1132 Crescent was pleased to learn that her sister, Mrs. Maude Minac-Schmidt of Fort Benton, Mont., had been named "Montana Mother" and was one of three final candidates for the title, "American Mother of 1948." Mrs. Schmidt has visited here and made many friends while a guest in Klamath Falls.

Mrs. Fae Wilson is spending Mother's Day week-end in Ashland as guest of her daughter, Caryl Vandervall, who is completing her second year at Southern Oregon college, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Hattan of 2243 Huron.

Home for the week-end is Mark Hattan, also a student at Southern Oregon college, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Hattan of 2243 Huron.

In Klamath Falls for the week-end are Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Peterson of Prineville, parents of Mrs. Lane Warren of 1436 Eldorado.

Ensign Peggy Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bishop of Weyerhaeuser, has spent the past two weeks with her parents and will leave Monday morning to report back for duty with the United States navy nursing corps, San Francisco.

Mrs. Robert P. Ellingson Sr. has returned home from Ladysmith, Wis., where she was called some time ago by the illness of her sister, Mrs. E. O. Ellingson. Dorothea Ellingson is remaining with her aunt for a time.

Nicely settled in an apartment on Green street in San Francisco are Wanda Shaw and Merion Albrecht. Wanda has accepted a position in the personnel department of American Trust company and Merion is still with Otis McAllister. Mrs. Emil Albrecht and Mrs. Carl Steinseifer recently visited the two.

Cards from Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beane advise friends that they are thoroughly enjoying their trek around the country and this past week they've seen Boston. They are in New York at Hotel Barclay this week-end and will go to Philadelphia next.

Congratulations to Jean Henderson on her 16th birthday which was observed with a family dinner party last Sunday, May 2. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Geary and Alice, Mrs. Nelson Hogan and Mrs. Paul Bernhardt of Reedsport, Marvin Thomas Jr., of Tulelake, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Henderson and daughters Ann and Jean.

Ruth Landry, freshman student at Oregon, was recently named chairman of the poster committee for the annual Twistie sale, sponsored by Phi Theta, junior women's honorary. A "twistie" is a doughnut, we gather.

The measles should just about run out of victims, but not as long as little boys can pass it along. At the Bill Van Buskirk home, Roddy had it or them, first, then Doug came down, and this week father was the center of attraction.

The Oregon state highway department will pay for the north entrance by the time the layout is finished through the added amount of gas folks have to buy to get around.

Mrs. John Shaw and little Susie were here the early part of the week from Redding where they now make their home. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mack while in Klamath Falls.

MRS. JACOB HEID

Louise Henry Is Early May Bride

An attractive bride of early May was Louise Henry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin D. Henry of this city, who exchanged vows with Jack Robbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Robbins, also of Klamath Falls.

St. Paul's Episcopal church was the scene of the pretty spring nuptials, and the Rev. Frederick C. Wissenbach read the single ring vows at 2 o'clock, Sunday, May 2.

Bouquets of white stock and white carnations, palms, and tapers in tall candelabra were arranged at the altar.

As guests assembled Carl Hagel sang "Because" and "Always," accompanied by Mrs. John O'Connor.

Louise entered the church on the arm of her father as Mrs. O'Connor played the traditional procession.

Her gown was of heavy white satin fashioned with a high neckline and net yoke trimmed in tiny seed pearls. The skirt was softly draped at the waist, falling into a short train. Long, fitted sleeves were pointed at the wrist. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

Louise wore a long veil of illusion net held in place with a seed-pearl tiara. A traditional arm bouquet of cala lilies and white carnations was tied with a wide white satin bow.

Maid of honor was Donna Willis, who was gowned in a pink net frock with a sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves and a matching net peplum. She wore short white mitts, and in her hair, a bandeau of pink carnations.

Bridesmaid was Betty Lou Clet, in a gown of identical fashion in aqua net. She wore white mitts, and her headpiece and bouquet were similar to those of the maid of honor in contrasting shades.

Small flower girl was Olince Leaming, who wore a dainty full skirted frock and carried a tiny colonial bouquet. Her headpiece was of similar spring flowers.

Mrs. Henry, mother of the bride, wore a crepe formal gown of lime color with rose accessories, and Mrs.

Robbins wore a dress of black. Best man was Bruce Wirth, and Ted Reeves and Don Smith were ushers.

The newlyweds and their parents received in the parish hall following the rites.

Spring flowers decorated the rooms, and the bride's cake, encircled with rosebuds, centered the table. After the young couple cut the traditional first slice of the wedding cake, Mrs. Frederick C. Wissenbach served the confection Miss Mae Phinney, Mrs. Leo N. Huls and Mrs. J. F. Lee poured. Connie Hunt was in charge of the guest book.

For going away the new Mrs. Robbins chose a suit of soft rose shade with gray accessories. Their wedding trip took the newlyweds to points on the Oregon coast, Seattle, Wash., and Vancouver, B. C. Upon their return they will make their home at 802 Lincoln.

AAUW Book Group Review Heard

Mrs. Frank Jenkins reviewed "Natches on the Mississippi" at a meeting of the afternoon book group of AAUW Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Howard Barnhisel on Conger avenue.

The evening group met with Mrs. Eric Majors when Mrs. Victor O'Neill reviewed "Golden Multitudes" by Mott.

Coming Rites

Miss Vera Thompson of San Francisco, whose wedding to George Dewey Powell of Klamath Falls will be an event of Saturday, May 15, in the bay city, has chosen the Svedenborgian church for the nuptial setting. The hour is 4 o'clock.

Miss Joan Thompson will be her sister's only attendant, and the best man will be Colonel Sexton Berg of San Francisco who served overseas with the groom.

Ushers will be Vincent Lawler and Newton Nelson, both of this city. A reception will follow at the Western Women's club in San Francisco, and the couple will have a wedding trip south and be at home here in the Marion apartments after June 1.

Going south for the wedding will be Mr. and Mrs. Franklin L. Weaver, Mrs. Rose M. Poole and her daughter, Mrs. Prentice Yeomans, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lawler and Mr. and Mrs. Newton Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver plan to spend the following Sunday with their son Clark and family at Stockton, Calif., returning here early the following week.

Complimented

Mrs. Earl Newby of Ashland was complimented at a prettily appointed dinner given in her honor Wednesday evening at Sari's by Mrs. Oscar Kittredge.

Spring flowers centered the tables where covers were laid for Mrs. Newby, Mrs. George P. Davis, Mrs. Rose M. Poole, Mrs. E. A. Geary, Mrs. Phil Hitchcock, Mrs. Richard Maxwell, Mrs. Marshall E. Cornett, Mrs. William DeCew, Mrs. Guy Barton, Mrs. Don Kenyon, Mrs. Andrew Collier, Mrs. Paul Landry.

Mrs. Carl Steinseifer, Mrs. George Hills, Mrs. Don Zumwalt, Mrs. George H. Adler, Mrs. John Ashley, Mrs. J. E. Eichendorf, Mrs. Steven Sabo, Mrs. William C. Hackler of Fort Klamath, Mrs. Ray Bigger, Mrs. Eugene Favell of Lakeview and Mrs. Kittredge.
