Wallace Lays Down 6 Point Peace Plan

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—A crowd estimated at 18,000 cheered Henry A. Wallace Tuesday night as he outlined his ideas for ending the "cold war" and launching a "century of peace."

Addressing a Madison Square Garden rally, the third party presidential candidate said that there are no differences between the United States and the Soviet Union "which cannot be settled by peaceful negotiations."

He presented his views in the form of an "open letter" addressed to Prime Minister Stalin. Wallace's running mate, Sen. Glen Taylor (D-Iowa) also spoke at the rally, which was sponsored by the Wallace for President committee.

Between bursts of applause, Wallace enumerated six "definite steps" which he said must be taken to restore a "common ground of peace."

He called for general disarmament, outlawing of weapons of mass destruction, a ban against export of weapons by any nation, and resumption of unrestricted trade between Russia and this country, except for war goods.

He also urged resumption of free exchange of scientific information between the two countries, free movement of citizens, students and newspapermen in both nations, and establishment of a United Nations agency for the distribution of international relief.

Auto Loot Cache Found

A cache of stolen articles, mostly odd automotive parts, was uncovered early Wednesday in a lumber pile at the Big Basin Lumber company on Market street, and investigation showed that the loot came from an open shed back of Fluhrer's new garage on Broad.

Roy Cornelius, lumber piler, found the cache and notified city police. Among the articles hidden in the lumber were army-type five-gallon cans, brass fittings, gauges, valves, carburetors, wrenches, an old headlight, engine filters, a length of rubber tubing, wire and a bag of nuts and bolts.

Apparently the material had been taken out of the shed last night, carried across the railroad track and stashed in the lumber pile.

Cornelius had stacked the lumber only Tuesday.

Footprints near the shed and railroad tracks indicated that one or more youngsters had done the job by carrying the articles from the shed to the lumber pile.

Rites Slated For War Dead

Full military rites will be accorded Staff Sergeant Alfred D. Giles, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Giles of 1830 Worden, whose body is to arrive in Klamath Falls Saturday morning from the Oakland army base. A military escort will accompany the remains.

The young army man lost his life in France on August 17, 1944, while serving during the invasion with Co. B, 191st tank battalion of the armored division. His body was one of many returned this past month from the European theater.

S. Sgt. Giles was born in International Falls, Minn., September 29, 1918. He lived for a time in Chiloquin and his parents were residents of that place when he was killed in action.

Final rites will be held in the Earl Whitlock chapel at 3:30 p. m. Saturday with the Rev. Howard B. Hutchins officiating. Veterans of Foreign Wars will have charge of graveside services at the family plot in Klamath Memorial park.

Palbearers will be long time friends of the young sergeant. They will include Eddie Hall, Frank Hall, Robert North, Chester Ashby, Ray Tokum and Harold Uglum.

Mothers in ancient Greece pacified their crying babies by giving them a piece of sponge soaked in honey.

Dewey Backers Hold Luncheon

Supporters of Tom Dewey, New York governor who is seeking the nod from Oregonians in the May 21 primaries, gathered at the Winema hotel for lunch Wednesday.

Darrell Miller accepted the temporary chairmanship and led discussion on ways and means to bring Dewey's name before the public as frequently as possible before the primary election.

If Dewey should carry the state, a permanent organization will be established to carry through until November 2.

The Dewey-for-President group will meet again next Tuesday.

Filibuster Threat Faces Draft Bills

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The senate was advised Wednesday that the armed services will need 1,668,000 new men during the next year in the regular and reserve forces.

The big estimate of manpower needs came in a formal report from the senate armed services committee supporting its bill to draft men from 19 through 25 years for two year terms and train thousands of 18 year olds as a reserve.

Chairman Gurney (R-S. D.) filed both the bill and report shortly after the senate met.

Even before the compromise measure blending a five-year draft revival with a voluntary training program for 18-year-olds hit the floor officially, angry southern senators promised a red hot fight.

And when southerners talk fight in the senate they often mean filibuster.

What they want is a provision in the bill guaranteeing every enlisted man the right to serve only in a unit of "his own race."

Officials Slate Trips

Three members of the city's official family will leave within the next month and a half for special out-of-town meetings and conferences.

The city has authorized a trip for Mayor Ed Ostendorf to Seattle, Wash., June 2, to attend the Pacific coast board of inter-government relations conference.

On May 17, City Police Officer Odell Olson will represent Klamath Falls in Portland at a special meeting arranged for presentation of National Safety council awards to Oregon. A special award will go to the state for lowered traffic fatalities during 1947. Klamath Falls has been notified of an award from the council because it had no traffic fatalities last year.

Assistant Fire Chief Henry Akin will attend a fire chief's convention in Baker, leaving in time for the two-day meeting, June 3 and 4.

Drillers Down 190 Feet Here

Drillers seeking a flow of hot water to be used in pipes under the pavement approach of the Esplanade bridge in the new north entrance project are down to a depth of 190 feet and sludge has tested 166 degrees, state highway men said here Wednesday.

Jack Wilson holds the sub-contract from Rogers Construction company, contractors on the north entrance job.

Drillers hope to reach a flow testing between 180 and 200 degrees before they are satisfied.

Two On Carpet For Dog Fines

Eight minor arrests were made by city police in the past 24 hours, two of them for violations of the city dog ordinance.

Edward B. Loftsgaard, 2104 Modoc, and Fred Stusher, 763 California, each posted $5 bail for allowing a dog to run at large. Myrtle T. Lindow, 2315 Homedale, was cited for a court appearance for running a stop sign.

Five persons were booked at the city jail last night on drunk charges.

Prock Takes Over Signal Oil Company

Release of the distributorship of Signal Oil company in the Klamath basin was announced Tuesday by Mrs. Marshall E. Cornett.

New distributor is Lloyd C. Prock, well known Klamath Falls businessman.

Prock takes over the business today.

The late Marshall E. Cornett, killed in a plane crash last October 28, had served as distributor of the company for the past three years. Since his death, Mrs. Cornett has headed the business. She is retiring from active business.

C. A. Turnbull of Portland, here today, announced the change simultaneously with Mrs. Cornett. Both said they were pleased to name Prock as local distributor.

Prock is a native Oregonian and has lived in Klamath Falls since

Lake Logging Starts Late

1928. He has served for the past six years as sales manager of Reed Tractor company, is married and has two children. The family resides on Lakeshore drive.

Prock said today that the plant personnel will remain unchanged.

Klamath Lake Moulding company will get no logs from its Diamond lake sale until about June 1, company officials estimated Wednesday.

Snow in the Diamond lake area is melting more slowly now than it was a few weeks ago.

Work has started on conditioning the private road which will carry log trucks from the timber sale in the Umpqua national forest to Yam-said siding near Diamond lake junction.

R. A. Briggs and Sons will handle the logging operations for Klamath Lake in the Umpqua area again this year.

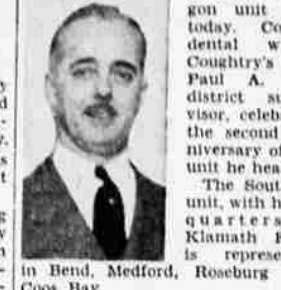

Sun Life Brass Visits Klamath

A. C. Coughtry, agency superintendent, Sun Life Assurance company, met with members of the Southern Oregon unit here today.

Coincidental with Coughtry's visit Paul A. Lee, district supervisor, celebrates the second anniversary of the unit he heads.

The southern unit, with headquarters in Klamath Falls, is represented in Bend, Medford, Roseburg and Coos Bay.

According to A. M. Weaver, Oregon branch manager, who is accompanying Coughtry, Lee's group is producing business at a rate in excess of that of the entire state organization of Sun Life five years ago.

Truman Mum On New Jew State

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—President Truman was asked today whether the United States will recognize the new state Jews intend to proclaim in Palestine. He said he will cross that bridge when he gets to it.

Mr. Truman added to his news conference that he discussed the whole Palestine situation yesterday with Secretary Marshall and under Secretary Lovett.

Asked whether the United States has any proposals to make, he reminded the reporters that this nation has called on the United Nations to install a UN high commissioner for the Holy Land.

Two Students Crash Planes

VANCOUVER, Wash., May 13 (AP)—Two student pilots survived crashes which started as practice landings northwest of here but one was in serious condition Wednesday.

Thomas MacComber, 25, and Harold Mason, 23, both of Vancouver, took off from here early yesterday afternoon in light planes to practice what they would do if forced to land. They chose a field on the lower river road.

MacComber headed down, struck wires at the edge of the field, and his plane crashed. He jumped out, not seriously hurt—and tried to wave off his companion. However, Mason's plane also hit the wires. They were brought to St. Joseph's hospital here. Hospital attendants said today Mason suffered severe face cuts, probable jaw fracture and possibly other injuries. His condition was called serious but apparently not critical. MacComber is to be released from the hospital tomorrow.
