British Go To Work On Holy Land Orders

LAKE SUCCESS, May 20 (AP) — Britain began an effort Wednesday to water down the United States proposal for a forceful cease-fire order in Palestine. The U. S. plan has the support of Russia. Sir Alexander Cadogan, the British delegate, told the United Nations security council the American proposal might commit the UN "to take action with forces which we do not yet possess."

"Under the present circumstances," Cadogan said, "we should be rather rash to commit ourselves to a road of which we cannot see the end. Only Russia and the Soviet Ukraine have lined up definitely behind the U. S. demand that the council order cessation of the Palestine war within 36 hours."

China was reported feeling that the council must continue its efforts to find a peaceful settlement acceptable to both Arabs and Jews. An official in a position to know the sentiment of the 11 council delegates said it was apparent that the United States proposal — which raises the possibility of using an international force — has no chance to pass.

NEW YORK, May 20 (AP)—W. Walter Williams, president of Continental, Inc., Seattle, Wash., banking and insurance firm, was elected chairman of the committee for economic development today.

He succeeds Paul G. Hoffman, administrator for economic cooperation. Hoffman resigned as CED chairman and as president of Studenaker corp., following his appointment to the European recovery post. He will continue as a CED trustee.

Williams, who is 53, will be CED's second chairman, Hoffman having held that post since it was organized in July, 1947, by a group of top industrial executives to chart a plan for industries peacetime operation.

Williams has been president of the Seattle mortgage banking, insurance, real estate and property management firm since 1927. He is the past president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America.

He was born in Monroe county, Iowa, and attended the University of Washington. He served in the first world war in the U. S. army air service and chemical warfare service. He has three children.

Klamathite Sees Home Town Stories In Capital Paper

When Walter Beane, Klamath industrialist, picked up a paper in Washington, D. C., the other day, he was startled to see the name of his home town in the dateline on a lead story of one of the papers.

"Oregon Town Gets Heat From Buried Steam," said the headline over an Associated Press story telling about Klamath's hot water wells.

The story led page 5 of the Washington Times-Herald for Sunday, May 16.

It related how hot water from the ground is used to heat more than 400 houses and business buildings here.

The yarn also told about the use of natural hot water for de-icing the pavement approach on Esplanade street near the bridge — a project that is now being constructed.

Beane thumbed further through the pages of the paper and found a story about Harold Stassen doing 700 miles of electioneering in one day, starting from Klamath Falls.

The Klamath man sent a clipping of the Times-Herald story on hot water to The Herald and News.

Huffman was in the county jail here May 10 for disorderly conduct.

Soviet Radio Broadcasts Cover Japan

By TOM LAMBERT TOKYO, May 20 (AP)—Powerful Russian broadcasting stations are bombarding Japanese radio listeners with the Soviet version of Nipponese events and news of the world.

The broadcasts from Moscow are relayed through stations at Khabarovsk or Komsomolsk. More and more Japanese daily are tuning in the Russian broadcasts, which may be picked up by any ordinary radio.

The Kremlin's strident views are voiced by both men and women who speak excellent colloquial Japanese. For the Japanese who prefer their news and comments in English, the Russians provide a half hour summary in that language.

Facts Vary The Russian version of the day's events in Japan sometimes varies with the American view and the facts. But the broadcasts contain a surprising amount of information which indicates Soviet communications with Japan are excellent.

Every move by General MacArthur draws a Russian reaction. His view that America should help Japan has been dubbed by Moscow as the "MacArthur plan." Russia says it is aimed at making Japan an American colony and "reducing the Japanese workers to the status of industrial slaves of American capitalists."

The Moscow radio avers that Americans are trying to tie the Japanese to the United States with "dollar chains."
