

Station To Open Saturday

Opening date for O'Hara's Highfield Service, newest business addition to the Miracle Mile at South 4th and Washburn way is Saturday, May 22.

The station which features the new look in color will be owned and operated by Robert O'Hara, recently of Ashland. He is a nephew of T. J. O'Hara, local agent.

The station will offer complete service and will have the only wash rack on 8th. The new color scheme is a blend of white, blue and chartreuse.

The business will be open from 7 a. m. until 10 p. m.

There will be gifts for everyone attending the opening and a guessing contest with rewards for the winners. The results will be announced by T. J. O'Hara and R. K. Froman, representative for the Highfield Oil corporation.

Robert O'Hara, formerly associated with the Pacific Fruit at Medford is an ex-infantryman with service in Japan.

Mrs. O'Hara who has been acting city editor of the Ashland Daily Tidings and an employe also of the Medford Mail-Tribune will be employed by The Herald and News in the classified ad department.

W. D. Miller was the building contractor and all local labor including painting was employed.

Youth To Go To Looking Glass

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 21 (AP)—Leon Luther Adams, whose missionary family died in a plane crash in March, will be taken to his maternal grandparents in Looking Glass, Ore., in December.

U. S. Vice Consul Thomas Faveil said their name is Andrews, but could supply no further identification.

The Rev. and Mrs. Luther Charles Adams, formerly of Des Moines, Iowa, another son and daughter, were killed March 16 with 10 Colombians when their transport plane hit a mountain.

Young Leon had been left at the Open Bible Standard Mission school at El Centro when his parents took off for Bogota. He is now being cared for at El Centro by the Rev. J. L. Turner, an associate of Adams at the El Centro mission school.

One of the biggest social events of the year is coming off tonight: the junior-senior prom. The boys' gym will be the scene of the dance, decorated following the theme of Rhapsody in Blue. To be crowned at the dance will be the King and Queen, Darlene Knowles and Bob Sherr. This royal pair were elected by the juniors to reign over the annual affair.

Programs are in the shape of small pianos, with light blue covers. Printed inside are the names of the junior class officers, Jim Owens, Jerry Schubert, Marlene Burningham and Dolores Robateck. Adviser of the class is Miss Eva Burkhalter.

Results of the Boys' Alliance election named Dick Jackstadt president of the organization which contains all the boys in school. Doug Barker was elected vice president, and Ed Whitney, secretary-treasurer. Boys' Alliance in the past years traditionally sponsored an all-school carnival and spring dance.

The home of Mrs. Nelson Reed, 2940 Del Moro, will be the location of the annual AAUW tea for senior girls Saturday from 2 to 5. The university women give this tea every spring for the graduating senior girls to come and enjoy an afternoon. The occasion calls for afternoon dress, complete with hats and heels.

Quite a success was the Mothers' Tea given Thursday by the Tea Toppers. Over 400 mothers attended the tea in the girls' gym, which was decorated with spring colors and flowers. Appearing on the program were Dale Peyton, accordion solo; Ronnie Tarr and Carolee Robinette, piano solos; Mary Brown, reading; girls nonette, boys' octette, and a dance by Ingrid Norland, Virginia Thurman and Holly Franklin.

A pie social is being planned for May 28 by Job's Daughters. The social will be held at the Masonic temple, and is all-school. Admission will be a pie for each girl, and free for the boys. The pies will be auctioned off to the highest bidder. Georgianna Clark is the Job's Daughter in charge of arrangements.

Snow Deep At Gold Mine Site

Snow is still deep in the vicinity of Moonlight mine on the High-grade road near New Pine creek, according to Wellman Smith, whose gold strike at the Moonlight made big news a couple of years ago. Smith, who was in town yesterday, said that it is not possible yet to get into the mine to install equipment to be used in the work there this summer. The road is open from New Pine creek to Lily lake. There are three or four feet of snow at the lake.

Smith was accompanied here by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tuxhorn of New Pine creek. Mrs. Tuxhorn is undergoing medical treatment here.
