Today's Roundup

PEOPLE of the Southeast Suburbs, and especially those who led in the project, must have a feeling of great satisfaction today over the establishment of fire protection for their area.

EPLEY

It took leadership, vision and a widespread spirit of neighborhood cooperation to put this program into effect. They now have a central fire station, some fine new equipment, a crew, a big band of volunteers—all set for whatever emergencies may develop.

MUTUAL aid agreement between the suburban fire district and the city fire department will undoubtedly be worked out, so that Klamath Falls fire equipment will still be available for industrial and other major conflagrations in the suburbs.

DOWN at Salem, just one vote separates two candidates seeking republican nomination for the legislature. . . . The situation reminded the Capital-Journal of the 1914 supreme court election when Judge Henry L. Benson of Klamath Falls squeezed out Charles L. McNary (later US senator) by a single ballot.

Klamath's first telephone was installed in 1900, and the first customer was the H. H. Van Valkenburg jewelry store. . . . The first switchboard was set up in 1902. . . . I got this information from one of the girls at the telephone office who called up to ask me about the first telephone, and looked it up when I confessed no knowledge.

Electronic Gimmick Used On Cribs

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., May 29 (AP)—An electronic device that warns parents when the baby cries at night has been designed by a General Electric company engineer.

away and can be regulated for weak or strong-lunged children. Jack Najork, G-E engineer, designed the unit primarily for deaf or hard-of-hearing parents. It is effective as far as 100 feet.

These Days

THE Green Bay (Wisconsin) Press-Gazette, commenting on something written in this column, rises in revolt against New York and Ohio. The editor writes:

"Perhaps the rest of the country better tear itself loose from the influence of New York and Ohio unless it agrees fully with the purposes of the leaders of those states. We will have to come to an unpretty pass if we have to acknowledge that New York and Ohio must be pleased at a nomination lest they sink in their tents."

Correctly, the editor diagnoses the special characteristic of New York when he says: "The New York effect has not always been good for this country. The city of New York naturally contains a high percentage of aliens because so many immigrants drop anchor immediately upon their arrival."

Gotham's Influence SUPPOSE we analyze this problem a little differently. New York, for many years, controlled the flow of capital in the United States. Much of that liquid capital flowed from Europe to the United States, from England, Holland, France and other countries of Western Europe.

In recent years, for many reasons, such cities as Houston, Texas, Tulsa, Okla., Minneapolis, Minn., and Cleveland, O. have competed actively with New York. As a matter of fact, capital in the United States has become so diffused that such a house as J. P. Morgan & Company has lost the grip it once held on American life.

In the field of education, New York has exercised an astonishing influence over the entire country. This has been due not only to the almost monopolistic hold of Teachers college of Columbia university upon advanced training in pedagogics, but also because so many of the textbooks are published by New York houses. All the leading national magazines, with the exception of the Philadelphia group, are published in New York or its suburbs. The radio networks originate mostly in New York, or Hollywood where a conglomeration of New Yorkers camp out.

Aithmetic, Not Sentiment NOW, to get down to politics, which started this argument, it was my suggestion that the atmosphere in New York and Ohio was such that if Harold Stassen were nominated by the republicans, he could not carry those states and that without them the republicans might be defeated.

The largest states which can give them a good start are California, 25 electoral votes, New York, 47, Ohio, 25, Pennsylvania 35. If the republicans carry these four states, they can offset the solid south. Take New York and Ohio out of these 132 electors, and the solid south is not offset. As a matter of fact, if the republicans win three of those states but not New York, they would start with only 85 votes to offset the solid south. That is why these four states are as crucial to the republicans as the solid south is to the democrats.

The Art Of Drawing Beer Is A Soul Filling One

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK, May 29 (AP)—The class in beer drawing will please come to attention. You think I'm kidding? Are there really classroom courses on how to draw a glass of beer?

HAL BOYLE

I took it in a demonstration room at the Jacob Ruppert brewery, the one that used to own the New York Yankees and kept them—so to say—hooping. The professor was 55-year-old Hal R. Roffmann, the dean and effervescent Rembrandt of American beer drawers. The class consisted of students in a local bartender's school. A number were veterans studying under the GI bill of rights.

24 Graduate At Fairhaven

Thursday evening an even two dozen children received diplomas of graduation from the eighth grade of Fairhaven grade school. Commencement exercises were held in the Fairhaven gymnasium at 8 p. m. Diplomas were presented by Frank Husted and presentation of the class was made by Wilbur Robinette.

The program included three numbers by the school orchestra under direction of John McManus, salutation by Dixie Gilcock, numbers by the glee club and a clarinet solo by McManus accompanied by Mrs. McManus. Lynn Roycroft gave the graduation address. President of the class is Shirley Milligan; vice president, James Hardin; secretary, Hazel Schieferstein; treasurer, Jean Byrd. Class colors are purple and gold and the motto is "Work and Win."

The communist steamroller will thunder across prostrate Czechoslovakia again tomorrow, leveling off most of the remaining signs of her democracy.

To be sure, democracy still will remain hidden within the sturdy hearts of the vast majority of the little republic's citizens, for you cannot crush the spirit with a steamroller. But the visible emblems of freedom will have been ground to dust.

DeWitt Mackenzie

More specifically, a general election is to be held in Czechoslovakia to elect a new parliament. This represents a further consolidation of the red conquest—a purge of remaining opposition.

The election will follow the Russian single ticket system. Under this scheme there are not opposition candidates, but merely a single ticket containing the names of candidates hand-picked by the communist-dominated regime. The only way a voter can register disapproval was a voter can register disapproval can be seen by election officials, so that there is no secrecy.

Danger Present Communists and fellow travelers have been busy drumming it into the voters that casting a blank ballot would be like treason. It might be added that it also would be like sticking one's head in a lion's mouth—an operation which could do no good and would be mighty dangerous.

If that were the end of the story it would indeed be sad, but there's more to it. Yesterday some 30 fugitive members of the Czechoslovak parliament, and other political leaders, held a conference in London. In effect they constituted a refugee parliament, although they didn't claim that designation. These foes of bolshevism went on record as declaring that the present communist-dominated government of Czechoslovakia is illegal. The same is true of the draft constitution.

The refugee "parliament" will continue to function. The indications are that its members plan to organize Czechoslovak resistance around the globe for liberation of their country.

Speaks for Czechs That is highly significant. It is the organization of a resistance which one day will strike for freedom. It speaks for millions of Czechs who cannot speak for themselves.

If that were the only development of its kind, perhaps less importance could be attached to it. However, similar resistance groups from other Eastern European countries are organizing quietly abroad. There are the Poles, the Hungarians, the Romanians, the Bulgarians, the Yugoslavs. And meantime underground resistance exists in all the countries which have been brought under Soviet domination.

Some day there will be a spark which will set all this resistance aflame. That spark will be some fortuitous circumstance which no one can foresee now. Another war involving Russia most certainly would provide the spark, and that's one good reason why Moscow doesn't want war.

You may be sure Moscow isn't discounting the growth of the resistance. Turn those no-longer-used articles into cash now! Herald and News Want Ads are inexpensive and bring quick results.

The Gallup Poll Voters Favor UN Control Of Atom

By GEORGE GALLUP Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., May 29—An overwhelming majority of the French people expressing an opinion approved the proposed "train of thanks" which French war veterans are organizing to express France's appreciation of American help.

This gesture under the auspices of the National Federation of Veterans in France, is intended to be the French people's answer to the American Friendship train which last year carried hundreds of tons of food and supplies as gifts of the various states of the union.

In all parts of France voters were polled by the French Institute of Public Opinion, one of the 12 members of the World Gallup polls, on the following:

"The Americans sent a Friendship Train of gifts from the different states of the United States. It has been suggested that France organize a train of thanks. Do you think this is a good idea or a bad idea?"

The French Institute reports that 66 per cent of the people who expressed an opinion in the survey said they approved of the proposal as a "bonne idee" (good idea).

Between one-third and one-half, depending on the income level and social class, indicated willingness to give a souvenir personally to this train of thanks ("un train de remerciement").

When asked what sort of gift they would like to offer the American people, French voters suggested a wide variety of items, including: Books about France. Photographs of France. Children's toys. French lace. French embroidery. Art objects and antiques. Perfume. Wine. Dresses, hats, lingerie.

The American Friendship Food train after starting in Los Angeles early last November as a single train with 12 box cars reached New York harbor and Philadelphia in several sections with about 500 carloads of food donated by Americans throughout the country.

On Sunday President Truman's address at the Arlington amphitheater, Virginia, will be broadcast at 8 a. m. Lincoln's Gettysburg Address and the original order establishing Memorial Day as a holiday will be read. The U. S. marine band will furnish the music and James Bailey will be featured as vocalist.

Don Neal has been doing his part this week—as usual—to promote community enterprises. On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday he interviewed Joe Hink regarding the Klamath Progress Days air show, and KUMH students in an effort to promote the trip to the Rose Festival for the band boys over the Payless sidewalk show.

out the country to help feed the French and Italian people. The food was distributed in France through existing American relief agencies. In the case of the proposed French train of thanks the details of how the goods would be distributed in the United States have not yet been worked out.

Well, here it is—the news about Bug Chandler's trip. He and his wife returned last week-end from attending the national convention of the Radio Industries association in Los Angeles. There were representatives from 48 states and sessions included discussion of radio industry operation, problems of management and engineering, frequency modulation and television.

Chandler made a point of attending the ABC affiliates' annual meeting, also held in Los Angeles. It was conducted by Mark Wood, ABC president.

Several old pals from the Oregon State Broadcasters association were there. Bud reports, among them Hal Schade, formerly with KFSJ, now manager of KOOS (Coos Bay); Mac McCredy of KUON (Eugene) and Chet Wheeler of KWIL (Albany).

Lassie, famed MGM dog heard over the air on Sundays, will have two things to bark about on June 8—it is her first anniversary as a radio personality and her seventh birthday. She was born in North Hollywood on June 8, 1941, and made her debut as star of "The Lassie Show" on June 8, 1947.

A couple from Duluth, Minn., were visiting the Lava Beds national monument this week. The woman remarked upon the outstanding number of jackrabbits about. This surprised Don Fisher, custodian as he hadn't noticed any. Just then three deer turned into the path where they were standing and the woman said, "See. There's three more!"

The Klamath Lutheran church comes back on the regular Sunday morning series of one-hour broadcasts, starting this Sunday. The new pastor, Rev. Irvin Tweet, will speak.
