

Rogers, Brown Win State 4-H Contest

Melva Rogers and Mary Brown of Bonanza were announced as Klamath county winners of the state 4-H demonstration contest for 1947 by the state club office, Francis A. Skinner, county club agent, said yesterday.

The two girls were judged the best demonstration team in food preparation or preservation for the county last year, and represented Klamath county at the state fair by giving their winning demonstration in competition there.

In addition to giving the demonstration, each of the girls was required to write a 250 word story of her experiences in food preservation to be eligible for the award. The girls' stories and record were entered in the state contest. Both girls are enrolled in canning projects again this year and are in the Bonanza Can Club under the leadership of Mrs. Ethel Brown.

Both of the girls are outstanding 4-H club members in other fields. Margy is enrolled in a beef project this year as well as canning and has completed this year a project in clothing and one in cooking. On her clothing at the County Spring fair, Margy won a blue ribbon on her sewing and also a red ribbon in the style r. In her three years of club work, Margy has completed seven 4-H club projects. Melva has completed two years of club work and has completed three projects. In addition to canning this year, she has completed projects in cooking and clothing.

Couple Caught In Big Flood

Three hours on top of a floating 14-unit apartment after the Oregon dike broke, was the experience of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Deane who are now in Klamath Falls with members of their family.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Deane were able to escape the flood waters by climbing onto the roof top where they watched the waters rise from their perch, shared with other occupants of the unit.

The family lost all their belongings in the disaster. Mr. and Mrs. Deane are here with his mother, Mrs. Olive Deane, 218 Martin, and with her mother, Mrs. Roy Holmes, 933 Upham. Deane is a disabled war veteran.

October Dates Set For Big Spud Festival

MERRILL, June 4 — October 29-30 have been set for the 12th annual Klamath Basin Potato Festival to be held here, it was announced Thursday by Henry Homes, president of the Lion's club which will sponsor the two-day agricultural show this year.

Members of all 1947 committees are asked to meet next Tuesday night, June 8, at the new recreation building to get the ball rolling toward a bigger and better festival. The meeting, planned for Friday night, June 4, was postponed because of a conflicting date.

Homes announced also that the Klamath County Potato Growers' association has agreed to be responsible this year for all potato exhibits.

While nothing definite has been agreed upon in regard to the festival, the plan will probably follow that of other years, with pretty high school girls competing for queen and princesses of the festival, a parade, free barbecue, big dances, agricultural exhibits and a general good time to mark the end of another crop season in the basin.

Henry Homes and Norman Remsen were co-chairman of the 1947 festival.

Contrary to popular impressions about the industry of ants, a recent study in Panama showed that 40 per cent of the ants did nothing for their community.

Final Plans Laid For 4-H School At Corvallis Site

Plans for the 34th annual 4-H club summer school on the Oregon State college campus at Corvallis June 15 through the 25th are now in their final stage according to word received by the local 4-H club office by Francis A. Skinner, county club agent.

Klamath county will participate in the state-wide activity which will bring some 1800 boys and girls from all sections of the state for the ten-day session for some project instruction and recreation. Approximately 50 boys and girls from Klamath county will attend the session accompanied by two leader chaperones and the club agents.

The morning hours are spent in class time with the subjects offered varied and interesting. Classes are set up for the different age groups and all groups receive some craft instruction and hobby suggestion classes. Afternoons are filled with an assembly, and all type of recreation. The full facilities of the college are available to the 4-H club members. Evening programs are planned for the club members, too.

For the first time this year, some special training in recreation leadership will be offered for club members so that they may assist with recreation in the various counties.

Club members will be housed in some 28 Greek letter fraternities and sororities in addition to the regular college dormitories and co-operative living groups. To provide medical service, facilities of the college infirmary will also be open during the ten-day 4-H club session.

Prior to leaving home, Skinner announces that all 4-H summer school students will receive official notification of the name and address of the living organization to which they are assigned. Thus, all youngsters will report directly to these organizations upon arrival in Corvallis.

Four-H News

Klamath county's 4-H club leaders were honored at a banquet given by the Klamath Falls Rotarians last Friday, but some of the leaders were unable to attend, Francis A. Skinner, county club agent, said today.

A special meeting for the northern end of the county will be held Thursday in Gilchrist, Skinner added. Leaders from Gilchrist and Shevlin were unable to attend because of graduation exercises, and officers of the county leaders association will travel to Gilchrist to make the awards. Mrs. Earl Mack, president; Earl Wilson, vice president; and Mrs. Margaret Lavin, secretary, of the leaders group will be on hand to make the awards and to meet with the group.

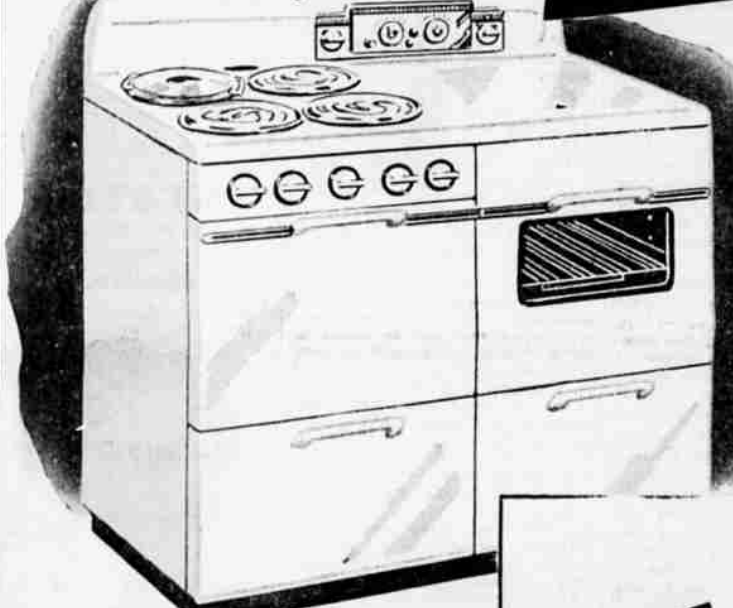

The leaders who will receive awards are Mrs. O. A. Bean, leader of a cooking club in Shevlin; Mrs. Virdie Cappe, leader of a forestry club in Shevlin; Mrs. A. L. James and Mrs. Ernest Jorgenson, leaders of clothing clubs in Gilchrist; Mrs. Helen Burger and Mrs. Cassie Ware, leaders of cooking clubs in Gilchrist, and Ora Blay, leader of a camp cookery club in Gilchrist. James Field, leader of the woodworking club, is a second year leader.

Leaders in other sections of the county who were not present to receive their awards Friday evening but who will receive them in the near future, are first year leaders, Mrs. G. M. Ager, Wilson Barrett, Mrs. Donald Beeman, Woodrow Merry, Mrs. Woodrow Merry, Mrs. Ivan Ottoman, Ansl Pearce, Mrs. Grace Ramsey, Mrs. Cecil Redford, Paul J. Reimann, Mrs. V. C.
